MAJORITY IN HOUSE FOR G. O. P. LIKELY, PRESIDENT ADVISED

Wood, Campaign, Leader, Sees Loss of Only 10 of Present Seats.

50 OF REPUBLICANS' DISTRICTS DOUBTFUL

Democrats Said to Have 25 in Which Election Result Is Uncertain.

Paul Smiths, N. Y., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—The Republicans will elect in November a working majority of at least 25 in the national House of Representatives, President Coolidge was told today by Representative Wood (Republican), Indiana, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign.

The present working majority is 35, but Mr. Wood, who came to White Pine camp from Washington to report on political conditions, declared it was only to be expected that some seats might be lost in an off year after the heavy sweep of the presidential election, which carried many Republicans into office from normally Democratic or doubtful districts.

For the most part, however, he added, the Republicans will not lose many seats in either the West or the East. The report was said to have been along the lines of other information in the possession of Mr. Coolidge, and he was said to be pleased at the prospects.

Prosperity Is Issue.

Prosperity is the issue, Mr. Wood said, asking, "Why change to the Democrats who in 1914 under the Underwood tariff brought about soup kitchens in our cities?"

The Democrats have attempted to make the tariff the issue, he added, but the farmers are for protection, and to both the farmer and the laboring man a high tariff is vital. Ninety-six per cent of all materials the farmers use on the farm, he continued, are on the free list, while the raw products of the farms are protected.

Expressing the opinion that there would be no piecemeal revision of the tariff in advance of a general revision, Mr. Wood said there would be no general revision until after the next presidential election, and, if then, it would be a revision upward.

Corruption Cry Held Futile.

The cry of "corruption" in States where there have been large expenditures in primary contests, Mr. Wood said, would have little general effect in this country. After all, he emphasized, without specifically mentioning any particular race, there has been less violation of the law in elections in all the Northern and Western States in the past 20 years than in a single Southern State in a single year.

Mr. Wood expressed the opinion that the farm relief question was working toward a compromise on legislation that would satisfy all the farmers, while he believed the prohibition issue would not change the congressional complection of a single Southern or Western State. The sentiment for prohibition is just as strong as ever, he added, predicting the fall elections would lead to no modification of the Volstead act.

The Republican congressional speaking campaign will begin the day after Labor day with addresses in southern Illinois, Oklahoma and Nebraska and be pushed vigorously until November.

75 Doubtful Districts.

There are 50 doubtful Republican districts, Mr. Wood said, and 25 doubtful Democratic. Mentioning some, he said the Republicans might lose four House seats in Pennsylvania, where normally Democratic districts are now held by Republicans, and in the same way one or two in both New Jersey and Ohio.

The greatest prospect of loss, in fact, he continued, was in Pennsylvania, although he held that the prohibition issue and the senatorial primary campaign there were not decisive factors in creating this situation.

In the Northwest, on the other hand, he predicted the insurgent Republicans would make no gains, while the regular Republicans might pick up a seat or two in Minnesota. Not a Republican seat in Iowa was in danger, he declared.

The west coast, Mr. Wood said, was "safe," while he declared the Republicans might gain a seat or two in Brooklyn, N. Y., as well as hold its Kansas and Indiana delegations and gain the Second districts in both those States.

Bettis, Suffering Fractures Of Leg and Jaw, Saves Self

Flier Hops and Crawls Through Forest to Roadside After Plane Hits Pennsylvania Mountain in Fog. Is Recovering in Hospital.

Bellefont, Pa., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—After a harrowing experience in the rough country on the eastern slope of the Alleghenies, Lieut. Cyrus K. Bettis, army flying ace, was in the Centre County hospital here today slowly recovering from serious but not critical injuries received when he hit a mountain side.

Missing for more than 43 hours, and with painful wounds, the stout-hearted army airman virtually rescued himself. His left leg was broken below the knee and both jaws were fractured, but despite these injuries he crawled and hopped through the thick forest of Seven Sister mountains until he came to a roadside today and waited for help to come along.

Several times in the heavily wooded country where he was hidden from sight, he saw airplanes overhead searching, but they could not see him and he could not attract their attention.

"I knew if I did not crawl out of there, I never would be found alive," he whispered in the hospital.

Lieut. Bettis was found by two young workers on the State highway.

Bettis, accompanied by two other airplanes, was on his way from Philadelphia to Selfridge field, Mich., on Monday afternoon, when all three ran into a fog. The other two pilots, Lieuts. John J. Williams and Luther S. Smith, got through the fog safely and landed in Michigan.

Bettis was unconscious for an hour and a half after he fell as near as he could determine from the wrist and pocket watches that he carried. He had no food and quenched his thirst with what little rain he could catch in the palms of his hands last night.

In the hospital tonight, physicians said he would recover if no complications set in. Besides the fracture of the leg and jaws he is suffering from lacerations of the face and head.

Lieut. Bettis was not permitted to talk to any one but Lieuts. Williams and Smith. To these officers he told briefly what happened to him.

He tried to get over the peaks, but the fog was so thick that he missed and hit the side of a thickly wooded mountain and came down, he said. He hit the mountain sideways, and one wing of his ship caught in a tree, which broke the force of the fall. He was rendered unconscious and when he revived he unstrapped himself from his

INSURRECTION IS SERIOUS

Managua, Nic., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—An unsuccessful airplane attack by American fliers was made today on a gun-running vessel flying the Mexican flag.

Arms and men were landed by the vessel northwest of Corinto, Nic., chief seaport on the Pacific ocean.

The government has sent 800 troops to capture the smugglers and the arms.

(By the Associated Press.)

The navy was called on yesterday by the State Department to protect American interests in Nicaragua where another revolution has developed.

As a result, orders were issued for the dispatch of two American warships to the Nicaraguan ports of Bluefields and Corinto. Rear Admiral Latimer, in command of the special service squadron in Central American waters, assigned the gunboat Tulsa to duty at Corinto, and word also was received that the gunboat Galveston was proceeding through the Panama canal to Cristobal, this indicating the vessel was bound for Bluefields on the east coast.

Information to the State Department has convinced officials that the latest Nicaraguan outbreak is likely to continue for some time. On the other hand, the Nicaraguan legation several days ago declared that the revolutionary movement had been suppressed.

The Minister from Nicaragua received a dispatch from President Chamorro charging that the Mexican government was violating international obligations and actively aiding the revolutionists by assisting gun runners.

Pie Gift to President Fails to Prevent Fine

Tuckerton, N. J., Aug. 15 (By A. P.).—Arrested on a charge of speeding, a man, who said he was Hugh Buckhart, of Travis City, Mich., asked Justice of the Peace Potter to free him because he was a friend of President Coolidge.

"Do you remember reading in the papers not long ago of the man who gave the President a cherry pie?" he asked. "Well, I am the man."

Justice Potter, however, fined him $10 and costs.

Offices of Fascisti At Mantua Wrecked

Mantua, Italy, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—A group of youths of the Young Catholic party, returning from a religious festival at Castiglione, wrecked the local headquarters of the fascisti, smashing the furniture, tearing up documents and tearing down fascist flags.

Deputy Arriva Bene, the fascist political secretary, checked any reprisals in time. He insisted that the party preserve peace.

NUGENT FIGHTS GOODING FOR IDAHO SENATORSHIP

Selected by Democrats as Republicans Renominate Incumbent.

TWO IN HOUSE ARE NAMED

Weiser, Idaho, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Frank R. Gooding, junior United States senator from Idaho, and Representatives Burton L. French and Addison T. Smith were renominated by the Republican State convention here today.

H. C. Baldridge, Parma, present lieutenant governor, was chosen as the party's candidate for governor. The platform adopted placed the party on record as unalterably opposed to participation in the world court. A plank calling for Federal agricultural relief legislation was included.

At McCall the Democrats adopted a platform calling for a direct State primary law and demanding Federal legislation for the relief of agriculture.

John F. Nugent, Boise, was named the party's candidate for United States senator. L. L. Burlenshaw, Council, and Ben C. Ross, Pocatello, were the nominees for the lower house of Congress.

FAIRBANKS INDORSES NATIONALIZED FILMS

"Doug" Says Russian Results Prove Benefits of Federal-Controled Industry.

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Douglas Fairbanks, who arrived back from Europe today, declared himself an advocate of government ownership of motion picture films in this country. The remarkable results of government direction of the motion picture industry in Russia, Mr. Fairbanks said, led him to advocate the plan for the United States.

Since pictures are coming to be regarded as instruments of propaganda, he added, they may well be run under the government, providing the sense of artistry is not sacrificed.

$20,000 Manuscript Is Stolen From Club

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—A Latin manuscript valued at $20,000, one of a collection dealing with the early history of the Roman Catholic church, was stolen today from the exhibition rooms of the National Art club, and police have issued a general alarm.

It is one of a number of Latin and German manuscripts, hundreds of years old, which were brought to this country for exhibition in connection with the recent Eucharistic congress in Chicago. The collection was being returned to Europe in the custody of a German, when it was decided to put it on exhibition here. The entire collection, always kept closely guarded, is valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Hindu Theosophist, on Arrival, Disclaims Messiahship.

HOLDS AMERICA PART OF JAZZ-MAD WORLD

Mrs. Annie Besant, 80, Says He Will Tell 34 Cities of New "Teacher's" Coming.

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—A small, swarthy-skinned man walked down the gangplank of the steamship Majestic today confident that his visit in this country will bring about a radical change in the religious life of the nation.

He was Jiddu Krishnamurti, Hindu theosophist, hailed by his followers as the world medium for the "voice of the godhead." Although he claims to have heard the voice of the "universal God," the visitor's dress and manners were no different from those of any young Hindu dressed in Occidental garb. His gray suit, stripped shirt, blue tie and tan shoes were strictly twentieth century in style. He speaks with an Oxford accent.

His arrival was a quiet event. He was met at the steamship only by reporters, a press agent and the head of the American Theosophical society.

Krishnamurti has been called the "new Messiah," but he made it clear today that he makes no claim to that title. He declined to discuss with newspaper reporters any spiritual message he is bringing to this country. Instead, he referred them to a small pamphlet which was distributed aboard the steamship. After a lecture in Chicago before members of the "Star in the East," of which he is head, he probably will go into retreat on his ranch near Ojai, Calif.

Mrs. Besant Explains.

Mrs. Annie Besant, 80-year-old international president of the Theosophical society, who accompanied Krishnamurti on his voyage, will tell people in 34 cities of the "coming of the new world teacher."

"We do not claim for him Messiaship," Mrs. Besant said. "He is the teacher of the world. Since 1909 we have known that he has been selected as the vehicle of voice of the god head. I believe that through him we are at the beginning of a new civilization, such as has occurred five times in the history of the Aryan race."

Krishnamurti said of himself:

"I am different from other men. I never touch alcohol or meat. I play golf and tennis, and I swim. I have studied all the great writers."

"The pamphlets distributed by the press agent on behalf of the Theosophist stated that in 1910, when he was a boy, he published a book, "At the Feet of the Master," in which he "had written the teachings of his Teacher, received during sleep."

While Krishnamurti would not discuss any spiritual message he is bringing to this country, he did discuss jazz and other features of the modern world. America, he said, is part of a "jazz-mad world."

"This civilization is based on materialism," he asserted. "It is

Shark Seizes Boy, 18, From Rescuer's Arm

Seaside, N. J., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—The decapitated and limbless body of Charles A. Burke, aged 18, of Trenton, washed up on the beach today, strengthened the belief that he was snatched yesterday from the arms of a rescuer by sharks.

An unidentified bather who went to the youth's rescue explained his failure to bring him in by saying the boy was pulled from his grasp by a large fish. Later in the day persons on the beach saw three sharks.

Coroner David O. Parker, of Ocean county, said the body had been attacked by sharks.

Gest Will Retain Rosamond Pinchot

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.) Morris Gest, theatrical producer, who is to enter the movie field, and who arrived from Europe today on the Majestic, said he had not canceled his contract with Miss Rosamond Pinchot, who has appeared on the stage under his management. Recently, it was reported, she had decided to give up her stage career.

"The contract with Miss Pinchot holds," said Mr. Gest, adding that he would insist that she fulfill it.

Berlin and Paris Defeat U. S.-British Arms View

Geneva, Aug. 25 (By A. P.). Germany and France joined hands at the preliminary disarmament conference today in obtaining the adoption, against the opposition of the American and British delegations, of a resolution concerning the average age of fleets.

The French formula for estimating the age of a fleet was approved by a majority yesterday and today the German project was adopted, declaring that the age thus obtained constitutes one of the factors to be taken into consideration, although it does not seem possible to apply it as an exact coefficient to the tonnage of the different countries in order to arrive at an equitable comparison of naval values.

The Americans and British tried to have eliminated in the declaration that age as reckoned by the French formula constitutes a factor which should be taken into consideration, but the committee refused to agree to this.

SOUTHWEST SITE VOTE OFFSETS MIDCITY LEAD

50 PREFER ECKINGTON

Supporters of the midcity site for the market held a brief lead yesterday in The Post's poll. Early in the evening the midcity supporters, with a spurt of 1,061 votes, reached a total of 1,811, topping the supporters for the Southwest site by 87 votes.

The Southwest advocates turned in 323 votes later in the evening, however, and again took the lead, the midcity advocates garnering 42 votes in the later poll.

In favor of the midcity site, 1,853.

In favor of the Patterson, or Eckington, site, 50.

In favor of various other sites, 44.

Total votes cast, 3,994.

Prediction that the votes in favor of the midcity site would steadily outstrip the balloting in favor of the Southwest site was made by A. J. Driscoll, president of the Midcity Citizens association.

Convinced that their choice is the logical selection for a new market site, leaders of the movement of the Southwest location continued their efforts to acquaint business men and individuals with the importance to each of them of the decision on a site. Whatever site is selected, they said, will affect not only the convenience, but also the amount and price of foodstuffs received in Washington for sale in the market and through the commission houses and wholesale row.

Officials of the coordinating committee of the National Capital park and planning commission yesterday made plain that a new factor had entered into their consideration of the question.

This was, they said, the amount of space available for the new market site. Broader areas must now be considered by the committee than were taken into consideration

MAN KILLS HIMSELF AS 3 POLICE CONFER

Grady Cowgill, of West Falls Church, Recently Was in Sanitarium.

After threatening to "kill any one who approached his room," Grady Cowgill, 36 years old, of West Falls Church, Va., ended his life by firing a bullet through his brain last night while three policemen were forming plans at the bottom of the stairway leading to his room to make a concentrated rush into the room and disarm him.

Cowgill returned to his home Tuesday after receiving treatment in a sanitarium for a short time. Last night he barricaded himself in his room, shouting threats through the locked door at his mother and father, according to police.

Deputy Sheriff John Dowden and Policemen Amos Rusk and Charles A. Whalen, jr., decided to "rush" Cowgill's room. A ladder was placed against the window to attract his attention from the policemen. Just as they started to ascend the stairway, they said, they heard the shot.

SHEFFIELD BACKED IN MEXICAN STAND; WILL RESUME POST

Ambassador Has a Long Conference Here With Kellogg.

NO DISAGREEMENT, SECRETARY ASSERTS

Statement Issued Sets Rumors at Rest; Visit to Coolidge Arranged.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

The long-awaited conference between Secretary of State Kellogg and James R. Sheffield, American Ambassador to Mexico, who is here on leave, began at the State Department yesterday morning. The nature of the discussions over Mexico's troubled condition and threatened American rights necessarily are withheld from the public, but Mr. Kellogg made the significant announcement that there is no disagreement between the department and Mr. Sheffield, that absolute confidence is reposed in Mr. Sheffield and that he is going back to his post at Mexico City at the expiration of his leave.

This means that the efforts being made by the Mexican politicians and the Mexican press to weaken Mr. Sheffield's prestige with his own government have failed. It also means that the recommendations which the Ambassador came here to make with respect to protection of American rights will be heeded and it likewise means that the Ambassador's firm determination to protect the interests of the United States to the best of his ability has found immediate and whole-hearted indorsement here.

Calles Is Uneasy.

Under the circumstances the inspired criticisms which came from Mexican sources and accompanied the Ambassador's departure from Mexico City appear to substantiate the assumption that President Calles is more than a little uneasy over the nature of the reports which Mr. Sheffield would make to Secretary Kellogg and to President Coolidge.

After lengthy conferences yesterday arrangements were made for Mr. Sheffield to go to White Pine camp and discuss the Mexican situation with the President.

With respect to their conferences, Mr. Kellogg and Mr. Sheffield refrained from divulging anything that was said. Diplomatic usage precludes any statement at this time as to the conditions which exist under the Calles regime. Consequently, no questions by newspaper correspondents were answered in the affirmative or in the negative. Even the question of whether the United States maintains its policy against recognition of revolutionary governments met with no response.

Statement by Kellogg.

After the first conference, Secretary Kellogg made the following prepared statement:

"There have been a good many statements in the press concerning Mr. Sheffield's intentions. Mr. Sheffield is up here on his usual leave of absence, and, as is usual when ambassadors return to the United

Belgian Rulers' Car Strikes Bridge Rail

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Paris, Aug. 25.—The King and Queen of Belgium narrowly escaped death near Calais last night while motoring from Brussels to a seaside resort near Boulogne.

The high-powered roadster, which King Albert was driving personally with the queen beside him in the front seat, turned out to pass another machine and swerved against a railing on a small bridge they were crossing. The wheels were stove in, but the parapet held firm and the king stopped the car safely.

Sound of Cannonading In Greece Is Mystery

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—The heavy cannonade, beginning yesterday about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, across the Greco-Bulgarian frontier, near the village of Aivatovo, southeast of Saloniki, Greece, continued until 7:30 o'clock last night.

All communications across the Bulgarian border have been interrupted for several days and little information has filtered across with reference to reports that the garrison at Saloniki had been attacked and that a civil war had broken out.

FENNING'S REPUTATION SAVES HIM TRAFFIC TRIAL

District Counsel Decides to Drop Charges; Policeman Not to Suffer.

FORMER OFFICIAL TARDY

Reports that Policeman Orville Staples, of the Third precinct, would be brought before the police trial board and "railroaded" on charges growing out of the traffic charges made by Staples against former Police Commissioner Frederick A. Fenning, which charges were dismissed in police court yesterday, were spiked when Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, chief of police, declared:

"The arrest of former commissioner Fenning means no more to me or to the police department than the arrest of 'John Smith' or anyone else, and when such an arrest is made legitimately by a policeman, he will be protected to the fullest extent of my authority."

Frank W. Madigan, assistant corporation counsel, after examining witnesses at a preliminary hearing declared that he had weighed all the evidence against the former commissioner and due to Mr. Fenning's "good reputation and high standing" could not in fairness to all parties interested, take the case into court and ordered the charges dismissed.

After the charges against Mr. Fenning had been dismissed several prominent lawyers declared that the case established a precedent and boasted that they "would never lose another traffic case."

Quake in Turkestan Is Recorded Here

A severe earthquake was registered on Georgetown university's seismograph early yesterday, lasting three and a half hours.

OSAGE MURDER CASE WILL BE TRIED AGAIN

Federal Jury, Deadlocked Five Days, Is Discharged; 7 for Conviction.

Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—The government's first concrete effort to bring to justice the men believed responsible for an extensive conspiracy to slay members of the wealthy Osage Indian tribe for their fortunes, today ended in a deadlock.

A Federal court jury that had deliberated for five days in the case of William K. Hale and John Ramsey, charged with murdering Henry Roan, Osage, was dismissed by Judge John H. Cotteral. Government attorneys announced that steps for a retrial would be taken at once.

At the same time, the State of Oklahoma was preparing to bring the two men to trial on another murder charge—one in connection with the death of W. E. Smith, of Fairfax, who, with his wealthy Osage Indian wife and a white housemaid, was killed in an explosion that wrecked his home.

The jury took 64 ballots. At no time did more than seven vote for conviction, said one member of the body.

RIOTING THOUSANDS BARRED FROM VIEW OF VALENTINO BIER

Disorders Cause Decision to Stop Procession After Midnight.

CLASH OF FASCISTS AND FOES IS FEARED

80,000 Viewed Remains; Girl Sees Body 3 Times, Faints Each Time.

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.). Rudolph Valentino's public saw him for the last time tonight. At midnight the doors of the funeral chapel where his body has been lying in state since late yesterday were closed, and the crowds that have fought to get a final glimpse of the dead motion picture idol were dispersed by police. Thousands who stood in line for hours hoping to be allowed to pass by the silvered bronze casket in which he rested were turned away when midnight came.

A group of several hundred attempted to rush police lines after the doors were closed. Several gained entrance to the funeral chapel but were ejected.

Police guards estimated that 80,000 persons passed through the mortuary chapel for a glimpse of the "sheik" yesterday and today.

Decision to end the public portion of Valentino's obsequies was made late today by S. George Ullman, the star's manager. Mr. Ullman asserted that the crowds failed to show proper reverence. The crowds have been boisterous and on several occasions have caused riots, which caused the injury of several persons.

Clash of Italians Feared.

In fear of a possible outbreak between fascists and antifascist forces the police tonight ordered a sergeant and ten extra policemen to the chapel where the fascist honor guard has been stationed.

Six more black-shirted sympathizers of Premier Mussolini were added to the honor guard after two antifascist leaders had protested to the undertaking management that the presence of the honor guard was causing considerable anger among the Italians of New York who oppose the fascists.

Miss Dolly Toth, of Clifton, N. J., who made three rounds before the actor's bier, and fainted each time, was advised by ambulance surgeons to go home tonight after her third collapse. She has stood in line for five hours in all to await her turn at the casket side.

No Great Funeral Cortege.

Mr. Ullman added that there will be no great funeral cortege Monday when the body is removed to St. Malachi's Catholic church for services.

"There will be only a hearse to bear the casket," he said, "and one or two automobiles to carry intimate friends."

Women predominated in the crowd that flocked by thousands and stood outside the parlors in the rain today until they could pass inside to view the body of the man who rose from dishwasher to the original "sheik" of the movies.

Many of the women came miles to see the face of the dead actor. Two women fainted in the close-packed crowd. Traffic on Broadway and nearby side streets was crippled despite the activities of nearly 200 policemen especially assigned to the vicinity.

A never-ending line of people passed by the bier from the time the funeral parlor doors opened at 9 o'clock this morning. It was estimated that by mid-afternoon more than 35,000 persons had passed the silver bronze casket in which the movie star's body lay dressed in formal evening attire.

March to Hymn Music.

The crowds marched to the music of solemn hymns played on the great organ in the parlors. A room near that in which the body lay in state was converted into an emergency hospital ward to take care of the injured from the crush. Three doctors and a nurse were in attendance.

One woman was permitted today to view the body without waiting in line. She was Jean Acker, who was the first Mrs. Valentino.

Walking slowly to the casket, she circled slowly around it without taking her eyes off the dead man's face. She burst into tears as she walked from the room. The line of visitors had been stopped while she was in the room.

Miss Acker revealed, incidentally, that when Valentino died Monday in

TENTH OF ALL NEW SUBDIVISIONS URGED FOR PLAYGROUNDS

48,636 PERSONS USED CITY SWIMMING POOLS

Supervisor Cites Increasing Interest of Girls in Athletic Activities.

Recommendations that one-tenth of the area of all future subdivisions in the District, exclusive of streets, be set aside for playground purposes and that a playground be installed in Judiciary square were contained in the annual report of Mrs. Susie Root Rhodes, District supervisor of playgrounds, submitted yesterday to the commissioners.

The report covers the fiscal year ended June 30 and contains a comprehensive review of activities for the twelve months. It concludes as follows:

"I wish to emphasize the need of continued improvement of the municipal playgrounds by enlarging the areas and increasing facilities for active recreation. It has been found that little children will not go more than one-fourth of a mile to playgrounds, while children from 8 to 10 years of age will go a half mile. Older ones, of course, will go much farther to reach athletic fields. It is recommended that:

"In the opening of the new subdivisions in the city, one tenth of the ground, exclusive of streets, be set aside as playgrounds.

Field Houses Sought.

"Every playground be provided with a field house large enough for indoor recreation in extremely hot or cold weather.

"Public spirited citizens be reminded that there is no gift that can be made to the city of greater use and enjoyment, with more lasting honor to the donor, than the gift of land for a public playground.

"Branch libraries be opened on all playgrounds.

"Part of the reservation known as Judiciary square be transferred by Congress to the control of the District commissioners to be used for playground purposes. The exact location desired is that part of the square north from E street, extending to F street, between Fourth and Fifth streets northwest."

6,296 Taught to Swim.

The report states that 48,636 individuals used the municipal swimming pools during the last fiscal year and that 6,296 availed themselves of instructions in swimming, 11 elementary classes having been conducted each day during the school vacation period. Use of the playgrounds by girls was emphasized as follows:

"Each year girls are playing a more important part in athletics and are taking an interest in sports for which they heretofore have cared little. The past summer was an unusually active one for them, with track meets, tennis tournaments, athletic tests, hikes, swimming lessons and industrial work for all playgrounds.

"More than 1,000 girls played in the tennis tournaments, and 300 took part in the second annual track and field meet for girls held last September. From the first of March, when the playgrounds were opened for the spring work until school closed and the summer program began, the spring activities for girls did not slacken."

FENNING AND HIS ACCUSERS

FENNING ABSOLVED ON OWN REPUTATION

northwest, testified that Mr. Fenning's automobile was obstructing the driveway at 1800 K street and that Mr. Fenning's machine was jammed against that of Mrs. Smith, making it impossible for her to move her car without the aid of Policeman Staples.

Mr. Fenning testified that he had parked his car inside of the driveway and not within 3 feet of Mrs. Smith's car. He insisted that some one must have moved his automobile, because he was "always careful to observe the traffic laws."

On this testimony Mr. Madigan refused to take the case into court, stating that inasmuch as no one had seen Mr. Fenning park his car no one could testify that he actually broke the law.

The case was called originally for 11 o'clock yesterday morning, but when the former commissioner failed to put in an appearance, his counsel, M. F. Mangan, asked for a continuance until 3 o'clock.

Lafayette Mavritt, the 18-year-old colored boy, was much more perturbed than the other witnesses, declaring that he had to "pay a substitute $2 to watch the switchboard" while he was absent and was "going to leave unless that man Fenning comes pretty soon." When informed that he would be guilty of contempt of court if he left, Mavritt decided to stay a little longer.

Man Is Brought Here After Theft of Ring

Arrested in Akron, Ohio, five days after he is alleged to have stolen a diamond ring valued at $900 from Mrs. Eleanore Moore, of Forest Glen, Md., William Shubert, 39 years old, was brought to this city last night by Headquarters Detective Thomas Nalley and charged with grand larceny.

Shubert, police said, took Mrs. Moore's ring from her handbag while she was visiting his wife at a downtown hotel last week. Shubert and his wife departed for Akron the next day, police asserted. Police recovered the ring from a Virginia pawnbroker, where it had been pawned for $300.

ANDREWS INAUGURATES ZONE PROHIBITION PLAN

4 MORE TO BE SELECTED

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lincoln C. Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement, announced today that George F. Busch, of Long Island, would be appointed general supervisor of the prohibition enforcement zone to be established next month and to include New York, New England, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and possibly two other States.

The New York zone, Mr. Andrews explained, will be one of five which will be established to cover the whole country. Each supervisor will act as liaison officer between Mr. Andrews and the zone administrator.

Mr. Andrews made the announcement while in this city on his way to Washington from his summer home at Grand Isle, Vt.

The exact territorial division of the five proposed zones has not yet been determined and will not be until after September 20, Mr. Andrews said. Prospective appointees as supervisors of the zones are now receiving training in Washington in preparation for their work, he said.

"Each zone," he explained, "will be the seat of operations covered by land, seas and customs units."

Mr. Andrews said he knew nothing of the reported new agreement with Canadian authorities on the subject of stopping the liquor traffic across the border and reaffirmed his belief that the existing agreement is adequate.

50 Dominican Priests Begin 10-Day Retreat

Fifty missionary priests arrived yesterday at the Dominican house of studies to begin a ten-day spiritual retreat in preparation for their fall work. The priests were in three groups, the Eastern group, with headquarters in New York city; the Western group, with headquarters in Chicago, and the Southern group, with headquarters in Louisville, Ky.

The ten days will be spent in solitude and spiritual consideration so that the priests will go forth to their missionary work more deeply imbued with their religious convictions. The Very Rev. M. J. Ripple, O. P., national director of the Holy Name society, is retreat master. The Eastern group is in charge of the Very Rev. J. H. Healy, O. P.; the Western group, the Very Rev. William R. Lawler, O. P., and the Southern group, the Very Rev. U. R. Vurnell, O. P.

SCHOOLS TO BE SHY 1,000 SEATS AT END OF 5-YEAR PROGRAM

Present Rate of Progress Means Facilities Will Not Catch Up With City.

APPROPRIATIONS MADE, BUT CONSTRUCTION LAGS

At the half-way mark of Washington's so-called five-year school building program congestion will have increased more than 500 students instead of any relief being afforded, according to figures made available yesterday.

This means that at the end of the five-year period, a term which incidentally has long since lost its significance, and at the same rate of progress, the schools will be in worse shape by some 1,000 students than they were before the building program was started.

Appropriations have nothing to do with this condition. It is brought about by the progress of building construction. Nevertheless, the appropriations have been affected by the building progress, and in the end school officials apprehend that they will combine to make a modern, adequate school system for Washington hopeless.

The five-year program was formulated with a view to relieving congestion that had accumulated during the war, replacing obsolete buildings and taking care of the normal increased attendance during the five years.

$2,250,000 Needed Annually.

At the end of that time it was the opinion of Dr. F. W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, that a continuing building program costing approximately $2,250,000 annually would have to be adopted to meet new conditions.

But at the present rate of progress on the initial program it looks as though it itself will never catch up with conditions which it was supposed to meet, much less those that are to arise in the future.

The first new buildings to be available, six announced in Wednesday's Post, will be ready for the school opening next month. They will have accommodations for some 2,000 students. In February two new junior high schools are expected to be available, and a third, an eight-room addition to the Hine Junior High school, is expected to be ready a month or so later, the three having accommodations for approximately 1,680 children.

These are the only buildings that will be ready this school term.

Lack 500 in 1927.

At the opening of the September, 1927, form 20 more rooms, or two eight-room buildings and a four-room addition, with a normal seating capacity of 840 children, will be ready, according to plans. The contracts for them have not yet been let. They are the Burroughs and Woodridge schools, and the four-room addition to Smothers school.

Thus, at what might be termed the half-way mark of the building program, September 1, 1927, school facilities will have been increased slightly more than 4,500 seats.

In the meantime the annual increased attendance will have totaled more than 5,000 children.

No dent will have been made in that accumulated shortage, but on the other hand it will have been added to by 500 students.

Requirements for approximately 22,000 children were contemplated when the building program was originally formulated. This included the expected increased attendance in the five-year period of about 8,000 children, leaving the real shortage at that time of some 14,000 children. It did not seem that they were out of school, but that they were having to attend crowded classes, obsolete rooms, portables, part-time classes and other makeshift arrangements.

They and 500 more of them will be doing this two and a half years after the adoption of the program.

Less Than Third Used.

To date, Congress has appropriated $6,463,000 toward the carrying out of the building program. The six buildings to be ready next month represent an outlay of approximately $1,250,000, or less than one-fourth of the amount appropriated. It is considerably less than one-third of the $4,013,000 appropriated the first year.

Noting the slowness of building construction and realizing, too, the necessity of acquiring as many sites as possible before they rise in cost, Congress this year devoted the bulk of the $2,450,000 appropriation to the purchase of sites.

Even this plan has proved to be without avail because of the limitation on the amount that may be paid for the sites, their acquisition now being at a standstill.

Approval Expected Of Toll Bridge Plan

Making of the application for construction of a toll bridge across the Potomac at a point above lower Cedar Point, Md., and Dahlgren, Va., and approval of plans for it by the United States engineer's office in this city, is expected shortly, following the visit of Channing Ward, Richmond, Va., long identified with the project, to the office of Maj. Brehon B. Somervell, district engineer, yesterday.

Mr. Ward, who has been among the principal advocates of a bridge with its Virginia terminus at Dahlgren, where road connection with the historic Wakefield reservation is easy, was accompanied by representatives of a Pittsburgh contracting company, who obtained data on the river bed between these points. No permit for the undertaking was requested yesterday, pending drafting of plans.

Zonta Decides Women Are Never Middle-Aged

The Zonta club, business women's body, yesterday decided there is no such thing as middle age for women. A debate on the question, "Resolved, That middle age is the happiest time in a woman's life," held at the club luncheon in the Raleigh hotel, was responsible for the conclusion reached.

Miss Elizabeth Harris, an experienced lawyer, argued the case for the affirmative, and the negative was upheld by Mrs. Edith Salisbury, an equally able attorney. When no decision could be reached, it was agreed there is no such thing as middle age for women.

Success stories from the lives of the members will be related at the meeting of the club next week. Members of the club will tell how they got their start in business and give pointers to the others on how to attain success.

Cave-In Buries Two; One Seriously Hurt

While working in an excavation in front of the Woodward & Lothrop department store last night, George Manokey, 47 years old, 619 M street northwest, and Frank Deas, 23 years old, 911 Fourth street northwest, both colored, were buried up to their shoulders when loose dirt caved in upon them.

They were taken to Emergency hospital, where it was found that Manokey had suffered broken ribs and internal injuries. His condition is serious. Deas was treated for bruies and shock. They were dug from the excavation by fellow workmen.

"Jack" Daly Honored By Newspaper Friends

John J. Daly, dramatic editor of The Post, was the guest of honor at a dinner last night at the Press club, given by his newspaper friends on the eve of his departure for Council Bluffs, Iowa, where he will marry Miss Mary Louise Tinley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Lorenzo Tinley, on September 4. More than 40 newspaper men attended the farewell "bachelor" party, which was in charge of a committee consisting of Leonard Hall, James William Bryan, Frank A. Hall, Roland Robbins and Ira Smith.

Following the dinner, a varied program of entertainment, headed by the Meistersingers, headlining at Keith's theater, was offered. Senora Milla Dominquez, soprano; Babette Everette and George R. Beuchler, in a duet written especially for Mr. Daly; Miss Elizabeth Parker, soprano; Miss Tereto Schaeffer and Billy McIntyre, in a tap dance, and "Reds" Cohen, mascot of the Washington Baseball club, in a song number, performed. The latter talent was presented by Mischa Guterson, of the Rialto theater. M. Hargrave accompanied at the piano. Music was furnished by Dolly Leishear's Humming Bird orchestra.

Surgeons on Near East Hospital Committee

Dr. J. M. T. Finney and Dr. Howard A. Kelly, the famous surgeons of Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, will serve on a national committee that will have charge of the formation of the first orthopedic hospital in the Near East, it was announced yesterday by Harold F. Pellegrin, Potomac director, Near East relief, which embraces the District of Columbia and Maryland.

The need of such a hospital is acute, Mr. Pellegrin said, and it is hoped that this one, which will be under auspices of the relief organization, will fill the need. While it will be, at first, for the children under care of the relief organization, the scope, says Mr. Pellegrin, will be gradually extended to take in other suffering little ones.

Poison Taken by Mistake.

Mistaking a bottle of poison for a bottle of medicine, Mrs. Lillie Collier 29 years old, 1002 B street southeast, swallowed a small quantity in her home yesterday afternoon. Her cries attracted her husband, who summoned an ambulance from Casualty hospital. Physicians said Mrs. Collier's condition was not serious.

THEATER MANAGERS MAKE PEACE OFFER TO MOVIE WORKERS

Both Sides Refuse to Reveal Compromise Plan Until It Is Approved.

UNION COMMITTEE ACTS ON PROPOSAL TONIGHT

Both Sides to Meet Tomorrow for Conference; Contract Ends Wednesday.

The deadlock between local motion picture machine operators and theater managers is broken and negotiations looking toward a compromise between the two factions have been resumed. A. Julian Brylawski, chairman of the manager's wage scale committee, stated last night following a meeting of that committee with the operators.

Operators are paid $65 for a 44-hour week and they are asking for a raise to $75 for a 40-hour week, with a fourth man in the booth. They have threatened to strike if these demands are not met by the managers in the new contract that must be signed by next Wednesday.

The managers have held out against the demands, offering to renew their contract with the operators only under the present wage scale and hours. However, at the meeting in the Earle building last night, Mr. Brylawski made an offer in the matter of wages to the operators, and their answer will be given to the managers at another meeting of the two committees in the Earle building tomorrow night. What the offer was Mr. Brylawski would not reveal.

Says Situation Better.

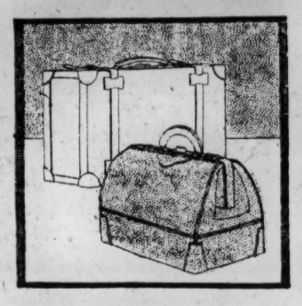

He said, however, that the situation looked much better for the managers.

Thomas Reed, president of the Motion Picture Operators Protective union, local No. 224, and head of the executive committee that met with the managers, would make no statement regarding the offer of the managers. The committee will meet tonight to decide what their reply will be.

The operators, in the event of a strike, plan to call out union musicians and stage hands in a "sympathy strike." The managers have prepared for the strike by conducting a school for operators among assistants employed in the theaters. The managers feel confident that they can keep their houses open in the event of a strike.

$8,754 Freight Tolls Saved by Transport

Freight savings to the army, navy and Smithsonian institution amounting to $8,754, were effected by the recent voyage of the army transport, Chateau Thierry, to this city, the War Department announced yesterday.

The transport brought German gun trophies to the institution, furniture to Washington barracks and pig iron to the navy yard. The round trip of the transport between New York and Washington was primarily for the transportation of the Pennsylvania national guard between Philadelphia and Fort Monroe, but the freight was handled incidentally.

Traffic Court Lenient To Man From Country

Because "he was from the country," Peter Hebb, colored, of Leonardtown, Md., was fined only $10 in traffic court last night for driving without a permit, one of the lightest penalties ever imposed on a no permit charge.

Hebb told Judge McMahon that he came to the city "because he was tired of the country." Questioned by the court about "the part of country" he came from, Hebb replied: "I don't know where they make it, but there's plenty of liquor down there."

BIG RADIO CONCERNS BEST INDEPENDENT IN INJUNCTION SUIT

MAY COVER 90 PER CENT OF ALL RECEIVING SETS

Special to The Washington Post.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 25.—Federal Judge Bodine today granted an injunction to the Radio Corporation of America, the General Electric Co. and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. restraining the Splitdorf Electric Co. of Newark, from making or selling radio receiving sets embodying the principle of tuned radio frequency amplification. A similar suit is pending against the manufacturers of Atwater Kent sets.

The decision is looked upon by "independent" manufacturers as affecting the entire radio industry, involving millions of dollars and creating a virtual monopoly for the plaintiffs if it is sustained by the higher courts. Clifton V. Edwards, of Edwards, Sager & Bower, defense attorneys, indicated the case would be carried to the United States circuit court of appeals.

Judge Bodine held that the defendants had infringed on patents issued to Ernest F. W. Alexanderson in October, 1913, and bought by the General Electric Co., which licensed the Radio Corporation to make and sell the device. He ordered the Splitdorf Co. to make an accounting of profits from their sales.

Claims Federal License.

The Splitdorf Co.'s defense was substantially that the instrument involved was used popularly prior to Alexanderson's patent, and that the patent does not comply with the Federal statute requirements. It claimed also to be manufacturing the device under licenses issued by the Navy Department and the Federal government.

Experts say 90 per cent of the radio receiving sets now made and sold in this country are as much an infringement of the Alexanderson patents as the R-500 type Splitdorf set which was the basis of the suit. Radio Corporation officials refused any comment on the case. They would not affirm or deny a report published in a radio trade paper that the Splitdorf Co. had been offered the right to continue manufacture and sale for a license fee of $100,000 and a 20 per cent royalty on all sets.

19-YEAR-OLD YOUTH HELD FOR SLAYING AGED PHILOSOPHER

TELLS COURT HE FOUND KILLING THIS MAN FUNNY

Emanuel Silberstein, Brililant in School, Studied Freud and Jung With Victim.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Aug. 25.—A 19-year-old boy is being held in Brooklyn today, charged with the murder of a 63-year-old man with whom he had often discussed philosophy and psychology.

Emanuel Silberstein, who at the age of 10 appeared at public meetings and urged the purchase of Liberty bonds, and who had always been an exceptional student in school, is charged with the murder of James H. Calisch, 63 years old, who was in the stock brokerage business.

Calisch, the philosopher, was killed by the blows of a hammer.

Young Silberstein's career in the elementary schools and in high school had been a brilliant one. He was graduated from commercial high school at the age of 16. Then came a nervous breakdown. He pursued his studies at home, delving deeply into books on philosophy and psychology.

Studied New Philosophy.

He made the acquaintance of Calisch, a native of Holland, who, aside from his stock brokerage activities, studied philosophy. He was a student of Freud and Jung and he and Silberstein spent many hours in the Calisch apartment, according to the police, discussing their favorite subjects. And there, the youth told the court, the man tutored him also in a philosophy that was not academic. But last winter they quarreled and the odd friendship ended.

Calisch and Silberstein met at times in the Ormonde cafeteria in Brooklyn. Calisch was seated in the restaurant last night when Silberstein entered. He carried with him a hammer, which he had borrowed from a nearby shoemaker, and a bottle of cyanide of potassium.

Witnesses heard no words exchanged. Silberstein walked behind the elderly man's chair, they said, and began to strike Calisch upon the head with the hammer. As the patrons sat too startled to move, Silberstein continued to strike his erstwhile friend.

When the people present roused themselves and seized Silberstein, he offered no resistance.

As the unconscious man was taken to Kings County hospital in an ambulance Silberstein watched indifferently and expressed gratification when he learned that Calisch died an hour and a half later. Silberstein was then locked up, charged with homicide. He said at the time, "I intended to commit suicide, but I changed my mind and tried to kill the old man instead."

Silberstein, a tall, well-built nervous youth of pasty complexion and with a shock of black hair, appeared in homicide court today with his mother, a bewildered woman, and was committed to the observation ward of the Kings County hospital by Magistrate McCloskey. There an investigation will be made to determine his mental condition. He was recently a neurological clinic patient and blamed his strange relationship with Calisch for his mental state.

Smiles as He Is Arraigned.

"Do you think it was funny to kill a man?" the court inquired.

"I think it was funny to kill this fellow," the youth replied.

He declared he "had lost the mental capacity to explain" why he did it, but attributed his mental and physical condition to his association with Calisch and "assimilation of his traits and ideals."

He later told reporters he did not think his case paralleled the Leopold-Loeb case because "they killed anyone at all—took the first victim they found."

"I chose a particular person," he added gravely.

New Steel Product Will Reduce Costs

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 25 (By A. P.)—The development of a new steel product—steel with a greater wear resistance surface, but a soft core—was announced here tonight by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation.

Metallurgists described the product as "a combination of steel elements never before obtained." The product, named "Jalcase," will reduce production costs and speed up output of parts for automobiles, washing machines, other household appliances, typewriters, and adding machines, shoe and textile machines and equipment where steel of great wear resistance is required for moving parts, company officials said.

Heretofore, according to metallurgists, steel used in moving parts was hard throughout. Jalcase, they said, with its hard surface and soft core, possesses a triple combination of fast machining, case hardening and forging properties.

RAILROAD PAY DEMAND IS SENT TO ARBITRATION

FIRST UNDER NEW LAW

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.). The way was paved today for the first arbitration of a railroad wage dispute under the recently enacted Watson-Parker bill.

Representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed, with representatives of railroads east of Chicago and north of the Ohio river, an agreement to submit to arbitration the brotherhood's demand for a wage increase of $1 a day for conductors, brakemen and switchmen. Arbitration was agreed upon after the Federal board of mediation had failed in its efforts to mediate a settlement.

W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood, said that "future arbitration by trainmen will depend largely on the degree of justice we receive by the agreement to arbitrate." The brotherhood, he asserted, will "go the very limit" to gave th eWatson-Parker bill a tryout.

The board of arbitration will consist of six members, two representing the labor union, two of the railroads and two the public. A date for the arbitration hearings will be fixed later. They will be held in New York. The trainmen's brotherhood announced that D. L. Cease, of Cleveland, Ohio, editor of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and E. F. Curtis, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, general secretary of the Order of Railway conductors, will be its representatives on the arbitration board. The railroads will announce their members later.

Similar wage increase demands have been made of railroads in other sections of the country.

Will Attend Telephone Meeting.

Miss L. R. Marshall, chief toll supervisor, and James R. Sands, superintendent of buildings, will represent the Washington Division of Alexander Graham Bell chapter at the National Telephone Pioneers convention to be held in New York Friday and Saturday. Miss Carolyn H. Martin, president-elect and present secretary of the chapter, also will attend.

MEXICANS FREE SONS OF MISSING MAGNATE

Albert and John Howard Charge Arrest to Father's Marital Troubles.

Mexico City, Aug. 25 (By A. P.). The Howard brothers, Albert and John, who were arrested and put in jail after the disappearance of their father, John F. Howard, have been released. The police located the father at Puebla, where he went after the death of his second wife a day or two ago.

Howard, however, again disappeared tonight, according to police headquarters. Police report that he left his Puebla hotel and abandoned the automobile in which he traveled and that his present whereabouts is unknown.

The police are authority for the statement that their investigation revealed that the brothers had nothing to do with their father's disappearance from Mexico City.

The American vice consul went to police headquarters to make inquiries about the arrest of the Howards, but took no official action in the matter.

Their lawyer appealed to the United States consulate for their release, saying the arrest was "a frame up" by the father's friends to allow him to escape to the United States and avoid the charges the sons have made against him of forgery and bigamy in connection with the Mexican divorce and marriage to his second wife, who recently died here.

The body of the wife has been shipped to her former home in Milwaukee.

Shown a story published in today's New York Herald Tribune, stating that efforts had been made to bar him from this country on the grounds of moral turpitude, Krishnamurti said:

"It is all untrue. I deny every bit of it. All this was cleared up in the Madras court more than a year ago. This is the work of mischievous, mad people."

The "New Messiah" used a slang word once during the interview. He explained that he preferred to wear occidental than native costume because he "might be dubbed insane." Mrs. Besant remained by his side throughout the interview.

He will lecture in Chicago. Then he will go to Los Angeles and retire to his California ranch, staying there probably until next November, he said.

During the voyage across the theosophist leader dined frequently with Miss Rosalind Williams, of Ojai, Calif., a member of the Star in the East, of which Krishnamurti is the head.

"I have enjoyed a great deal of his company," said Miss Williams, who is a blond. "To know him is to fall in love with him at first sight. His spiritual qualities are marvelous."

VETERANS TO FIGHT TO ABOLISH LEGION WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

NEW ORGANIZATION SPONSORED BY BODY

Supporters of Peyser for Commander Claim He Is Gaining Strength.

There will be a recrudescence of the factional strike of the woman's auxiliary of the District department, American Legion, to add to the warmth of the fight for departmental commander when the organization meets tomorrow for its annual convention in Central High school auditorium.

Delegates from the Stuart Walcott post met last night at the home of T. Norman Templeton, 705 Fern street northwest, and decided to do everything within their power to bring about abolishment of the present auxiliary organization and supplant it with a new one. This means, it is understood, that the new organization to be sought would be either that, or one patterned after it, sponsored by the Stuart Walcott post some time ago and which fought a losing fight for recognition.

Undecided on Commander.

The delegates discussed the three candidates for District commander, but decided to wait for developments at the convention before determining for whom they will cast their votes.

Supporters of Capt. Julius I. Peyser, present department commander, claimed he was gaining last-minute strength following his vacillating decision to be a candidate to succeed himself. His post, the Costello, is said to be divided against him and Harlan Wood, of the McGroarty--O'Connell post. Friends of Brig. Gen. Amos E. Fries showed no letup in their campaign to name him.

Mitchell May Be Delegate.

The Costello post is united, however, in its plan to seek the naming of William E. Mitchell, of air-service fame, as a delegate to the national convention. All officials are to be elected Saturday.

The department will parade tomorrow night, forming at Biltmore street and Columbia road northwest at 6:45 o'clock, and proceed east on Columbia road to Thirteenth street and thence south to the high school. Business houses and residences in the section have been asked to display flags by A. B. Carty, president of the Columbia Heights Citizens association.

Carmi Thompson Not to Visit China

Paul Smith's, N. Y., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Published reports from Manila that Carmi A. Thompson, of Ohio, who is making an economic survey of the Philippines for President Coolidge, was soon going to China for a similar survey, led officials at the summer White House today to say that any such plan was unknown to the President.

Mr. Thompson, it was added, is not going to China on any mission for the President, and no investigation there has been authorized or is desired.

Fixing Tire, Is Killed By Hit-and-Run Driver

Special to The Washington Post.

Oakland, Md., Aug. 25.—Walter Roy, 20, of Shaffer, near Oakland, died last night at Allegany Heights hospital, Davis, W. Va., from injuries received when struck by a "hit-and-run" driver Sunday while repairing a tire. His automobile was parked on the road between Davis and Thomas.

The machine that hurled him against his own car was moving at a high speed. West Virginia State police are seeking the driver. Young Roy, who was graduated at Oakland High school last spring, is survived by his parents.

Rhode Island Avenue Extension Advanced

Extension of Rhode Island avenue northeast in a direct route to Hyattsville was virtually assured last night when property owners of North Brentwood, with one or two exceptions, agreed to donate the right of way if their houses were moved back without cost to them. The offer was made at a meeting at Hyattsville of the committees of that city, North Brentwood, Brentwood and Mount Rainier with the general committee.

It was reported that $22,500 of the required $25,000 that must be subscribed by residents of the community for the project, had been pledged. Members of the general committee, T. Howard Duckett, J. Enos Ray and Irvin Owings, expressed confidence that the remaining amount would be pledged by the next meeting Wednesday. If it is not forthcoming they said they would petition the Maryland State road commission to condemn the property of those who held out for unreasonable prices.

B. E. Edwards and M. E. Bailey, of Washington, undertook to raise $4,000 among Washington business men on northeast Rhode Island avenue.

It was made known that with the beginning of construction of the road work will start erection of a railroad viaduct just north of the present Hyattsville highway crossing, thus making it possible to eliminate that grade crossing.

MEXICAN LEGISLATOR KILLED FROM AMBUSH

Mexico City, Aug. 25 (By A. P.). Dispatches from Colima say that Federal Congressman Jesus Pineda and a companion were assasinated presumably by political enemies who killed them from ambush and escaped undetected.

Here in the capital, a pistol battle between rival congressmen was prevented only by the intervention of the federal soldiers guarding the chamber of deputies.

The newspapers say the belligerent congressmen were of the same group which recently had a pistol fight on Madero avenue, in the heart of the business section of Mexico City. The rivalry among these federal congressmen is so bitter that trouble is expected whenever they meet away from the guards.

CHARGES OF RIPLEY DISTURB NEW YORK FINANCIAL DISTRICT

Demand That Trade Commission Force Corporate Publicity Stirs Wall Street.

New York, Aug. 25.—The financial district was stirred today, although principally in an academic way, by the second major attack upon corporate practices launched by Prof. William Z. Ripley, of Harvard university, who in the current issue of the Atlantic Monthly condemns numerous of the country's largest corporations for their inadequate financial statements. He demands they be compelled to give their stockholders and the public more frequent and more intelligible information concerning their earnings and activities.

Many persons had succeeded in getting advance copies of the magazine, which were passed from hand to hand, while the news stands received unprecedented orders for such reading matter. Financial observers, however, denied that the article, with the demand it contains that the Federal Trade Commission at once exercise power it has to require the fullest corporate publicity, was responsible for declines in certain stocks on Tuesday and today.

Steel and Motors Weak.

United States Steel and General Motors were conspicuously weak in Tuesday's trading and steel was weak today. But these two companies were singled out by Prof. Ripley for praise. These and other stocks were down, it was declared, as a result of an irregular, uncertain market, due to the too-rapid pace of bullish speculation throughout July and early August.

The companies concerned were in the main silent regarding charges that their annual statements to stockholders are inadequate, enigmatic and often misleading, if not deceptive. Some said they would issue statements if careful examination of the long article made action advisable.

One executive declared that in his company the full publicity Prof. Ripley proposes would damage the stockholder instead of benefiting him, as competitors would turn to their advantage instantly information concerning sales and net profits.

Denies Ripley Charges.

Frank L. Dame, president of the North American Co., one of the largest public utility holding corporations, denied Prof. Ripley's declaration that it, with the Bethlehem Steel Co., failed to indicate whether its appraisal of its property was based upon cost, market value of "reproduction cost." The valuation of the North American subsidiaries, Mr. Dame declared, had been appraised at "average costs" and were "in excess of the capitalization of the properties."

The Ripley proposals brought no comment from executives of the stock exchange, which questioned the advisability of listing nonvoting stocks after Prof. Ripley last April lashed out against such securities on the ground their issue permitted a financial house to sell a big business and still maintain control of it.

Louisiana Residents Fleeing Hurricane

New Orleans, Aug. 25 (By A. P.). The storm raging up through the Gulf of Mexico toward the eastern Louisiana coast is of hurricane force, said messages received here today from the steamship Crawford, reporting from a point about 120 miles south of Morgan City.

The parishes of Plaquemine, Jefferson, Terrebonne, Lafourche and St. Bernard, along the coast south of New Orleans, were expected to bear the brunt of the storm and warnings were sent to fishermen along the coast to enable them to leave fishing camps and villages.

Residents of camps and outlying districts along the shore of Lake Pontchartrain also were warned and many of them left their homes to seek safety in New Orleans.

Rain Prevents Cambridge Races.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cambridge, Md., Aug. 25.—Rains today virtually halted all activities at the Cambridge fair and caused postponement of the scheduled horse races. Three events were arranged for today's card, with two other races for tomorrow. It is expected that all five events will be attempted tomorrow.

VIRGINIA FIREMEN CHOOSE ALEXANDRIA FOR 1927 SESSIONS

State Bas Association Will Convene in the City on September 27.

CAMPAIGN IS STARTED FOR DELINQUENT TAXES

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
124 N. Patrick St., Alexandria, Va.

Alexandria will get the 1927 convention of the Virginia State Firemen's association, according to a telegram received yesterday evening by J. T. Preston, secretary of the chamber of commerce, from Fire Chief James M. Duncan, jr., who is in Covington attending the convention in session there for three days, beginning yesterday.

Nearly 100 local firemen are in Covington for the convention and will participate in all events and compete for prizes, particularly that for the best dressed outfit with band in the parade. They were accompanied by the Citizens band.

Chief Duncan and a large number of the firemen departed Monday morning in automobiles for Covington, others leaving by train Tuesday, the members of the band and a majority of the Columbia company leaving Tuesday night.

Thirty members of the Ladies auxiliary to the fire department, with Mrs. John W. Travers, president, left Monday morning to attend the meetings and will go from Covington to Hot Springs, Va., for the week-end.

In the absence of Chief Duncan, City Manager Paul Morton is in active command of the local fire department and each company has a sufficient quota of the regular force on hand to combat any fire with the help of volunteers.

Alexandria will be known as the "convention city" after the years 1926-27, as the Bus Association of Virginia will meet in convention in this city on September 27, with R. L. May, president of the state, in charge. Mr. May is the owner of the Alexandria, Barcroft and Washington bus line, with residence at Barcroft.

The annual Convederate veterans reunion of the department of Virginia will be held in this city in June, 1927, the dates to be selected by the state commander. When the reunion met in Farmville the past June, Edgar Warfield, acting commander of Robert E. Lee camp, of this city, extended an invitation, backed by all city organizations, which was held in abeyance, but has now been definitely accepted.

City Manager Paul Morton has instituted a final drive to collect the delinquent city taxes for 1925, amounting to $8,000, and in order to allow all delinquents an opportunity to pay before their places are offered for sale, James Bayliss, a member of the police department, has been detailed to see all those in arrears and collect the amount of their tax without further delay. In the event of selling property to cover the tax, the cost of the sale is added.

Several hundred automobile owners have failed to pay the required city tax, and the campaign will extend to them after the present drive is completed.

The public concert tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the corner of Prince and Washington streets will be by the Boys' Independent band, of Washington.

ROCKVILLE FAIR OFFERS DOUBLE PROGRAM TODAY

Events Postponed by Rain Yesterday Will Be Run Off at Show.

Rain yesterday not only kept the attendance at the Rockville fair down to a minimum, but caused the postponement of virtually all of the leading features of the program.

A start was made on the horse show, however, and not a few men, women and children braved the elements to watch the many beautiful animals perform. The show will be concluded today when the premium winners will be announced.

The unfavorable weather yesterday means that the programs for two days will be merged into one today and a big day seems certain, provided good weather prevails. The double program will include the conclusion of the horse show, parades of automobiles and live stock around the race track and six harness and two mule races.

The Montgomery County Game and Fish Protective association, the membership of which comprises more than 300 men and women of this county and the District of Columbia, including 50 members of the National Capital Field Trials association, has an exhibit at the fair that attracts much attention.

An elaborate program has been provided for today, the big day of the fair, and arrangements have been made to entertain something like 20,000 visitors from the District of Columbia, all parts of the county and elsewhere. The judging of exhibits will be concluded during the day and all premium winners will be made known. A parade of automobiles, trucks and smooth-wheel tractors is scheduled for the morning, and four harness races and a mule race are scheduled for the afternoon.

FILINGS COMPLETED FOR MONTGOMERY COUNTY PRIMARIES

Six on Democratic List Will Have No Opposition for the Nomination.

CONTEST FOR SENATE IN REPUBLICAN RANKS

MONTGOMERY COUNTY BUREAU OF THE WASHINGTON POST.
ROCKVILLE, MD.

The time for filing with the supervisors of elections certificates of candidacy for nominations for the numerous offices to be filled in the county at the November election expired at 12 o'clock Tuesday night and the lists, so far as the primary election on September 14 is concerned, are complete.

Among the Democrats, Preston B. Ray, Dr. John Gardner, Dr. Eugene Jones and Perrie E. Waters, who are candidates for the nominations for clerk of the circuit court, county treasurer, State senator and register of wills to succeed themselves, were the only ones to file and, therefore, they will be certified by the supervisors of elections as the nominees of their party. The same is true in the case of Clagett C. Hilton, candidate for the nomination for county commissioner from the third commissioner district to succeed J. Furr White. He was the only one to file for that nomination.

Contests for Nominations.

For all the other nominations there will be contests, the complete list being as follows:

For State's attorney — Robert Peter, jr., Charles W. Woodward and James L. Pugh.

For sheriff—Joseph B. Pyles, William L. Aud, George E. Nicholson, Mareen D. Darby and Earl Burdine.

For judges of the orphans' court, three to be named—John R. Lewis, P. Hicks Ray, Harry J. Hunt, James P. Gott, Thomas N. Bailey, Edward P. B. Margerum and William T. Ridgely.

For the house of delegates, four to be named—E. Brooke Lee, Dr. George L. Edmonds, Richard H. Lansdale, Harvey White, Arthur W. Bell, Eugene A. McAtee, Frank Wilson, Thomas Hampton and Joseph V. Selby.

For County Surveyor.

For county surveyor—Joseph N. Starker and Charles J. Maddox.

There will be no contest over the selection of delegates to represent the county at the Democratic State convention and J. Roger Spates, Harry W. Blunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Leavell, Mrs. Mary Dodge Lewis and Calvin W. Mullinix, who were the only ones to file, will be certified by the supervisors as the choice of the party.

For the Democratic State central committee, however, there are eleven candidates for the six places. They are Robert G. Hilton, Berry E. Clark, Lloyd J. Jones, Lewis P. Allnut, Mrs. Lucy M. Offutt, Miss Ruth Shoemaker, Walter W. Plummer, H. Windsor Adams, E. Cecil Allnutt, George F. Bonifant and Edwin M. West.

Contest in G. O. P. Race.

It was thought there would be no Republican contests of any kind, but at the eleventh hour a three-cornered fight for the nomination for the State senate was precipitated when Mrs. Mary T. Stock, of Bradley Hills, wife of Edward L. Stock, Republican candidate for the State senate five years ago, and John F. Seibert, of Garrett Park, filed certificates of candidacy. Capt. Frank L. Hewitt, of Silver Spring, filed some time ago.

Other Republicans to file were Harold C. Smith, of Rockville, for State's attorney; Hiram W. Harvey, of Sunshine, for county commissioner from the first commissioner district, to succeed himself; Walter P. Plumley, of Takoma Park, for the house of delegates; James Oscar Thompson, of Rockville, for sheriff, and Richard C. Drum-Hunt, of Bethesda, for county treasurer.

They will all be unopposed for the nominations, and Paul Sleman, Wilson L. Townsend, F. Barnard Welsh, Mrs. Clara A. Holmes and Simon Smith, for members of the State central committee for the county, and Mrs. Don Clark, Mrs. Anna J. Moore, Hewitt Griggs Robertson, William F. Disney and Harry L Willard for delegates to the Republican State convention have no opposition.

Harding Golf Medal Goes to Man in Jail

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Gus Fetz, member of the 1926 championship Chicago public links golf team, who won the Warren G. Harding trophy for the second time in four years, was presented with his medal in the county jail today. He is an inmate of debtors' row for failure to pay a judgment for injuries to a woman in an automobile accident. Ted Lloyd, the team captain, made the presentation in the jail warden's office.

3 Swimmers Waiting To Attempt Channel

Cape Gris-Nez, France, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—The definite decision of Miss Lillian Cannon, of Baltimore, to abandon her English channel attempt for this year and to start for home tomorrow, has narrowed the colony of swimming aspirants here to three.

These are Mrs. Clemington Carson, the former Amelia Gade; Ishak Helmy, the Egyptian, and Louis Timson, of Boston. They plan to make their attempts on the first favorable day.

heretofore when removal of only the farmers' market was contemplated by the committee.

The dimensions of the various suggested sites and the possibility of expansion must be considered by the committee before it can make its report, Maj. Carey H. Brown, engineer of the commission and executive officer of the coordinating committee, said yesterday.

The committee will consider the question today, but no public hearings are contemplated, Maj. Brown said.

Possibility that the committee may turn to other sites than those which have received most prominent public attention was indicated by Maj. Brown. The question of cost of acquirement, both to the government and to food dealers will be considered, he said. Convenience to dealers and consumers and accessibility to consumers are other factors which the committee will consider, he added.

A. R. Boxwell, 206 Fifth street southeast, who described himself as a resident, home owner and taxpayer in the District for the last 65 years, urged selection of the Midcity site. "It would be very inconvenient for us people living in the extreme east or extreme west to get to any other site," Mr. Boxwell said. He, too, urged the importance of locating the market near department and furnishing stores so that consumers could buy all of their necessaries in one trip.

"Property from Third to Sixth streets, between K and L streets northwest, can be got reasonably," he continued. "There would also be a good chance for wholesale meat houses and other wholesale establishments."

Unless the entire market district is moved when the farmers' market is moved, officials might just as well destroy the farmers' market, said Loran J. Harrison, of Anacostia, who has a 150-acre farm of which, he said, about 40 acres are planted in truck.

"I am vitally interested in the new market site," Mr. Harrison said. "I can not help but fell if it is not selected near Convention hall market there might as well be none, unless the whole business is moved at the same time.

"If I am properly informed, there was no money to buy the property east of Tenth street, thereby leaving the commission houses on B street, and leaving, too, the entire business now on Louisiana avenue and C street. I also feel sure most of the people do not understand it is only the country line to be moved.

"If I am correct the divorcing of that part would destroy it unless properly located."

L. J. Harn, another Anacostia farmer, also expressed doubt as to just what sections of the market are to be moved.

The National Capital park and planning commission originally decided to move the farmers' market to make room for the new internal revenue bureau office building. Later the commission instructed its coordinating committee to work out a plan for the removal of wholesale and commission house rows. The committee now is at work on this plan. This would leave only the Center market building standing on the present site. Plans for the future call for utilization of that site for other uses.

ARLINGTON COUNTY MAN CHOSEN STATE TAX LAW CHAIRMAN

Harry K. Green and Committee Will Survey Need of Simplifying Code.

ADVERTISING PLANNED AT SESQUICENTENNIAL

Float Will Be Sent to Philadelphia for Parade on Virginia and Legion Days.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Harry K. Green, commissioner of revenue of Arlington county, has been chosen chairman of the committee on simplification of taxation and codification of the tax laws of the State of Virginia by the State Association of Commissioners of Revenue. His appointment has been approved by the chairman of the State tax commission, Charles H. Morrissett.

This selection is in line with Gov. Byrd's program for tax reform in the coming legislature Mr. Green was one of the leaders of a small group of tax experts upon whom the governor relied and with whom he was in constant consultation in the preparation of the tax segregation act which he forced through the regular session of the general assembly last January.

Mr. Green will issue a call for the committee to meet and organize at Richmond within the next two or three weeks. It will immediately begin an exhaustive survey of the present tax laws of the State, both from an administrative and revenue producing standpoint. An effort will be made to eliminate duplications and to distribute the burden of taxation more equitably. The committee will also endeavor to compile all the separate tax laws, provisions and revenue sections into a single simplified tax code.

More than 150 persons witnessed Bishop William Cabell Brown conduct the services preceding the laying of the corner-stone of the $40,000 Episcopal church at Rixey station, Arlington county, to be known as St. Mary's Church of Our Mother, yesterday afternoon by the Masonic lodge of Cherrydale, No. 42, A. F. and A. M.

Plans for the contract with the War Department for Arlington county's water supply from the government filtration plant at Dalecarlia were discussed yesterday by State Senator Frank L. Ball and Commonwealth Attorney William C. Gloth and Maj. Brishon Somervell.

With the view of advertising Arlington county, the chamber of commerce is planning to send a float to Philadelphia to participate in the Virginia day and American Legion parades at the Sesquicentennial. The plan was explained at the meeting of the Clarendon Citizens association and before the publicity committee of the chamber of commerce by Edgar W. Pumphrey.

A. J. Webb was appointed a special committee to study the character and plans of the float.

Virginia day at the Sesqui has been designated as October 14 and American Legion day will be October 12.

The float will be manned in both parades by members of Arlington post, American Legion. The fund-raising committee, besides Mr. Pumphrey, consists of W. Thomas French, Herbert H. Porter, the Rev. Perry L. Mitchel and Dr. J. A. Boston.

PRIMO DE RIVERA WINS IN CLASH WITH ALFONSO

Ambassador at Paris, King's Favorite, Falls Before Opposition of Premier.

Paris, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Signs of friction between King Alfonso of Spain and Premier Primo de Rivera are seen in diplomatic circles here in the apparently authentic reports of an approaching change in the Spanish embassy at Paris.

Count Quinones de Leon, who has been here so long, seems like a fixture, has had some difficulty in satisfying Madrid since Gen. Primo de Rivera assumed control. His close relations with the king have thus far prevented any action in his case, but since Primo de Rivera's visit to Paris there have been rumors that the head of the government is determined that a man of his own choice shall be in charge of the embassy at Paris.

King Alfonso was especially gracious to Quinones de Leon while in Paris, while Primo de Rivera displayed irritation at the attention shown the Ambassador. The supposition in diplomatic circles is that the Spanish premier finally has been able to bring arguments to bear that more than counterbalanced Alfonso's well-known liking for the Ambassador.

The reported change in the ambassadorship is thought to foreshadow an official demand by Spain for opening negotiations respecting Tangier. It is affirmed in French official circles that Primo de Rivera's plan in favor of an exclusively Spanish administration zone remains simple talk. There has been, however, an exchange of views between Paris and London, giving intimation, it is said, that Great Britain and France are agreed that there can be no change in the international status in Tangier.

HOLD 2 IN POISONING OF FORMER HUSBAND

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Aug. 25.—Wichita Doggett and his wife were locked up in the county jail here today in connection with the alleged poisoning of Mrs. Doggett's first husband, Landon Brown. Mrs. Doggett, a few days after the death of Brown, an elderly man who lived on his farm near here, was married to Doggett.

Soon faterward the body of Brown was disinterred and the stomach was sent to the State chemical authorities at Richmond, Va., who reported finding in the organ arsenic sufficient to cause death. The woman was subsequently arrested, and later Doggett, who had been sought by the police, returned and gave himself up to the authorities.

The grand jury will meet on the third Monday in October, when the cases will go before it.

Madden Says Expenditures Will Be Far Below Those of Coming Year.

BUILDING PROGRAM SAFE

Paul Smiths, N. Y., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—The total proposed expenditures by the government in the fiscal year 1928 will be considerably below the actual expenditures for 1927, perhaps by $250,000,000, Chairman Madden of the House appropriations committee said today.

While the Illinois representative did not go into details, after discussing the appropriation situation for next year with President Coolidge, he said the government would not be confronted with as heavy outlays as was the case this year on the postal pay increase voted two years ago or on the soldiers' bonus and other special items, which in the fiscal year 1927 have placed an extra burden on the government of $300,000,000.

Total expenditures for 1927 have been limited by the President at $3,600,000,000, compared with approximately $3,620,000,000 in 1926, $3,529,000,000 in 1925 and $3,506,000,000 in 1924, the lowest expenditures year since the war. The budget for next year has been limited to $3,270,000,000, but this does not include postal costs or such indeterminate items as tax refunds.

In going over the financial situation with Mr. Madden, Mr. Coolidge emphasized the economy program of the administration and urged that no unjustifiable expenditures be made.

The hearings of the House appropriations committee on the supply measures for next year will begin in Washington about November 5.

While no provision yet has been included in the budget estimates for next year to carry out the $165,000,000 public buildings program, Mr. Madden indicated that some amount would be provided with the maximum for any one year limited to $25,000,000.

President Coolidge today heard additional reports on the business condition of the country from Louis K. Liggett, of Boston, head of a chain drug store system.

Mr. Coolidge tomorrow will go to Plattsburg to inspect the citizens' military training camp.

Is Beaten to Death By Son He Attacked

Nelson, N. C., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Seizing the root of a tree from the hands of his father, who had attacked him, F. H. Page, 37, today beat his father, Leroy H. Page, 69, to death. The younger man then sent for the sheriff of Durham county and surrendered himself.

The killing, witnessed by Nellie Page, sister of the confessed slayer, was the outcome, it was said, of an argument between father and son over the division of some tobacco.

RITES FOR DR. LINTHICUM.

The funeral of Dr. Otis M. Linthicum, who died at his home in Rockville, Monday afternoon, at the age of 60 years, was held from the home yesterday, many persons from various parts of Montgomery county and elsewhere attending. FRIEND OF MELLETT NAMED POLICE HEAD IN CANTON VICE QUIZ

Sergt. Wise Himself Was the Object of Assassination Plot in Ohio Town.

GRAND JURORS RECEIVE EVIDENCE IN SLAYING

Members Closely Guarded on Starting Their Inquiryy Into Six Weeks' Mystery.

Canton, Ohio, Aug. 25 (By A. P.). While Stark county's grand jury deliberated today behind a curtain of unprecedented secrecy on the Mellett case, Canton's mayor appointed a new police chief and thereby prepared the way for a contemplated clean-up of vice and bootleg rings.

The fifteen grand jurors began hearing witnesses in the six weeks' old mystery of the murder of the publisher-crusader, Don R. Mellett, while bailiffs of the court guarded their chamber door and barred possible intruders.

It is expected the jury will deliberate more than a week.

John ("Jiggs") Wise was promoted from sergeant to chief of police. His appointment at present is temporary, being designated for 30 days, beginning today.

Several changes in the organization of the police department are expected within a few days. Wise directly succeeds Safety Director Earl W. Hexamer, who has been acting chief since S. A. Lengel was suspended on July 24, when Mayor S. M. Swarts considered that the police investigation into the Mellett murder case had failed. Lengel was dismissed Monday at the conclusion of the 30 days.

During the murder inquiry, when investigators were inclined not to rely on the Canton police, they nevertheless entrusted Wise with various missions, including a two-week trip of investigation to Naty Glo, Pa., home of Patrick Eugene McDermott, wanted as "keyman" in the inquiry.

Last week it developed that Wise had once been the object of an alleged assassination plot. He was a friend of Mellett, the slain publisher, and is known to have been an arch foe of Lengel, the deposed chief.

Mrs. Florence E. Mellett, widow of the slain publisher, today announced that if she wins the $100,000 civil damage suit she filed in Federal court today against the alleged conspirators against her husband's life, she will give the entire sum to the support of fatherless children. In her suit she names Louis Mazer, Canton; Ben Rudner, Massillon, and Patrick Eugene McDermott, as conspirators.

Carl Studer, Canton poolroom proprietor arrested in the Canton bootleg investigation launched by Federal authorities, following the Mellett murder, was released from jail at Cleveland today under $2,500 bond. He is charged with conspiracy to violate the liquor law.

Dean of Fire Chiefs, 71, Dies at Harrisonburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Aug. 25.—Volunteer Fire Chief W. A. Braithwaite, 71 years old, recognized as dean of American fire chiefs and the "grand old man" among the Old Dominion volunteer firemen, died today at his home here. Until illness forced him to retire three years ago, Chief Braithwaite had a record of having missed only a half dozen alarms of the 3,400 sounded during his 54-year career as a volunteer fireman. Since its organization 34 years ago he was president of Hose company No. 4.

A former president of the State Volunteer Firemen's association, Chief Braithwaite always was a central figure in these conventions. He missed only six in 40 years. At the age of 15 he started his fire-fighting career when flames threatened to wipe out the business section of Harrisonburg in 1870. His wife and four children survive.

Autoist Drowned; Companion Is Held

Baltimore, Aug. 25 (By A. P.) Richard C. McCleary, 30, was drowned at the wheel of his automobile when the car plunged into the harbor at the foot of Fell street early today. His companion, William H. Rea, 28, freed himself from the machine and clambered ashore. He was placed under arrest after being treated for minor injuries at a hospital.

Police declared that shortly before the plunge one of the occupants of the car shot at two policemen who cried to them: "Turn on your other light!" Rea denied the shooting charge.

DECREE OF FASCISTI MAY DEPRIVE WOMEN OF CURTAILED VOTE

STEP TOWARD ABOLITION OF ELECTIVE PROGRAM

Dominant Party Already Has Placed Appointive Officials in Many Municipalities.

Rome, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—The Italian women may lose the right to vote before they have had a chance to cast a ballot.

They won the right to vote at municipal elections at the last legislative session of parliament after many years' struggle. But now a fascist decree probably will abolish all municipal elections. This decree, according to a semiofficial statement, will be adopted at a meeting of the council of ministers next Tuesday.

The right of suffrage which the women lose is nominal, because the suffrage measure not only restricted the women's right to vote in municipal elections, but allowed the privilege only to a very small proportion of women. Only women who might be styled "prominent," "official," "war widows," and the like, were to have the right to vote, which, as was plainly pointed out in the legislative debates, was granted as an honor to certain deserving classes of women rather than a step toward political enfranchisement of all the women.

To Suspend Local Elections.

A more important aspect of the cabinet's coming decree is that it is a confirmation of the government's purpose gradually to legalize the temporary suspension of all elections recently ordered by Mussolini to enable the fascist party to crush the turbulence of certain local elements who were refusing to accept the dictates of a central authority.

The first step was taken early in the year with the abolition of communal elections in 8,000 villages of less than 5,000 population. In these villages the fascist ministry of the interior placed trusted men to serve as podestas—a system used widely in Italy in the Middle Ages.

Later this podesta system was extended to a great number of places classifiable as health resorts or within the earthquake zone. Rome was placed under a governor; Naples was placed under a high commissioner and only a fortnight ago Milan was placed under a special commissioner.

The cabinet's new decree is based, the official assertion goes, upon the success attained throughout the country. After its adoption citizens in towns and cities will have no voice in the choice of podestas or commissioners who will govern them.

May Change Whole System.

Legally Italian citizens will still have a right to vote in two types of elections. Each group of communes elect a provincial councillor to sit in a provincial council and each citizen votes in an election for deputies to parliament, the senators being appointed. In fact, however, this right to vote not only is suspended but virtually abandoned.

The next legislative election is due in 1929 under the legal five year rule unless as an official fascist spokesman said, "parliament decides to pass a measure changing the system."

Periodically the fascist press announces that the government party will take severe steps against those "with old fashioned mentality," or "those desiring to provoke disorder," who discuss the possibility of legislative elections. The purpose of the fascist state patently is to change the chamber of deputies into an institution whereby organizations instead of individuals will elect the membership. Such organizations, however, would be restricted to members of the fascisti.

Auto Falls 50 Feet; 3 Killed; 1 Injured

White River Junction, Vt., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Three persons were killed and a fourth seriously injured early today when an automobile plunged through a bridge and fell 50 feet to the Central Vermont railroad tracks in Hartland, near here. A heavy fog obscured the road at the time of the accident.

One of the dead was identified as Thomas G. Mason, of Springfield, Mass., sales manager of the Pace Co., Inc., a refrigerator concern. Another victim was Miss Bertha Lucia, also of Springfield. The third person killed was an unidentified woman about 20 years old. Harry Mason, brother of the dead man, was taken to a hospital unconscious.

BAND ROBS BOTH BANKS IN OKLAHOMA OIL TOWN

OFFICERS GUARD ROADS

Covington, Okla., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—A band of five or six two-gun men, in true Wild West fashion, descended on the two banks in Covington, oil town, today, terrorized the officials and customers, coolly looted the institutions and escaped in two automobiles without a shot being fired.

The amount of the loot was declared to be well in excess of $5,000.

Posses were guarding the roads in all directions in the hope of apprehending the robbers, who conducted the raids unmasked.

In each bank the officials and patrons were forced at the point of guns to the rear of the buildings, where they were guarded while the money was being sacked.

In the American State Bank there were 24 witnesses to the robbery before it was completed. As soon as a customer entered the front door, he was put under guard. Before the bandits left, all of their victims were ordered into the vault and the door closed.

In the Covington National Bank, where the loot was believed to be around $5,000, the patrons and officials were handled in the same manner.

W. T. Henry, assistant cashier of the American State Bank, said: "Throughout it all, everything went quietly, except once when a bandit kicked one of the bank patrons when he started to escape after being ordered into the vault. There was no shooting. The bandits entered the bank quietly and went about their work in a gentlemanly manner."

Irving, Texas, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Three unmasked youths robbed the Irving bank here today of between $5,000 and $7,000 after backing the officials and one customer into a vault. They escaped in an automobile headed toward Dallas.

The dead and injured were removed to Gallup. The wreckage was expected to be cleared shortly before noon to permit main-line trains to pass.

MEXICAN DEADLOCK ON RELIGION MAKES BUSINESS GLOOMY

Hope Still Held for Solution, but Facts Indicate Both Sides Firmer.

FOREIGN MINISTER SAYS LAW WILL BE ENFORCED

Episcopate, in Statement, Protests Against Government Canvass of Federal Employes.

Mexico City, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—The business men of Mexico with undisguised gloom are settling down with whatever philosophy and resignation they can muster to what seems to be an indefinite continuance of the stalemate in the religious situation.

There is still hope that somehow a solution may be found, but so far as tangible facts are concerned nothing has occurred of late to substantiate that hope. If anything the government and episcopate both seem to be adopting a somewhat stiffer attitude.

The foreign minister, Senor Saenz, conferred today with President Calles and it is understood he reported to the president his denial of the remarks attributed to him in a recent interview at San Antonio. He assured the president that his position was for the enforcement of the constitution and laws.

The foreign minister had been quoted as saying that when laws or constitutional provisions were against the benefits of the country, they should either be repealed or amended.

Favors Law Enforcement.

His quoted remarks assumed added importance from the government viewpoint because the episcopate yesterday issued a statement expressing satisfaction over the attitude attributed to Senor Saenz, at San Antonio. Today the foreign minister, who has just returned to the capital, declared that his words had been misinterpreted.

"While law is law in Mexico the government will enforce it," he said. "Until amended by legal means the law must be obeyed as a whole by everybody."

The episcopate continues to study plans for a campaign for amendment of the constitution by congress, but the newspapers declare that the government has decided to take a firmer attitude and does not intend to allow any Catholic priest who has spoken in opposition to the government and the laws during the present religious controversy to resume his church services even when the church authorities decide to resume.

The episcopate has issued a written statement declaring that the government has sent a circular to all government employes and school teachers requiring a statement as to whether they belong to the League for the Defense of Religious Liberty or the Knights of Columbus, or whether they are loyal to the government and support the government's religious policy.

The episcopate declares that it does not recognize the government's right "thus to violate religious liberty."

Pope Prays for Perseverance.

Rome, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—The Pope today told a group of Mexican pilgrims whom he received in private audience to take home to their people the assurance that he is praying to God to give them power to persevere in the "magnificent courage which they are now displaying to the whole world."

The holy see announced that the news it has received indirectly from Mexico confirms the "complete falsity of the Mexican government reports anent the negotiations between Calles and the episcopacy." The entire body of Mexican bishops and all the faithful in that country, it was stated, remained firm in their defense of their religion and their religious obedience to the holy see.

CHINESE DOMESTIC LOAN IS PROTESTED BY U. S.

Objects to Pledging of Securities to America in Its New Issue.

DEBTS LONG STANDING

(By the Associated Press.)

The State Department published yesterday the note of "emphatic protest" which Minister MacMurray has delivered to the Peking government in an effort to induce the payment of obligations due American banking, shipping and industrial houses and to prevent the pledging of customs surplus moneys as security for a new domestic loan.

After reciting by name the American institutions to which the Chinese government has been long obligated, the note said the American legation in Peking had been compelled to deny specifically "the justice of the position adopted by the Chinese government to the effect that the consolidated domestic loans enjoy a preferential right to the use of customs surplus funds after services of the pre-Boxer loans, the Boxer indemnities and the reorganization loan of 1913 have been met."

"The American legation," the note added, "therefore insists that the Chinese authorities concerned have no right to utilize as the security for new domestic financing the amount of approximately $11,000,000 per annum to become available upon the extinction of the ninth year domestic loan and could only regard any such action taken by the Chinese authorities as a further failure to observe good faith toward the American creditors of China. The American legation therefore emphatically protects against the issuance of the reported $25,000,000 domestic loan bonds."

States on leave, he has come to the department to talk over matters connected with his mission in Mexico. He is not going to resign and the department does not desire him to resign. He is going back to Mexico City at the expiration of his leave. We have absolute confidence in Mr. Sheffield and there is no disagreement between us. I make these statements because of rumors which have been published from time to time in the press. I can not discuss the details of our conferences."

That the retroactive and confiscatory character of the Mexican land and petroleum laws, under the constitution of 1917, are the roots of the troubled relations now existing between Mexico and the United States is generally known. The diplomatic correspondence between the two governments, for part of which Mr. Sheffield is responsible, has emphasized and reemphasized the refusal of the United States government to admit the principle of confiscation of American property rights involved in the new Mexican laws. A reply from President Calles to Secretary Kellogg's last note on this subject is now awaited.

Big Questions Intermingle.

It is not believed that the religious controversy as such will be taken official cognizance of by the United States unless American property rights become involved through attempted confiscation of church property owned by Americans. But the same communistic theories responsible for the confiscatory land and petroleum laws is responsible for the church controversy and it is expected that Mr. Sheffield has made a full report to the Department of State.

Ambassador Sheffield was responsible for the drastic note which Secretary Kellogg sent to President Calles months ago in which it was hinted that American recognition might be withdrawn if American rights were not given protection. In that case, the Ambassador made a full report of conditions in Mexico which was so disturbing to Mr. Kellogg that he called in Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Senate, and others to talk with Mr. Sheffield.

The Kellogg note was indorsed by Mr. Borah and others before it was sent. It aroused much feeling in Mexico and brought a sharp rejoiner from Calles, but its effect was salutary in the sense that Calles held in abeyance the confiscatory measures complained of.

RAILROAD WAGE ARBITRATION.

Every labor organization and every employer of labor will await with keen interest the outcome of the first case brought before the board of mediation under the terms of the Parker-Watson act. That law, which supersedes the act which created the railroad labor board, is expected to bring about amicable adjustments of all disputes between the railroads and their employes. It was enacted only after lengthy hearings before the committees of Congress, during which it was shown that both parties, the railroads and the brotherhoods of trainmen, conductors, engineers and all other organizations of employes, were anxious to obtain legislation looking to the arbitration of wage disputes and all differences arising between the railroads and those who serve them.

Now it is announced that an agreement has been reached for arbitration through the mediation board, of which the former head of the House commerce committee, Samuel E. Winslow, of Massachusetts, is chairman. The issue is the wage question between the railroads supplying the territory north of the Ohio river and east of Chicago and their trainmen. As the board itself was unable to adjust the differences through mediation, all parties "after friendly and thorough consideration" agreed to arbitration at the request of the board. Two arbitrators will be selected by the railroads involved in the dispute, two others by the men, and two others by President Coolidge.

President Lee, of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, explains that the question at issue arises out of the demand of the conductors and brakemen in the freight service in the territory involved for an increase of $1 a day, which the men insist is warranted by the earnings of the railroads in the Eastern section of the country. It is understood that if the result of this first arbitration under the new law is satisfactory to both sides the report of the arbitrators will be followed immediately by like requests from railway employes throughout the country.

The arbitrators will meet in New York as soon as named, and are expected to reach an agreement in October.

RECESS APPOINTMENTS.

Again the question has arisen as to the right of a Federal recess appointee to draw his salary. Comptroller General McCarl has ruled that Tariff Commissioners Broussard and Lowell can not draw their salaries after July 3, 1926, the day on which Congress adjourned, as they were not confirmed by the Senate.

Mr. McCarl's decision is based on the fact that the Constitution "preserves the control of the Senate over appointments by limiting the term for which the President is authorized to make recess appointments."

Section 1761 of the Revised Statutes provides that no salary shall be paid to a recess appointee, subject to confirmation by the Senate, where the appointment is made to fill a vacancy existing while the Senate is in session.

Mr. Broussard was appointed July 9, 1925, but was not confirmed by the Senate. He was paid his salary until June 30, 1926. Mr. McCarl rules that he is not entitled to his salary after July 3, the day the Senate adjourned. Mr. Lowell was given a recess appointment July 6, 1926, after the Senate adjourned. Mr. McCarl rules that Mr. Lowell can not be paid his salary.

THE PLAINT OF THE BOOTLEGGER.

Soon after Gen. Andrews announced that the Treasury Department in its war on bootlegging would change the regulations defining the ingredients to be used in the denaturing of alcohol a howl of protest arose. It was asserted that the department planned to bring about wholesale poisoning of innocent drinkers of contraband beverages, and the country was given to expect an enormous increase in the number of deaths among those who think that they can not live without copious draughts of synthetic gin.

It is worthy of note that nothing in the way of protest has been received from the legitimate manufacturers of grain alcohol for industrial purposes, and few of the legitimate users of the distillate have thought it necessary to protest against the proposal of Gen. Andrews. On the contrary, many of these legitimate users of alcohol for industrial purposes, realizing the difficulties which surround the enforcement of the law, actually commend the proposal of the official charged with the duty of law enforcement.

One of the principal organs of the users of alcohol in industry is the Oil Paint and Drug Reporter. In the current issue of that publication attention is called to the fact that tax freedom in the industrial use of alcohol was secured 20 years ago after a long and bitter struggle, in which the cause of the industrialists was opposed principally by the opponents of the beverage use of alcohol, whereas the present attack has been launched by the opponents of prohibition. "This might seem peculiar," says the Reporter, "were it not for the fact that for unreason, illogical argument, and the utter disregard of all rights and beliefs other than their own, fanatical prohibitionists are equaled by none but fanatical antiprohibitionists."

It then calls attention to the fact that all sorts of compounds of alcohol, such as freeze proof liquids for hydraulic jacks, embalming fluid and horse liniments, and other poisonous compounds, with an alcohol base, were used as beverages long before Volstead was elected to Congress. The manufacture of denatured alcohol, no matter how effectually it is "poisoned," is no more contributory to suicide than is the manufacture of rope. "Industrial alcohol is no more at fault when a crook sells it as a beverage than are axes to be blamed because somebody uses one to commit murder."

LET POSTERITY PAY ITS SHARE.

The opinions of Hon. Martin Madden on the fiscal affairs of the government are entitled to the greatest respect. He is the best-informed man in the United States on the subject of government expenditures, and is the most influential individual in Congress in determining how much and for what purpose the taxpayers' money shall be expended. Without Mr. Madden's cooperation it would have been impossible to put into effect the economy policy of President Coolidge.

Mr. Madden has been consulting President Coolidge on the question of government expenditures and economy projects. He agrees with the President that another reduction of taxes is not practicable, but he expresses the independent opinion that if the Treasury will use for current needs the money it receives from foreign governments on debt payments, instead of using it to retire liberty bonds, a reduction of $350,000,000 or $400,000,000 in taxes can be made in 1928. The Treasury is extinguishing the public debt as fast as possible, employing for that purpose $150,000,000 a year which it receives as interest on debts owed by foreign countries.

The public debt of the United States will be wiped out in 20 years, at the rate it is being paid off. In the meantime interest payments, as well as installments of principal, will be paid in increasing amounts by foreign debtors, while the income-tax revenue will also increase under present schedules. Mr. Madden has suggested to the President that after the public debt is paid off huge sums will accumulate in the Treasury and will tempt Congress to enter upon an unparalleled career of extravagance.

Mr. Madden therefore suggests that the payments received from foreign governments be applied to current expenses, thus extending the public debt payments further into the future and providing relief for present-day taxpayers. He thinks it is unnecessary to burden living taxpayers with payment of the entire public debt, leaving to the next generation an enormous windfall in the shape of foreign debt payments and an immense Treasury surplus, with no public debt.

The reasoning employed by Secretary Mellon, and heretofore approved by President Coolidge, is that large payments on the public debt help to reduce interest charges on the remainder and improve the government's credit, so that it is enabled to borrow money at lower rates of interest. This is true; but it is also true that the present generation of taxpayers are carrying the entire load of the war, including the load which should be carried by foreign debtors. As those foreign debtors are granted 62 years in which to pay their debts, Mr. Madden thinks it is no more than fair that American taxpayers should be relieved also by having part of the public debt shifted to the next generation.

The taxpayers of the United States have performed wonders in reducing the war debt. Is it not asking too much of them to insist that the remainder of the debt shall all be wiped out within 20 years by continued high taxes? Why not let foreign governments relieve them a little? The public debt is now manageable. Interest charges are low. As the population of the country increases the charge upon individual taxpayers will become less. Twenty years from now the burden which is now so heavy will be comparatively easy. The taxpayers of 1946 will not have paid indirect war taxes in the shape of sons lost in the war, nor will they have paid the installments which foreign debtors should have paid. Present-day taxpayers have not only paid their proper taxes for the upkeep of the government, but they have paid the interest charges which foreigners should have paid. No wonder the public debt has been reduced and a surplus created!

Presumably the French debt settlement will have been ratified within another year. The United States eventually will be receiving $360,000,000 a year from foreign debtors. The $150,000,000 now actually received should be applied to current government expenses, thereby relieving present-day taxpayers to that amount. Posterity, which will receive as much benefit from American sacrifices in the war as the present generation has received, can well afford to pay a part of the public debt. This generation has paid in blood and suffering as well as in taxes. Let the more numerous taxpayers of the future pay their share of the taxes.

THE VALUE OF LIFE.

A noted economist at the Williamstown economic conference stated that the capitalized future earnings of the males in the United States is approximately a thousand billion dollars, or three times the estimated wealth of the world. If the future earnings of females were capitalized, this estimate would be increased to approximately fifteen hundred billion dollars.

Sickness alone every year costs the people of the United States in excess of $2,000,000,000 in loss of wages and medical attendance. Only about 50 cents a year per capita, or about $60,000,000, is spent by the authorities in cities and villages in public health work.

One of the big problems is to protect community health and teach the people habits of right living. The enormous asset of human life should be conserved. It is said that a year added to a life means a gain of at least $1,000 in future production and wealth.

Two individuals, each noted in his field, died recently, one at the age of 31 and the other at the age of 92. Applying the philosophy of added years and added living capital, to say nothing of comparative intellectual contributions, the economic value of the one who died at 92 was infinitely greater than that of the one who died at 31. Conservation of health is a national duty. The economic value of human life can not be overestimated.

FLAX AND FLAXSEED.

There is a wholesome tariff lesson in the item of flax and flaxseed. Flax is grown in Minnesota, Nebraska and the two Dakotas. It is raised largely for its oil-bearing seed.

The 1913 tariff placed flax on the free list, on the theory that little flax was grown in this country and that an import duty would add to the cost of linseed oil. In 1913 only about 14,000,000 bushels were raised in the United States, whereas the demand was for more than twice that amount.

The framers of the protective tariff of 1922 listened to the farmers of Minnesota, Nebraska and the two Dakotas, and placed an import duty of 1c and 2c a pound on flax, and increased the 1913 duty on flaxseed from 20c a bushel to 40c a bushel.

These rates have encouraged the production of flax in the four States of the Northwest, until today more than 22,000,000 bushels of flax are produced, approximately one-half of the domestic demand. American farmers in the Northwest who grow flax are protected in the matter of flaxseed against undue foreign competition.

FALSE PHILOSOPHY.

Members of some of the leading labor federations conferred with the President recently, and later made the observation that whatever unemployment exists in the United States is due to machine overproduction following the war; and that, to remedy the situation, production should be curtailed, hours of labor cut down and machine production minimized. This was the philosophy employed years ago, when certain individuals opposed the introduction of machinery. It was claimed that machines would throw many men out of employment and interfere with the rights of labor. Nearly every introduction of labor-saving machinery in the past has been opposed by false economists on the theory that machinery would throw men out of jobs.

The persistence of British workingmen in clinging to their opposition to labor-saving machinery has been a powerful factor in destroying the industrial supremacy of Great Britain and in creating unemployment. British machinery plants as a rule are out of date as compared with American plants. One American workman turns out from 3 times to 25 times as much product as a British workman with his antiquated machinery.

Experience shows that labor-saving machinery has been a great blessing, especially to workmen. More laborers are employed, hours of labor are reduced, and, what is of infinitely greater value to the masses, the cost of production is reduced and the prices of commodities cut down.

The production of wealth is never a calamity. To arbitrarily reduce the hours of work in order to reduce production and give work for more laborers is bad for everybody. It is a loss in manpower, in wealth and in happiness. What appears to be overproduction is often underconsumption. Instead of reducing production the aim should be to increase consumption. This can be accomplished only through the medium of high wages and a high level of living among the masses.

The consuming power of the American people is great; but it might be greater under a system whereby the living conditions of the masses were raised and human needs increased and satisfied.

The weather shark who predicted no summer doubtless grinned like a Cheshire cat when he read the dispatch from Arkansas on Thursday, wherein it was announced that snow fell in the Ozarks on that day. But his gleeful satisfaction probably departed rapidly as he gazed at another dispatch which recorded a temperature of 112 in some California towns on the same day.

Some of the Bogosloff islands in the Aleutian chain are missing. The coast guard cutter Haida reports that several of them have been roaming around between Asia and Alaska ever since 1908, and great difficulty is experienced in keeping them in American waters. Like other youngsters, they insist upon "stepping out." The fact that they dislike American "waters" may furnish a clew as to their dissolute habits.

Only Americans have mastered the art of being prosperous though broke.

The people who say what they think very seldom think anything worth saying.

The Worst Story I Heard Today—By Will Rogers

The Worst Joke I heard today was told to me by Irving Berlin. Irving is the greatest Popular Song Writer of this Generation. He has written more hits than any man alive. He is over here in London, living here doing a lot of work. I had dinner out at their apartment the other night, and his wife is a very charming young lady and they are just about the happiest things you ever saw. They are living quietly and have dodged all the crowds and the publicity connected with their marriage and are just tickled to death to be off to themselves. Irving has a great sense of humor, and is of course full of these English jokes. He opened up the baby grand and dashed off the following with one finger. The Jockeys were weighing in before a race. The owner noticed one of them being just about to be too heavy to make the weight, so he said to him, "Goodness, Archer, can't you take something off?"

"No, sir. I am wearing the very lightest things I can and keep covered up. I haven't tasted a speck of food or drink all day, and I just got a shave."

Good Motor Routes.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: With many who cover long distances by auto, the elimination of big cities with their high pressure traffic, which is also extended along the trunk highways leading into them, is quite a desideratum, especially when it can be done without much sacrifice of shortness of distance or good road conditions.

One who is an annual traveler between Washington and New England points and gives as his excuse for presenting these facts that the following route is seldom published in its whole as a route commercially, recommends the following as one answering to the above purpose for a route between Washington, D. C., and Kingston, N. Y., diverging point for eastern Canadian, northern New York and northern New England points, or Nyack, N. Y., diverging point for eastern Canadian and all New England points. Of course I make this recommendation with the reservation that those who have not taken in the Sesquicentennial will diverge either going or coming to do so.

From Washington to York, Pa., the shortest route with good roads and easy grades is detailed as follows: Ashton via Silver Springs, 19 miles; Ellicott City, 16 miles; West Friendship, 9 miles; Westminster, 22 miles; Hanover, 21 miles; York, 14 miles. Total, 101 miles. It is a few miles shorter via Baltimore to York, but the hills are very hard on the brakes that way. One can go direct to Lancaster, omitting York, via Baltimore and Conowingo, but at probable expense of rough road and bad hills. Or one can, by adding 17 miles to the above 101, reach York via the celebrated battlefield of Gettysburg.

From York to Easton, Pa., via Lancaster, Reading and Allentown, is a short, easy, pleasant run of 119 miles, the southern part of which is through fruitful cultivated fields and a number of prosperous Moravian settlements.

From Easton, which is 220 or 203 miles from Washington, according as it is reached from Lancaster via York and Hanover or via Conowingo and Baltimore, one can diverge either to Kingston, N. Y., or to Nyack, N. Y. The section from Easton to Kingston is almost a bee line of 130 miles via the Delaware water gap, Port Jervis and Ellenville, all easy grades. From Easton to Nyack is only 88 miles via William Penn highway, Nectong, Dover, Boonton, Pompton and Suffern. From Nyack to Port Chester, on the Boston post road, via the Tarrytown ferry and White Plains, is only 10 miles.

Underpaid Money Counters.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The Post of August 8, 1926, on page 8, has an article captioned "Coolidge Favors Plans to Reform Federal Bureaus. Will Support Reorganization of All Departments as Aid to Economy."

It is to be presumed the "reform of Federal bureaus" means not cuts in the salary or per diem of the competent clerk or worker, mostly now underpaid, but an estoppel of the annual increase, out of "lump sum," of the salaries of the lesser "higher-ups"—chiefs of divisions, sections and such—while the real, intelligent, honest and faithful clerk or per diem worker is always informed "there is no money to increase your wage."

There is one bureau of the Treasury Department wherein this increase of salary annually of the lesser "higher-ups" is most marked. This bureau during the entire period just prior to and during the world war, when it was run day and night, got along wonderfully well and efficiently with a director and one assistant director. Now there is a director and three assistant directors.

True, when the Congress was asked to appropriate for three assistant directors it turned down the request and appropriated for one; but there are three now just the same, under names other than assistant directors, paid out of the "lump sum." "How come?"

In this bureau men and women, lesser "higher-ups," who were drawing down $3,000 and more per annum prior to July 1, 1926, had their salaries increased $200, $250 and $300 per annum, while the expert, last counters of Federal and other bank notes before they go to the banks of the country for circulation, received not a penny increase in their per diem wage of less than $5 a day. Even an increase of 5c an hour was denied. "No money" could be taken for these experts out of the "lump sum." The civil service provides that these expert women counters shall receive at least "60c per hour;" but they do not. Again, "how come?"

The work of these skilled, expert, per diem women counters of the numbering division is not simply to count and see if there are 100 notes in each package, but they must watch the note-numbers, see that these numbers are the same on each end of the notes; see that the notes are all 1s, 5s, 10s, 20s, 100s, 500s, 1,000s, 5,000s or 10,000s in the same package; see that there are no defective notes, etc. The work, if correctly done, taxes these women mentally and physically to their limit of endurance daily.

Then comes the element of honesty; for these are the employes of the bureau of engraving and printing who give the last touch to the notes before they are shipped to the banks. Moreover, should a bank report shortage of 1s, 5s, 10s, &c., and the bureau can not find the missing notes, the counter has to make the loss good, the bank's report of shortage being accepted. So if four or five $20 notes are reported short in a package by some bank, the counter must pay back the $80 or $100 out of a per diem wage that is less than that paid to a messenger.

Here is a bureau wage reform sorely needed. Here is a less than decent living wage that should shame the Treasury Department and the director of the bureau of engraving and printing into immediate increase of per diem wage for the women in the numbering division.

The Butler's Son

By GLENN FRANK

I HAVE just spent a week-end in the country, an hour's motor ride from London.

The house was magnificent in its spacious simplicity, the week-end before it had sheltered 40 guests.

The estate stretched over 1,000 acres.

Eton, on whose cricket fields sportsmanlike Englishmen have been trained for generations, was nearby.

Historic Oxford was a bare hour away.

The hostess presides over one of the most interesting drawing rooms of London, a drawing room in which peers and labor leaders mingle in friendly intercourse.

There was unhappily a touch of loneliness in all this largeness, her husband died a martyr to war-work at his desk in London; her only son met death on the fields of France.

On Saturday afternoon I stumbled upon a striking instance of the essential democracy that lies near to the surface of the England that seems to make so much of class distinctions.

And I found myself weighing relative values carefully.

I was alone on the lawn; the old butler came to me and said, "Might I show you something about my son?"

He told me how he had put his son through the University of Durham, how his son had won honors there, and of the teaching post his son now occupies.

The old man showed me his son's picture; a fine and manly fellow.

Who, after all, was master of this vast estate—the hostess or the butler?

And may this not be the secret of England's future?

Nations may differ about the wisdom of a democratic theory that wipes out all class distinctions and an aristocratic theory that makes much of class distinctions, but a society is decently assured of its future if it keeps a career open to the talented.

Unless, perchance, it so organizes itself that these talented sons of butlers, when they work their way into a higher social class, follow the rule of the low birth-rate that seems everywhere to mark the upper classes. Of that I shall write tomorrow.

PRESS COMMENT.

Aboriginal Forecasters.

New York Times: From Flagstaff, Ariz., comes the report that immediately following the close of the annual snake dance of the Hopi Indians such a heavy deluge fell that many of the automobiles of the returning sightseers were mired in the Painted desert. Since the purpose of the snake dance is to bring rain, the storm surprised the Indians much less than the white spectators. The records show that the Indian priests have rarely failed to time the dance so as to coincide with the break in the dry season.

Philadelphia Record: The Republican party in New York State is having all sorts of difficulties in finding a man measuring up to the job of governor who is willing to make a fight for that office. There were plenty of "good men and true" who were willing enough to let the lightning hit them a few weeks ago, but meantime Gov. Smith announced his own willingness to accept the Democratic nomination again, and now what a change has come over the Republican ranks!

At Same Old Trick.

New York Herald-Tribune: It was the repeated and insolent refusal of the Tammany board of elections to obey the voting machine law which compelled the secretary of state to order the installation of the machines. This made possible the bringing of the taxpayer's suit, which may result in deferring for at least another year a means of counting votes which Tammany has always feared and opposed. There has in the last few years been much talk of a "Young Tammany" and a "New Tammany," but the Tammany which is afraid of voting machines is the same Tammany which rose to sinister power under Tweed and Croker.

"Looking Backward."

Boston Transcript: Always thought the Chinese junk was a fable, but the enormous rudder and after-development of that one in the harbor show that it is stern reality.

Congress Can't Restore Booms.

New York Times: Congress can do no more to restore the Western farm boom than the Florida land boom. The former was due to prices kept up by war taxes spent in feeding the armies. Now those farmers must meet the competition of others whose capital costs and taxes are lower. The tariff can do no more to help the farmers with their exports surplus than it does to help industrialists who export to world markets. The industrialists compete with the foreigner by efficiency and economy and invention. The farmers are beginning to do the same. The head of the engineering department of the Iowa State college says that American farming is on the eve of an industrial revolution similar to that of the early era of invention.

Boston Sextet Sings At Rotary Luncheon

The Meistersingers, double sextet male chorus, of Boston, headliners at Keith's theater this week, sang at the Rotary club luncheon held in the Willard hotel yesterday. The singers, who appeared through the courtesy of Roland Robbins, manager of the theater, were encored many times by the members. The singers, who were originally Boston business men, formed an amateur singing club and appeared in cities around Boston for many years before going on the Keith's circuit.

Metropolitan Plans Special Musical Act

On Saturday of this week, for one performance only, beginning at 12:50 p. m., the Metropolitan theater will present an interval of unique entertainment. Waring's Pennsylvanians, under the leadership of Fred Waring, and the newly organized Metropolitan Ramblers, under the conductorship of Milton Davis, will combine forces on the stage of the Metropolitan to form a 30-piece syncopated band. This personnel exceeds by five musicians the number presented by Paul Whiteman on his last concert appearance in the Capital. Two grand pianos will be placed upon the elevator-stage, one played by Tom Waring and one by Milton Davis.

In addition to this innovation, the special program arranged by John J. Payette will be given added interest by the presence of the Loomis Twins, who will be brought from the Tivoli theater especially for this occasion. They will offer a group of their most effective songs.

It will be of interest to followers of modern music to know that the piece de resistance of the program prepared for the amalgamated orchestra of 30 will be George Gershwin's widely discussed "Rhapsody in Blue." This intricate number has been in rehearsal for several days. This program will be presented only the one time.

COMING TO THE THEATERS

NATIONAL.

"The Fall Guy," last season's New York success with Ernest Truex, marks next week's advance by the National Players into the public's heartfelt appreciation. With August picking fretfully at summer's counterpane and signs of early autumn bespangling the air, the National Players keep on and will keep on for the greater part of September.

"The Fall Guy" is a success that hasn't yet cooled from Broadway's hearty approbation. Furthering interest in this drama-comic sketch of contemporary life in the Volstead regime is the fact that Russell Fillmore, a juvenile lead much on the order of Ernest Truex, has been imported to play "the worm that turns." Fillmore is known in Washington through road engagements and because of his association before the war with the Poli Players.

KEITH'S.

Mlle. Odali Careno, the internationally famous grand opera dramatic soprano, will make her debut in vaudeville next week headlining the bill at B. F. Keith's theater.

"Herb" Williams, who is best remembered for his trick piano and tan button shoes, will present a new act called "The Bells." Homer B. Mason and Marguerite Keeler, two favorites, will be seen in "Money, Money, Money." James Thornton, the famous monologist, will celebrate his fiftieth year in vaudeville with his "Just a Jester."

Others are Ed Janis and his five dancing girls; the personality comedienne, Dixie Hamilton, the Hedleys and Lalla Selbini and Bert Albert, "The Butterfly and the Cat."

The usual screen features will complete the bill.

TIVOLI.

The outstanding feature of next week's entertainment at Crandall's Tivoli theater beginning Sunday noon at 3, will be supplied by Warring's Pennsylvanians, who in moving from Crandall's Metropolitan to the Tivoli enter upon their twentieth week of this special attraction in the Crandall houses in Washington. In addition to the seven day engagement of the Pennsylvanians the Tivoli will offer four changes of bill, three features being shown for two days each and the fourth on Saturday only.

On Sunday and Monday, the screen feature will be "Foot Loose Widows." On Tuesday and Wednesday, "Mantrap," a Paramount picture will be the principal feature. The supplementary feature will be Mack Sennett's comedy, "Gooseland." On Thursday and Friday, Colleen Moore will bring "Ella Cinders" to the Tivoli screen, supplemented by a new Helen and Warren two-reel comedy, "The Family Picnic." On Saturday, Norman Kerry will be starred in "The Love Thief," with the auxillary films including a new issue of "The Topics of the Day" and a new Pathe Review.

EARLE.

Another excellent bill of vaudeville, photoplay and musical features is scheduled for presentation at the Earle theater next week, beginning Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The topline attraction of the vaudeville portion of the entertainment is "Indian Love," presented by Jean Paurel with Jacques Cartier in the stellar role supported by Serrita Loraine, Alice Heller and a company of twelve.

Other inclusions in the vaudeville portion of the entertainment will embrace "The Country Club Girls," Johnny Murphy and Jim Kilpatrick & Co., with Aileen Grenier, Alene Measter, Marion Rollins, Kathryn O'Rell and Rose Daly, his "Texas Chicks" in a musical dancing divertissement.

The photoplay feature next week at the Earle is First National's production of "Miss Nobody" in which the title role is played by Anna Q. Nilsson.

CENTRAL.

"When Husbands Flirt," a modern comedy-drama interpreted by a cast led by Forrest Stanley and Dorothy Revier, is announced as chief feature of the bill to be presented for the first two days of next week beginning Sunday afternoon at 3, at Crandall's Central theater. The supplementary attraction will be furnished by Our Gang in Hal Roach's production of "Baby Clothes." Added short reels and pipe organ accompaniments and solo intervals will complete the program.

On Tuesday and Wednesday the major feature of the bill will be "The Unknown Soldier," produced by the Producers Distributing Corporation. The comedy will be supplied by Cliff Bowes in "Who's Boss?"

On Thursday and Friday, Colleen Moore will occupy the Central screen in "Ella Cinders."

On Saturday Ford Sterling and Lois Wilson will be seen as costars in the film version of George Kelly's American comedy, "The Show Off."

METROPOLITAN.

Another of the new season's composite programs will be presented at Crandall's Metropolitan theater next week, beginning Sunday afternoon at 3. The principal screen feature will be supplied by Constance Talmadge in her latest First National release, "The Duchess of Buffalo," a sprightly comedy written by Hans Kraly, author of several of the star's earliest successes, including her last prior to this release, "Her Sister from Paris." The stage attraction will be furnished by Ruth Granville, a saxophone soloist of vibrant personality and great charm. These two major offerings will be supplemented by the usual array of short reel features and will be embellished by concert overture and symphonic accompaniment by the Metropolitan symphony under the conductorship of Daniel Breeskin, and on week days from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. and from 5 to 7:30 p. m. will be accompanied by the newly organized Metropolitan Ramblers, under the conductorship of Milton Davis.

PALACE.

"Mare Nostrum," Rex Ingram production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer of the famous novel of the same name by Blasco Ibanez, featuring a cast that is headed by Alice Terry and Antonio Moreno, comes to Loew's Palace next Sunday afternoon for a week's engagement, direct from a seven-month engagement on Broadway at $3 prices.

A powerful dramatic story of the world war and its spy system, "Mare Nostrum" thrillingly reveals the romance of Freya Talberg, an enemy spy, and Ulysses Ferragut, an allied commander, which has its inception in the girl's effort to gain war information, but which rises to a terrific climax when the girl, embittered against her own side for the murder of Ferragut's son on a torpedoed liner, turns against her associates and is promptly betrayed to the enemy.

MARSHALL HALL.

Marshall Hall, located in a beautiful and historic spot of the Potomac, is one of Washington's most popular down-the-river resorts of fun. Free dancing in the large pavilion to music by McWilliams' band is one of the most popular features, while the aeroplane swings, roller coaster, kissing bug and other attractions that thrill and delight both young and old. Free picnic groves with tables, benches and playgrounds for the kiddies provide an ideal spot for an all-day and evening outing. The steamer Charles Macalester makes three trips both daily and Sundays to Marshall Hall, leaving the Seventh street wharf daily at 10 a. m., 2:30 and 6:45 p. m., and Sundays at 10:30 a. m., 2:30 and 6:45 p. m.

COLONIAL BEACH.

The steamer St. Johns makes two trips weekly to Colonial beach, leaving the Seventh street wharf every Saturday at 2:30 p. m., and every Sunday at 9 a. m., to carry pleasure seekers for a day's outing, over the week-end holiday or more extended vacation period. Colonial beach offers practically everything one would expect to find at a seashore resort. Delightful salt-water bathing, fishing, crabbing, boating, canoeing, dancing and other forms of amusement and pleasure.

CHESAPEAKE BEACH.

Estelle, the Shipping Board clerk, who is passing a pleasant week at Chesapeake Beach, writes her pal:

"Dear Jeanette: I have great news for you. You wouldn't come with me on my vacation because you have a perfect horror of sea nettles. Well, everything's safe now, old dear; so take the train tomorrow morning. Those pesky sea nettles have been conquered at last! A new kind of net with tiny meshes only an inch square has been devised that absolutely keeps the slimy cusses out."

GLEN ECHO.

One of Washington's favorite resorts is Glen Echo park, judging by the crowds that have visited the park this season. Those who have not as yet experienced a ride on the "humming bird" can gain no idea of the thrills possible on this thrilling ride with its frequent 80-foot drops. Other devices at Glen Echo park are the "caterpillar," "whip," "old mill," "big midway" and others. Every week night from 8:30 to closing time in the beautiful ballroom "Happy" Walker and his orchestra play swaying jazz tunes for dancers.

COLUMBIA.

Gloria Swanson brings her latest starring production, "Fine Manners," to Loew's Columbia next week, where it will constitute the featured attraction of the program starting next Sunday afternoon.

In "Fine Manners," Miss Swanson has given her admirers a picture which presents not only the captivating talents of the star as a comedienne of the first rank but it enables her to appear in a gown display that is certain to be one of the sartorial sensations of the season.

"Fine Manners" is a Paramount production from the pens of James A. Creelman and Frank Vreeland, which has been scenarized by Mr. Creelman and directed by Richard Rosson, a new Paramount megaphone wielder, who makes his directoral bow in this production.

STRAND.

Beginning next Sunday the Strand theater will offer an array of Loew's high-class vaudeville, together with an unusually fine screen presentation. The headlining act on the vaudeville bill will be Harry Rose, in "The Broadway Jester," Cafe Madrid, a lavishly staged and gorgeously costumed Spanish singing and dancing revue, will hold second place on this elaborate bill. Other numbers on the program include Ann Lemeau and Elsie Young, Nat Renard and Lillian West and the King brothers, gymnasts.

The photoplay will be "Lying Wives."

MUTUAL.

The third season of burlesque opens at the Mutual Saturday with "Hello Paree," described as a gay burlesque of the life of the French capital with the American visitor in "search of a thrill" playing a prominent part in the proceedings. Throughout the book are introduced many song hits and specialties.

The company includes Mickey Markwood, Milt Frankford, Arthur Laning, Georgia Kay, Mme. Vlaeska, Isa Shaw and Emma Wilson. Also the bevy of glorious, happy and youthful girls constituting the chorus.

RIALTO.

"Hell-Bent Fer Heaven," which comes to the Rialto next week, starring Patsy Ruth Miller and John Harron, is a picture of feudist families in the Carolina mountains; a stirring drama of backwoods people, with their abiding hatreds, generosity, love and loyalties. As a stage play, it won the Pulitzer prize in 1923.

The masterly direction of Commodore Blackton, the brilliant cast, and the forceful plot all combine in making this photoplay one of the outstanding successes of the film season. It stands out from other pictures in its fidelity to a section of the American scene as honestly and fearlessly as do the rugged natives themselves from the wisecracking softlings who scorn the elemental virtues as "hick stuff."

GAYETY.

One of the oldest titles in the show business is rejuvenated and refreshed for the current season, and when "Wine, Woman and Song," next week's attraction at the Gayety theater, beginning a week's engagement with Sunday matinee, opens hardly a face that is old in burlesque will appear in the performance. Producer Dave Sidman has delved into the ranks of various fields of entertainment to people his new production of "Wine, Woman and Song," and with but a very few exceptions, none is played by other than vaudeville and musical comedy artists.

AMBASSADOR.

Constance Talmadge, supported by a new leading man in the person of Tullio Carminati, will be seen in Washington as star of her latest First National production, "The Duchess of Buffalo," at Crandall's Ambassador theater the first three days of next week, beginning Sunday afternoon at 3. The companion attraction, "Blue Boy," is a color study.

On Wednesday and Thursday "Foot Loose Widows" will be the attraction with Louise Fazenda nad Jacqueline Logan in the principal parts. The short-reel comedy supplementing the feature will be supplied by Lige Conley in "The Tin Ghost."

On Friday, "Desert Gold" will be the Ambassador's major feature. On Saturday Priscilla Dean will occupy the Ambassador screen in "A Speeding Venus."

Washington's Two Lodges Continue Their Lead in Membership.

$112,000 IS IN TREASURY

Special to The Washington Post.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 25.—Sessions of the Grand Lodge of Colored Elks continued here today, reports being received from the grand officers and standing committees. Grand Secretary George E. Bates related increases in numbers and wealth, giving a total membership of 95,000, a treasury balance of $112,000 and real estate holdings valued at more than $3,000,000.

Columbia and Morning Star lodges, of Washington, with 2,749 and 2,739 members, respectively, he stated, were, as last year, the largest in the jurisdiction. Fourteen lodges were reported with more than 1,000 membership. Special commendation was given Porto Rican lodges, five in number, for intelligent procedure in development of a Spanish ritual and organization of the island.

He reported $16,489.59 as a special education fund to be distributed as scholarships to worthy boys and girls of the negro race at the present session of the grand lodge. Setting aside of $50,000 for first-mortgage bonds in favor of subordinate lodges was recommended.

The session at its opening was saddened by announcement of the death in the early hours of the morning of Gilchrist Stewart, New York attorney, son of a former Minister to Liberia and of nation-wide acquaintance. Stewart died at headquarters of Monarch lodge from heart failure. The report of the grand exalted ruler is scheduled for Thursday morning, after which election of officers will follow.

The grand lodge ball was to be held tonight.

M'CARL APPROVES BILL TO SIMPLIFY BUYING

Saving of 1 Per Cent Through Increased Competition Is $2,000,000 Gain.

By WILLIAM P. HELM, Jr.

Repeal of about 150 Federal laws governing the purchase of supplies by the United States and the modification of from 50 to 70 other Federal laws on the same subject, will be urged as an administration measure in the forthcoming session of Congress as part of the Coolidge program for lowering the government's expenses and increasing its efficiency.

Instead of the old crazy quilt of legislation, with its patches slapped on at random here and there during the past century and a quarter, which now governs all buyers of government supplies and all sellers, as well, a single new, compact contract law will be presented for enactment to Congress. The government has been working on this law for the better part of four years and has finally put it into a form which has been approved by virtually every executive branch of the government.

In addition, it has been placed before the general accounting office for intensive study by Comptroller McCarl and his staff. Within the past ten days the comptroller has reviewed and approved it, except for certain minor provisions which are still under consideration. The draft of the new law therefore is practically completed for congressional consideration and will be presented early in the coming session for action.

G. A. Ramsey's Plan.

The new law will bring up to date as creaking and antiquated a buying code as ever plagued a purchasing agent. It will be divested of miles of red tape which have been wound around governmental buying for generations. It will attempt to apply modern business practices and methods to Federal purchases—something that cannot be applied in full measure under existing laws.

The proposed new law is the brain child of Gordon A. Ramsey, of Chicago, a lawyer brought to Washington by Charles G. Dawes when the latter gathered up the budget bureau reins early in Harding's day. Mr. Ramsey was appointed chairman of a board functioning under the budget bureau and was allotted the task of simplifying Federal procedure in the administration of its affairs, with particular reference to finances. The board of which he was chairman was composed of representatives of all Federal departments and offices.

Nearly four years ago, Mr. Ramsay undertook an extended ramble through the Federal statutes to find out exactly what nobody seemed to know, namely, the existing laws governing purchases. The government was then buying from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 worth of supplies of all kinds, a figure which has been reduced since to about $225,000,000 a year. Although there was a clear idea of the workings of accumulated legislation governing these buyings, decentralized among purchasing agents who were affected by some laws and not by others, no one in the Federal service seemed to know the whole story.

After a long search, Mr. Ramsay and his assistants uncovered 224 separate—and many conflicting—Federal laws, all of them in effect. Some of these laws went back more than 100 years and were wholly out of date. Nevertheless, Congress had not repealed them and consequently they were still alive. Many other laws still effective were the hasty product of wartime, enacted to meet war conditions. These, too, in scores of instances, were harsh, restrictive and discriminatory to an extent. Some of them imposed utter waste upon the Treasury.

Bound by Red Tape.

There was, for instance, a law enacted early in Lincoln's day, requiring the War, Navy, and Interior Departments, then the backbone of the executive branch, to make duplicates of all contracts and deposit the duplicates, sealed and bound in ribbon, in the returns office of the Interior Department. There they were to be open to public inspection. The law provided that copies (in long hand) could be obtained by persons paying a small fee therefor.

For more than 60 years that law has remained, forgotten, on the statute books, although the emergency it was designed to meet ended more than two generations ago. Today the three departments named are still bound by its terms, are making duplicates, as required, and go through all the motions imposed on them by the dead hand of a Congress whose last member has been gathered to his fathers. More than 1,000,000 old contracts have been piled on the shelves of the returns office and from 25,000 to 30,000 more go there every year.

A few persons still utilize the returns office which has two or three calls a day, on the average, for copies for inspection. But the public use of the office is out of proportion to the expense involved, which runs, all told, to about $15,000 a year. Of course, that law is marked for repeal.

Other laws passed long ago and now seemingly silly also are marked for repeal. For instance, the Secretary of the Navy or the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to buy up to $500 worth of certain articles, if needed urgently, in the open market and without advertising for bids, but the amount of the same kinds of articles, needed just as urgently, which the Attorney General or the Secretary of Commerce may buy in the open market is limited to $25.

Burdensome restrictions on contractors are to be lightened wherever possible. The result of this effort, it is thought, will be to sweeten the government contract and place it among the things desirable. And when that is done it is thought competition to sell the government will become keener, sellers will find that they have fewer unusual conditions to meet and prices will fall. If they fall only 1 per cent, on the average, they will result in saving upward of $2,000,000 a year.

STUDENT FACES CHARGE IN SWEETHEART'S DEATH

Manslaughter to Be Alleged If Girl Died From Drugs He Administered.

CASE WAITS ON CHEMIST

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Police announced tonight that criminal charges would be brought against Emil "Frenchy" Balanescu, 21, medical student, whose sweetheart, Dorothy Elizabeth Kirk, pretty 21-year-old stenographer, died mysteriously in a hospital Sunday.

If the coroner's report definitely finds that Miss Kirk died from the effects of drugs and medicines which her youthful suitor is alleged to have given her, manslaughter charges probably will be filed against Balanescu, Detective Chief Cornelius Cody said.

If, however, it is found that the girl died from other causes for which the youth was not to blame, Balanescu will have to answer charges of administering drugs in violation of the State pharmacy law, Cody declared.

The young man, who once studied medicine in Paris and later took a job in a drug store here, has admitted giving Miss Kirk medicines to relieve the "fits of depression" which he said came over her at times. But he denied administering "love tablets" which the girl was thought to have taken.

The first statement by Coroner A. P. Hammond after the city chemist's preliminary examination revealed that the young woman's stomach was a "mass of dope" and that it contained poison. Federal agents were unable to find a sufficient amount of narcotics in the medicines to warrant their taking a hand in the investigation.

The complete report of the city chemist will not be made for several days, and until it is delivered to Coroner Hammond the nature of the charges to be placed against Balanescu will not be determined, Detective Cody said.

NEW TACNA SOLUTION BY KELLOGG DENIED

Chile Was Reported to Have Received Proposal for Dividing Territory.

(By the Associated Press.)

The State Department denied yesterday that Secretary Kellogg had made new proposals for settlement of the Tacna-Arica dispute, as reported in Santiago.

It was asserted that the Secretary had not met with Ambassador Cruchaga for more than two weeks and that nothing new had transpired in the situation during that time.

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—The Chilean government has received a communication from Dr. Miguel Cruchaga, Ambassador to the United States, containing a new proposal, reported to have been made by Frank B. Kellogg, American Secretary of State, for a settlement of the dispute between Chile and Peru over the provinces of Tacna and Arica, now held by Chile.

The proposal is understood to be that Tacna be given to Peru, that a corridor to the sea extending ten kilometers north of Arica, be awarded to Bolivia and that the remainder of the disputed territory, including the Arica-La-Paz railroad, to be given to Chile.

Boston, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Dense fog that blanketed the Massachusetts coast last night and early today caused two vessels to run aground. The Steel Navigator grounded on Bearse shoals, near Pollock Rip lightship, off Cape Cod, while the Margaret A. Howard struck on East Chop, near Vineyard Haven.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Is Meanness Hereditary?

DEAR MISS McDONALD: It is over a week since I saw that first letter about the stingy lover. Now I feel I should tell my own experience. I fell in love with a man while in college. He was called "close" at that time—but I figured he had many expenses. One thing that worried my father was the way he harped on the help I would be to him. This had always pleased me. But dad got tired of it and said in his day a man married for love and not what help a woman could give him. I was forbidden to marry him. Mother talked to me. She said on little Sunday trips and so forth he always waited just long enough so that dad would pay whatever was to be paid. I considered them very mean indeed to bring up this matter as we had plenty. But mother said that was not the point—it was the characteristic not the money that worried her.

Well I married him on the quiet. We were only married two months when he hinted that I should make up with dad so we could spend the summer with them. "No sense to be foolish when they have a big summer home." I told him I would not go to dad's summer home. He was very cold to me for nearly a week. And in that week I got a complete picture of him for the first time. But I was two months late in getting it. I was too proud to admit my mistake and so we are still together. Here are a few of the things he will do. When some friend of mine comes to see us, he will say to me "I'll call up the Smith's, they'll be ticked to death to meet so-and-so and will take us out."

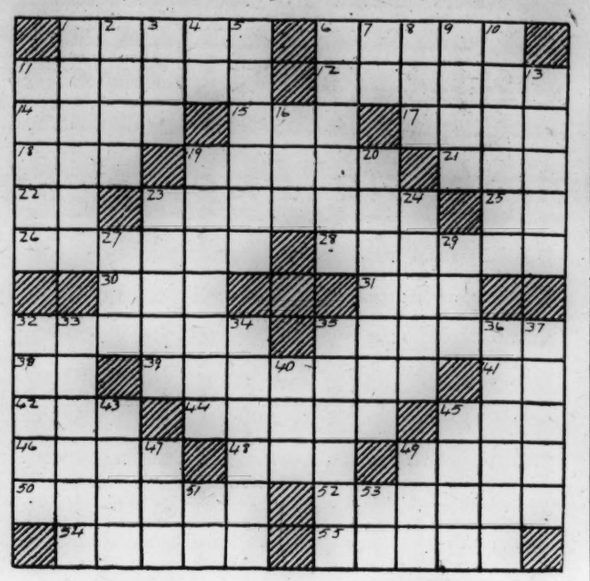

Now this mortifies me, each time he does it even though no one but myself may see it. The Smiths, who probably are flattered to meet some influential friend of dad's, immediately suggest going somewhere. They come in their car, take the three of us to dinner and when we get back my husband will say "What did I tell you?"

We are now married five years. He has yet to buy me of his own free will one dollar's worth of anything. When dad got my fur coat relined at a cost of $60, my husband had the audacity to say "Well, the old man knows he'd be buying all your clothes if I hadn't come along." Said with a laugh, but just the same a slur. He has a small, cheap mind, as every stingy man has. Last week our son 4 years old asked to be weighed in the railroad station. I stood him on the scales, but he waited. I asked him why he didn't put his penny in. He said "Do I have to put one of my pennies in; haven't you any pennies?" I looked at him and realized for the first time what I had done.

Take a lesson! If you have the least suspicion your man is mean, then stay single in preference to perpetuating that strain.

WIFE.

RESULT OF YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

(Copyright, 1926, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

RUTH AND PETER

By ACHMED ABDULLAH

(Copyright, 1926, Thompson Feature Service, Inc.)

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Ruth Welles, young, pretty and very ambitious, secures a position as secretary to Peter Barton, a distinguished New York lawyer. Harry Davis, a young man from Ruth's home town, who is in love with her, is likewise in the employ of Barton. Ruth likes Harry, but she is determined on a successful business career rather than marriage. She is sharing an apartment with two sisters, Edna and Hattie Mathews, who are also business girls, and Hattie and Ruth are taking a night-school course in law.

Maisie Andrews formerly occupied the apartment with the girls, but is now living alone, although Riccardo Martinez, an unscrupulous adventurer, has the key to her new apartment. Ruth feels sorry for Maisie, and remains her friend in spite of these circumstances. Ruth finds her job with Barton immensely interesting. She meets his mother, who is very patronizing, and she learns that his sister wants him to marry a certain little French countess. Then one day Barton comments on the flowers on Ruth's desk presented by Harry, and Ruth asks Harry not to buy her any more. He is indignant, and turns to Hattie for consolation. Hattie hopes that he will grow to care for her, but Harry, disillusioned with the ambitious type of girl, falls in love with the more domestic Edna, and they are quietly married. Meanwhile Barton himself brings Ruth flowers one morning, and at length she is forced to admit to herself that she is in love with him. She attempts to resign her position, but he persuades her to remain. He then goes to his summer home for a short vacation, and misses her so much that he sends for her with the excuse of business, and confesses his love to her. When Barton tells his mother and Nelda, his sister, of the engagement they are highly disapproving. Barton and Ruth immediately return to the city, where Barton selects Ruth's engagement ring.

"Wedding Bells."

THE wedding gifts came; a sapphire bracelet and a check from Nelda, some old-fashioned jewelry from Mrs. Barton, given to Peter for her future daughter-in-law with the tactful wish, "Family jewels! I hope she won't disgrace them;" a really fine antique American table from Hattie, who had discovered it at a second-hand shop; and an overornate silver bonbon dish from Edna and Harry, which Barton gazed upon with a modicum of horror.

And then—Maisie!

She had seen the brief announcement in the paper. She was on the road with a musical show, and Martinez had forwarded it to her with the single, profane and exclamatory comment, "My God!" So Maisie had rushed forth and squandered many dollars on a perfect flock of cushions, velvet and silk, lace and embroidery, running the gamut of color from purple to cerise and back again. Ruth looked at them with something akin to anguish. Still—though they would not fit any apartment that Peter would live in—she was touched by Maisie's thinking of her, while Peter, hearing who the donor was, remarked briefly:

"Just what I would have expected!"

Ten days!

Wires from the family. Loving, dear, sentimental letters. A gift from the office force. Clothes. More clothes. Still more clothes. Apartment hunting.

They found a place on upper Park avenue and rented it from the end of September.

"Enough to start off; when we return from our honeymoon you can have a perfect orgy of furniture buying, Ruth!"

They were to be married at the Little Church Around the Corner. Nelda would come, and one or two of Peter's men friends; also Hattie, Edna and Harry. Mrs. Barton—careful woman — had developed nerves which sent her South with voluble excuses how sorry she was * * * "but you know, my dear—my doctor simply insists!" Ruth was too happy to care much. But she missed her own mother, wanted her near; and so there were just a few homesick tears the night before the wedding.

But morning dawned blue and gold * * * she was going to be married—to Peter—to Peter!

She dressed; clasped around her neck the string of pearls he had given her the night before. Real pearls for—her—Ruth Welles!

She had had a whim to be alone with him for a little while before the ceremony. So in the early afternoon he took her for a drive in Central park.

"Peter—are you—are you—oh—sure—quite sure?"

"Of course, little goose!"

"It—it isn't a mistake?"

"You're just nervous — upset! Why—we love each other!"

"Peter—I wonder if your mother is right?"

"No—no. * * *"

"I'm not of your—class!"

"Ruth——!"

"Let me say it—please! You—you must be patient with me. I'll try and learn—oh everything! I ——" she went on with a little tremulous laugh—"I'm a good secretary—a good office wife. * * * but—a—a home wife * * * if I should fail you * * * if you should be ashamed of me * * *."

"You're the dearest finest girl in all the world! And if you say any more silly things I'll be a perfect brute and * * *."

"Hit me?"

"Absolutely!"

So they both laughed; and were happy.

They were married in the tiny, historic church, just the few friends gathered about them, Ruth's hand tightly clasped in Peter's through most of the brief, beautiful ceremony.

"Until death do you part * * *."

She took her vows in the utmost dedication of spirit and heart and body.

"I love you"—on the threshold of the church.

Congratulations. More kisses. Dinner. The train.

She wondered at Peter's way with people, the most attention, the most comforts, the most obsequious porter, the best drawing room.

Nor was it his money—he gave no higher tips than others did—but his manner. Correct, calm, a little hard. Never blustering. Never cheaply overbearing. These people were here to serve him. Hence he would have service.

"You do know how to handle people," she said, admiringly.

"I make a point," he replied, "of being doubly polite to my inferiors."

When the train had started he took her in his arms.

"All over your nervousness?" he asked. "Happy?"

"So happy," she whispered in answer to the last question; did not reply to the first.

Hot Springs was a revelation to her. The great hotel, the smart, indolent people, the general atmosphere of wealth and leisure.

"I must teach you golf," Peter said on the third day. "How are you off for sports clothes; Some decent shops here, you know."

She flushed. How should she tell him that she had spent all her savings on the clothes she had * * * had not thought of sports clothes.

But he read her mind. He laughed, pulled a bank book from his pocket and showed her the name on it—Ruth Barton—and the large deposit entry.

"Spend it as you please," he said gayly. "When you need more ask for it. You'll have your own account, always, to waste if you feel like it!"

She kissed him.

"You're a generous dear. But"—looking at the amount in the bank book—"it's too much!"

"Why?"

"I couldn't earn it in years."

He frowned.

"Earn it?" he echoed. "You don't need to! You're my wife! Not my secretary."

2-Purpose Ensemble

©VOGUE COAT 8654

DEAR VOGUE: I haven't much money to invest in autumn clothes, so won't you please plan me an ensemble that I can wear for sports. I'm fairly tall, reasonably slim, mid-brunette and under 30. MAUDE.

We hope you'll like yourself in the sketch, Maude. Personally, we think you look very smart! Your coat is of light brown cheviot, and your beige hat, to match your little dress of beige wool crepe, is banded in the brown. Notice the careless sports outline of its crown and brim—quite in key with the big pockets and the general roominess of your coat.

Your shoes are of brown kid; and be sure their heels aren't too high or you'll spoil the whole costume. Your stockings are beige, and so are your gloves—plain beige suede pull-ons of heavy quality. Whatever you do never indulge in a frilly glove at any time, if you value my advice. But, if you feel you must lapse from grace, please realize that such a sports ensemble is the very worst background you could choose for such a giddy sin.

The Newest of the New Paris Fur Modes

Reproduced by Jelleff's For the Smart Younger Set

THE new silhouette expressing fullness above the hipline is achieved in an unusually ingenious manner in this coat of stenciled Sealine kid, richly trimmed with nutria. A loop at the hip pulls through a clever buckle and holds the coat snugly at the low waistline, giving that desirable, fitted-hip silhouette. The long shawl collar has the new, sharp corner that is the favorite of the leading Paris designers, and the lining is plaided Kasha, faced with satin.

ADVICE ABOUT OILY HAIR

MADELEINE says her hair is so oily that she puts talcum in it every day or so, since her hairdresser told her she shouldn't shampoo it oftener than once in two weeks, and it looks "quite too awful" before the time is up. Do I know of anything better than talcum?

I take it that the talcum was Madeleine's own idea, as I should not credit it to any conscientious hairdresser. I should suggest a good tonic for oily hair, to be used should be applied to the scalp the night before the shampoo, every few days. Hot olive oil, too, if the need of a dry shampoo were still felt between the cleansings, powdered orris-root should be tried instead of the talcum. But it is very important that the orris-root powder be brushed out thoroughly, otherwise the scalp will become caked and conditions will be much worse than before.

Tomorrow Viola Paris will have something to say on eyes and their beauty.

Conduct and Common Sense

WEDDINGS.

By Anne Singleton.

I HAPPENED to be looking out of my window the other afternoon when I saw a line of motors drawing up, with hoots, before the church next door. A wedding was about to take place and, as I am constantly being asked about weddings, I thought I might set down some points from this one. All those I observed were points to avoid. Point No. 1: Remember that well-bred people do not come to church hooting. Point No. 2: They do not (unless of a foreign race) consider it smart to wear dinner coats in the afternoon. Point No. 3: Never, under any circumstances, dress up little children like midgets and bring them (howling) to the ceremony.

When I saw a poor little boy in miniature dress clothes, with a high hat on his head and a white lace cushion clasped to his sobbing breast, being pulled out of the taxi, and a less poor little girl (because she didn't mind so much tricked out like a doll bride, set beside him, I wished that every one who writes to ask me about having "ring-bearers" and "flower-girls" could have been there to see how revolting it was to have those small creatures, like dwarfs, going in before the real couple. There seemed to be no parents or older relations, but a good dozen ushers and pink and green bridesmaids. All the romance of two families being joined by the joining of the young people was gone. It was all pretentious, crude and confused. The ring bearer roared till they left.

I always beg the girls who write to me to have simple weddings, unless their circumstances are such that they can manage the pageant of pomp with perfect success and without effort. I generally advise against having children playing parts in the procession because, unless they are really well dressed, and neither frightened nor self-conscious, the effect appears affected. The whole charm of a wedding is that it should seem unaffected, either through perfect management or perfect simplicity.

JUST FOLKS

LIFE'S RICHEST DESTINY.

Men talk of destiny and dream of fame
As if in selfish conquests peace were found.
Yet bugles blare and silence ends the sound;
Cold are the ashes following every flame,
And death's long silence comes to every name,
But there are lives which are contentment-crowned,
With joys surpassing those of the renowned;
A destiny which asks for no acclaim
And this it is: to face the setting sun
And see your children, strong and clean and true,
Trained for the world, with all your doubtings done
And no remorse for aught you've failed to do;
No greater bliss can life on us bestow,
Than the sweet pride triumphant parents know.

WHERE BABY IS SAFEST.

THE honor of being the safest place in the United States for a baby, in 1925, is shared by Stonington, Conn., and Winona, Minn. These places had a baby death rate of 32 per 1,000 births. Other places having records practically as good were: Forest Park, Ill.; Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio; Oak Park, Ill.; Union City, N. J., and Brockton, Mass.; Provo, Utah; Braintree, Mass.; Dedham, Mass.; Lawrence, Kan.; Grand Forks, N. D.; Arlington, Mass.; Wilkinsburg, Pa.

Each of these fifteen smaller cities had baby death rates of less than 40.

The conclusion is justified that the smaller cities can be made safer than larger ones. Any small city that does not control its milk supply, and do other things to make its babies safe, must accept responsibility for neglect.

If these fifteen have been able to do it, other smaller cities could also. Of the fifteen, two are in the group over 50,000 and less than 100,000; one is in the group 25,000 to 50,000, and the remainder were in the group 10,000 to 25,000.

Sixty-eight cities had baby death rates of less than 50. Ten years ago some authorities were saying that a rate of 50 could never be reached in the United States. That was the New Zealand rate, but our climate was too bad and our population too mixed for us ever to reach such a high level.

Race is an important factor in fixing the baby death rate. Of all racial groups negroes have the highest rates. The honors for having low negro baby death rates go to Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, Chicago, Louisville, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. The honor of having the most dependable and accurate statistics on this point goes to New Jersey.

LUMP ON THE BREAST.

Reader writes: Are lumps on the breast indicative of cancer? A surgeon told me they usually result in cancer, being at the lump stage chronic mastitis. Lady aged 45 had them appear and was going to have them removed by operation. Left them and after three months they softened and practically disappeared. Am wondering if they may reappear in the form of cancer later.

REPLY.

If a woman has a lump in her breast she should have it examined and watched. Some of them are cancers; these should be operated on promptly. Many are not cancers, and most of that group should neither be operated on nor treated.

WHITES OF EYES BLUE.

A. S. H. writes:

1. What disease causes the whites of the eyes to have a bluish cast?

2. Could a venereal disease contracted fifteen years ago cause any organic ailment now?

REPLY.

1. No disease. There is a constitutional peculiarity which is characterized by the following: (a) Bluish tinge to the whites of the eyes. (b) Easily broken bones. (c) Tendency to deafness. (d) Inheritability.

2. Yes.

MODISH MITZI — They Have So Much to Talk About — By Jay V. Jay

Mitzi is in Minneapolis visiting an old friend. They have so much to talk about. "How well Mitzi is looking! What an adorable hat. Isn't it becoming, and is the crown of velvet? Where did she get it?" And Mitzi is responding with a like enthusiasm. "How simply stunning Dottie looks. Her hat is darling, and what a nice bob she has!"

Here you see Mitzi and Dottie getting caught up on the news. Mitzi asks: "I know, Dottie, it's an imposition, but can you tell me where I can get a dress with a dolman sleeve and a bolero effect in this city?" Dottie tells Mitzi that and a lot more about Minneapolis.

And did Mitzi know that their old friend Peggy had married? Peggy dresses so smartly; the other day she wore a stunning dress with one of those narrow erect collars that are so new. Every one at the tea just fell in love with her. People can count on her for wearing the newest things.

Dad was dared to interrupt. He thought that two hours over tea was long enough, even for friends who had not met in ten years. Mitzi, however, says: "Dad, I simply must see Dottie, we haven't begun to get caught up on events." And so they haven't, though they certainly have on styles.

"Can you tell me where I can get a dress with a Dolman Sleeve?"

REPORTED B. & O. SALE OF COAL RIGHTS DOUBTED

Negotiations Under Way, but Consummation Still Is Awaited.

CAPITAL TRACTION RISES

By F. W. PATTERSON.

While it is a fact that negotiations are under way for the sale by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad of its block of rights in the stock of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Corporation, reports that the rights had been sold were being discredited yesterday by those in the financial district believed to be in a position to know the progress of the negotiations.

Extension of the time granted by the United States court for exercising the rights expire on December 31, but six months additional time is granted in which to make settlement for the stock which the rights entitle the holders to subscribe for.

The Baltimore & Ohio owns 606,652 rights, which entitle the owner to subscribe to Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron stock at $4 a share in the ratio of one share for each two rights held, and these holdings constitute the largest single block now issued.

As it is deemed more advantageous to the Baltimore & Ohio to dispose of the rights than to exercise them and sell the stock, there seems to be no doubt in the minds of local bankers that a sale will be consummated. It is even intimated that in the event of a sale the proceeds would be applied to the purchase from the New York Central railroad of the shares it owns in the Reading railroad. The joint holdings of the Baltimore & Ohio and the New York Central in the Reading total more than 50 per cent.

Capital Traction stock was the stellar and only performer on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday, all other transactions recorded being bond sales.

These shares continued their upward movement, recording a gain to 104¾ on opening sale of 20 shares, holding the fraction on the next turnover, and picking up to 104¾ on the following sale, sold through to end of session at that level.

M. Gidlin Returns.

M. Gidlin, of the Standard Co., dealers in investment securities, has been in New York City for several days in the interests of his company. During his stay there he has visited the offices of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and a number of other bankers with whom the Standard Co. has been associated in syndicate offerings.

Pending negotiations with several New York capitalists when completed will place the Standard Co. among the leading investment banking houses in this section.

Four Issues Approved.

As a result of a meeting of the editorial staff of Dollars and Sense, the official organ of Washington chapter, American Institute of Banking, announcement was made yesterday by Aubrey O. Dooley, editor, that four numbers of the magazine will be issued during the chapter year, these to appear in September, December, February and May.

The magazine will be enlarged in scope and it is the desire of the staff that the personnel of local banks cooperate to the fullest extent in providing material for the several issues.

Building Mortgage Offered.

Offering of a new issue of $9,500,000 first mortgage 5½ per cent sinking fund gold loan of the 165 Broadway building, New York city, said to constitute the largest piece of financing undertaken in the New York district on a completed building, is announced for today by a syndicate headed by P. W. Chapman & Co., Inc., and including E. H. Rollins & Sons, Blyth, Witter & Co., White, Weld & Co., and Pearsons-Taft Co. The loan matures August 1, 1951, and is offered at 100 and accrued interest to yield 5½ per cent.

The 165 Broadway building, formerly known as the City Investing building, is one of the largest office buildings in the financial district, and adjoins the Singer building. The land has been appraised independently by George R. Read & Co., at $5,500,000; McKim, Meade & White have appraised the building at $10,580,007, making a total appraised value of $11,080,007.

Fleming Here Today.

Robert V. Fleming, president of the Riggs National Bank, returned to the city yesterday to be present at the weekly forum luncheon of the District Bankers association and take part in the discussion on uniformity of banking forms. He will return to his summer home at Ocean City tomorrow.

Jersey Essential Issue.

Blair & Co., Inc., are offering at par and accrued dividend $2,670,000 of the Centra Railroad Co. of New Jersey 4½ per cent equipment trust gold certificates recently purchased by them and the Chase Securities Corporation. The certificates are to be issued under equipment trust agreement dated July 15, 1926, which provides for the issuance of not exceeding $6,000,000 of these certificates. Proceeds of today's offering will pay in part for equipment costing $2,345,000 which the New Jersey Central has contracted to buy.

Brazil Redeems Block.

Dillon, Read & Co. yesterday announced the call for redemption of $300,000 of the $35,000,000 issue of United States of Brazil 6½ per cent external sinking fund gold bonds. This represents the first sinking fund operation as provided in the Brazilian loan contract. The bonds called were designated by lot and consist of 286 bonds of $1,000 denomination and 28 of $500 denomination.

The bonds to be redeemed will be paid at 100 against the issue price of 90, the redemption representing an aggregate profit of $30,000 in less than six years to the holders whose bonds are to be redeemed.

Women Plan Program.

The women's committee of the Washington chapter, American Institute of Banking, met in the organization's room last night for a discussion of plans for the current year. Miss Catherine Krieg is chairman of the committee.

COLLEGE AND COUNTRY HONOR CHARLES W. ELIOT

Dignitaries Attend Funeral Services at Appleton Chapel in Harvard Yard.

EDUCATOR'S WORK LAUDED

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Harvard and the nation joined today in solemn services for Dr. Charles W. Eliot, whose 92 years were crowded with service to the intellectual life of both. Appleton chapel, in the Harvard yard, was filled with dignitaries of academic and public life while the Rev. Dr. George A. Gordon, of Boston, and the Rev. Dr. Francis G. Peabody, of Cambridge, conducted the services.

Dr. Gordon in his eulogy said: "We must recall that he it was who led the academic mind of the nation into a new way, a thoroughfare as broad as the intellectual life of the world. 'The whole truth, and nothing but the truth,' he spoke to his fellow citizens as no other man has spoken in our time."

All nations, creeds and colors, and men of all stations were in the gathering. Predominating were the fellows and members of the board of overseers of the university, faculty members emeritus who were coworkers under the 40-year presidency of Dr. Eliot, and scores of younger professors, many of whom were his students in college.

United States Senator William M. Butler, George R. Nutter, president of the Boston Bar association, and Adj. Gen. Jesse H. Stevens, representing the commonwealth, were present.

The family followed the body to Mount Auburn cemetery where private committal services were held before burial. As the cortege left the chapel the new bell installed in Harvard hall was sounded for the first time.

WOMAN TOURS U. S., USING MOTORCYCLE

Mrs. Warren, of Pasadena, Calif., Passes Through City on Way South.

Mrs. Lucy Westlake Warren, who passes her summers on transcontinental jaunts and her winters "cooking and darning socks," whizzed through Washington yesterday on a one-cylinder solo-type motorcycle bound for Florida and then back across the continent to her home in Pasadena, Calif. Already she has traversed 33 States and covered 5,150 miles. When she gets back to keeping house again she will have visited every State in the Union.

Before she was married, Mrs. Warren won fame as a motorcyclist under her maiden name, Lucy Westlake. She is the only woman to hold the long-distance medal given to transcontinental cyclists by the American Motorcycle association.

Mr. Warren, she says, is a mining man who is at his mining camp three months each summer. He does not ride a motorcycle, she says, and "of course he can't object to his wife running across the country while he passes the summer at work."

Walsh's Prospects Fine, Committee Says

In a statement issued last night, the Democratic national committee discussed the Butler-Walsh fight for the senatorship in Massachusetts and declared the prospects are "fine" for the election of former Senator Walsh and defeat of Senator Butler.

The Democratic committee declared the cry of "stand by Coolidge," which is being sounded in behalf of Butler, "is dull and evidently devoid of stirring power." It also declared the people of Massachusetts have become impatient with the "superprotectionists" and are bent on a change of leadership.

BETTIS, LEG AND JAW BROKEN, RESCUES SELF

seat with difficulty and called for help, but there was no response. He stayed with his wrecked machine all Monday night and did not leave it until yesterday afternoon, when he concluded that he must find his way out himself.

He crawled on hands and knees until he came to a little clearing, when he stood on his good leg and hopped until he tired. Then he crawled again, finally reaching the road where he was found.

About 6 o'clock last night, Bettis heard the whirr of airplanes and later saw two of them flying overhead. He knew they were searching for him, but he was helpless in trying to attract their attention.

These planes are believed to have been those of Lieuts. Williams and Smith, who had returned from Selfridge field to search for him.

LENROOT'S CAMPAIGN MAY BE INVESTIGATED

Senator's Committee Charged With Using Slush Funds in Primary Fight.

Likelihood that the Reed committee of the Senate on campaign expenditures will be asked to investigate the cost of the primary campaign in Wisconsin was discussed here yesterday. Opponents of Senator Lenroot, who is making a hard fight for renomination, are charging that the stalwarts who are supporting the senator are using "slush funds."

Notice of these charges was taken yesterday by Labor, the official publication of the railroad employes. It publishes special correspondence from Milwaukee alleging large expenditures in behalf of Lenroot. It says that for billboards alone in the Milwaukee region, "the Lenroot machine has agreed to pay $18,000 between now and primary day."

Senator La Follette, who is working for the nomination of Gov. Blaine in place of Lenroot, is a member of the Senate campaign expenditures committee.

Revolt Report Denied By Albanian Minister

(By the Associated Press.)

The Albanian Minister yesterday made public an official cablegram from Tirana denying reports published abroad that a revolution had developed in Albania. The message, sent by the Albanian minister of foreign affairs, said:

"The news published by the Italian newspaper Corriere della Sera that a pretended revolution has broken out in northern Albania and that detachments of the Albanian army have crossed the frontier and entered Jugoslavia is absolutely baseless and defamatory. In Albania reigns perfect tranquillity, and we give to this news a decided denial."

Movie Plan to Settle Disputes Is Approved

(By Associated Press.)

The motion picture industry's method of settling disputes between distributors and exhibitors arising under film leasing contracts has the approval of the Department of Justice.

This was disclosed yesterday when the department reported on an eighteen-month investigation of the operations of the film board of trade, instituted on the basis of complaints from motion picture theater owners to determine whether there had been violation of the antitrust laws.

Child's Adoption Made Legal.

The adoption of 15-year-old Ada L. Hudgins by Mrs. Florence M. Conklin, 3145 Twenty-fourth street northeast, was legalized yesterday by Justice Siddons in equity court. The girl is the daughter of Charles Hudgins. Her mother is dead. Attorney William S. Torbert appeared for Mrs. Conklin.

the Polyclinic hospital, she was in a room next to the one where he died.

"I had just been reconciled to Mr. Valentino," she said today. "We have always retained our love for each other. At least I have, and friends told me he had also. My affection for him has always been of a motherly, sisterly nature."

She wept as she told how Valentino had given her a picture of himself three weeks ago.

Claiming that Valentino had opposed the "antidemocratic policies of Mussolini" and had been "outrageously treated in Italy on his last visit," the Antifascisti Alliance of North America, through its national secretary, today sent to Ullman, who was Valentino's manager, a telegram of protest against the guard of fascists in black shirts stationed in the funeral parlor. Pietro Allegra, the secretary, declared that when Valentino took out American citizenship papers last winter his films were boycotted throughout Italy at the order of Mussolini.

No Action by Rome Officials.

Rome, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—No funeral wreath or any other kind of official honor for Rudolph Valentino has been authorized in behalf of the Italian government or Premier Mussolini.

The government, the Associated Press has been officially informed, knows nothing of a black shirt guard of honor, said to have been posted at the bier of the dead screen actor, but explained that fascist organizations abroad have broad powers to act in such matters without need of authorization from Rome.

Officials are unwilling to discuss what honors would be shown the dead movie actor here until it is learned definitely whether the body will be brought to Italy for burial. It is probable, however, that Valentino's funeral would not be given more than semiofficial recognition.

Pola Negri on Way East.

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Pola Negri left on the Golden State limited today for New York to attend the funeral of Rudolph Valentino Monday. She was accompanied by her secretary, Katherine Heinman, and a trained nurse.

Miss Negri issued a statement before she left, in which she said, "I am going East with one hope in mind—that Rudolph's brother will decide to bring the body here."

"Doug and Mary" Grieve for Valentino

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford returned to America today aboard the Majestic. The motion picture stars had been on an extensive tour of Europe. Both were abed when ship reporters called to interview them. Fairbanks shouted from his door that he had not shaved and would see no one.

Later both Fairbanks and Miss Pickford expressed their sorrow at the death of Rudolph Valentino. They said they would attend the funeral on Monday. Constance Talmadge, screen star; Morris Gest, theatrical producer, and Rex Ingram, screen director, who were also passengers, all expressed their grief.

The Post Housekeeper

Home Efficiency Service

We have received delightful letters from nearly all of the prize winners and we wish to thank them for their thoughtfulness and kindness. When we feel that we may be assured of cooler weather we anticipate that another contest will be the order of the day, and we shall appreciate suggestions as to the type of contest desired. It is not necessary to take the time to write a note in offering suggestions. Merely a line in an envelope with an idea for the contest is sufficient and we are, as we have said many times, greatly assisted by suggestions that come to us.

On the contrary, Mrs. M., we welcome criticism for it is constructive. However, since as you say, you have rather recently come to be a reader of our column, you will not have seen the outline of our policy, which appeared very early in our existence. Briefly, we are making an effort to suggest simple menus with an eye to economy of labor and expense, and likewise an eye to the combination of foodstuffs and their nutritive value. We do not endeavor or attempt to publish exclusively menus or recipes that are elaborate or unusual, for that we sincerely believe to be a step in the wrong direction. Much time and energy can be devoted on the part of the housewife to overemphasis to novelty in foods. Time and energy that might to advantage be expended elsewhere. True, we are occasionally guilty of a novelty—of an elaborate dish—of a fussy one—but they are the exception rather than the rule, and the menus that have specified baked potatoes, boiled potatoes, buttered carrots, soleslaw and even mediocre corned beef with cabbage are not a few.

Well do I remember that a reader accused the Housekeeper of an occasional "bum" menu. What, then, is the happy medium? You feel that we may possibly exceed on the elaborate side, and another reader harbors an opinion that it is the exact antithesis. We have endeavored to plan for homemakers of moderate means, therefore our delicacies have been limited. We have afforded variety when the markets have offered up substances with which variety might be achieved, but we keep in mind as we plan for our friends that children growing up in a household accustomed to never-ending variety and novelty in foods acquire false and unsatisfactory standards; that a woman who is her own cook and housekeeper, to say nothing of nursemaid, must have a certain amount of time for recreation, rest and reading, and that the pursestring of the family pocketbook was not made to open for food alone but for clothing, pleasure, roofing, schooling and on and on without end. If there is a happy medium we wish sincerely to find it, and quite unashamedly we do profess to wish to be of assistance, not to the affluent, but to the homemakers who must receive full measure of compensation for every ounce of energy and every dollar expended.

Don't worry about your budget, my dear, for the best laid plans of mice and men are said to go awry. Bring it in and we will straighten it out, and, of course, I know that you have tried to make it go. Considering all the circumstances, it would have been almost impossible to make it work at once, and you were down on the pad here at the studio that we might send you a card and check it up again. That you came to grief a bit sooner than we anticipated is not a killing matter. Bring the book and come in any time it is convenient for you to do so after the first of September, and I am, in spite of your fears, perfectly delighted that you wrote me at once and tremendously interested in you, in your home, and in your effort.

Your prints sound very attractive, Mrs. Knight, and from your description, I think they would be quite stunning framed in a narrow, very narrow, black molding. It is difficult to say, however, unless one sees the object, and if you bring them to town to have them framed and will come to the studio we can look them over. We are getting away these days from the ornate in picture frames, and a really good thing needs little or no decoration, being sufficient unto itself. The plainer the better then, as your prints are undoubtedly splendid ones.

As it is again Thursday we are planning a dinner consisting of a fish rather than a meat course. In event the menu is used tonight rather than tomorrow night, stuffed lambs' hearts may, if you wish, be substituted. We had the recipe for this dish some months ago, but shall give the details again today.

MENU.

Chilled Mellon
Olives Celery
Halibut Steak
Creamed Potatoes
Cabbage Delicious
Tomato in Aspic Salad
Peach Pie
Iced Tea or Coffee

Tomato in Aspic.

Boil one can of solid pack tomatoes with one onion, a few stalks of celery and a bit of chopped parsley for one hour, very slowly. Strain, forcing all that is possible of the tomato pulp through the strainer. Add one tablespoonful sugar, one-half teaspoonful each of vinegar and lemon juice and chop the contents of a small bottle of stuffed olives very fine and add to the mixture. Reheat. Add one envelope of gelatine that has been soaked in cold water five minutes and turn into a mold. Allow to cool then place near the ice until the aspic becomes firm. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise garnished with hard boiled eggs or just with paprika.

Cabbage Delicious.

Chop a large, firm head of new cabbage very fine and sprinkle it into boiling salted water to which a pinch of soda has been added. It must be sprinkled so slowly that the boiling of the water is not interrupted. Cover and allow to boil for from five to eight minutes—no longer. Turn into a colander and drain thoroughly. Place in a warmed vegetable dish and season with salt, pepper and a generous piece of butter.

Stuffed Lambs' Hearts.

Carefully wash and trim loose edges from the hearts, one of which has been provided for each person to be served. Parboil in hot water to which a tablespoonful of vinegar has been added. Stuff with a dressing of bread crumbs seasoned highly with onion, browned, chopped bacon, a bit of red pepper and poultry seasoning and held together with an unbeaten egg. Bake surrounded by raw peeled potatoes (in place of the creamed ones) for one hour. Have enough water in the pan to baste the potatoes and hearts frequently. A brown gravy may be made of the liquid in the pan when the hearts are removed if gravy is desired.

Peach Pie or Tart.

Line a shallow pie shell with our usual pie paste and bake. Peel eight ripe peaches, slice as for serving and add to them a cup of sugar. Stew over a slow fire until they are soft and the syrup thickens. Cool thoroughly. Just before the pie is to be served, or rather, before dinner is to be served, place the peaches in the pieshell and cover with whipped cream. Delicious.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Biscuit may be prepared in the usual manner, and having been rolled to quarter inch thickness, spread with deviled ham and baked in layers, like a sandwich.

It is not merely the feeding of a household which is required of a cook, but their nutrition; a much wider requisition.

"Butter size of an egg" amounts to two ounces, or one-fourth cup.

MANY STOCKS RECOVER PART OF EARLY LOSSES

CARRIERS MOVE LITTLE

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Aug. 25.—The stock market was featured today by pronounced weakness and sharp rallies, following each other with bewildering rapidity. In the final hour, however, the market became steadier and staged a fairly good rally, but the recovery did not develop until stocks like General Motors, United States Steel common, American Can, Cuba Company, General Petroleum, Phillips-Jones, Wright Aeroplane and a number of others had been forced down to new low ground for the movement.

Selling was based to a great extent on the theory that the technical position of the market had been materially weakened by the long advance since the beginning of the summer. It was helped along, however, by the hardening of the call money rate to 5 per cent, following the calling of $20,000,000 by the banks, and by continued persistent talk of rediscount changes. Today's change in the call money rate was the first since the recent increase in the rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

U. S. Steel was by far the most active throughout the session, breaking to 146¾, the lowest price recorded since the recent advance to 159⅝, where it established a new high for all time. During frequent periods of weakness and strength the stock fluctuated uncertainly between 147 and 149, finally closing at a net loss of 2 points.

General Motors, though less active than Steel, moved over a slightly wider range. After declining to 204¾, there was a rally to 208½, followed by rather wide fluctuations, the final price being 206½, a net loss of only ½ point.

Among the stronger issues of the day were United States Rubber, which moved up to 63 for a net gain of 3¼ points, and Warner Pictures "A," which advanced from a low for the day at 36½ to 50, a net gain of 15 points over yesterday's closing, more than 64,000 shares changing hands. Since the recent showing of Warner's new vitaphone pictures the "A" stock has virtually doubled in price. The stock is up about 250 per cent from the low of the year and much talk of dividends is heard. However, it is not believed that a dividend is in immediate prospect, but those in close touch with the company's affairs are enthusiastic about the company in the light of the latest development in motion picture presentation.

Weakness appeared in the afternoon in such stocks as Woolworth, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Mack Trucks, Allied Chemical, American Smelting & Refining and United Bag & Paper.

The carrier stocks, with the exception of Delaware & Hudson, fluctuated narrowly in quiet trading most of the day. Delaware & Hudson in the last half hour had a sharp spurt of 3¾ points after announcement of a special meeting of stockholders had been called for October 26 to consider segregation of the company's coal properties.

Oil stocks remained in the same narrow range within which they recently have fluctuated, showing no particular response to reports of a further increase in the daily average of crude oil production.

The action of the market as a whole in the last few days has plainly revealed the mixed sentiment prevailing among traders, and the bear element, believing that the line of least resistance is downward, has been pounding the leaders in an effort to unleash general selling.

Although they advanced only .00½ of a cent, more interest today was centered on German marks than on any other currency in the foreign exchange market, for it was the first time the mark had moved at all in more than two years. Movements elsewhere were narrow. French francs gained more than 3 points and Belgian francs about half as much. Sterling reached a new low for the movement at $4.85½. Lire gained 2 points and Scandinavian rates were steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 25 (By the Associated Press).—With new export business totaling 700,000 bushels, wheat values gave evidence of a good deal of underlying strength today. Closing quotations on wheat were firm, ⅛ to ⅝ cents net higher, corn ⅛ to ⅝ cents up, oats a shade to ¼@⅜ cents down and provisions unchanged to 30 cents lower.

In connection with other indications of improved export demand for wheat, active inquiry for ocean freight room appeared significant. Besides, higher cash premiums were being paid here and in the Southwest for wheat to be delivered at once, and vessel space was chartered here for 100,000 bushels of wheat to go to Buffalo, as well as 235,000 bushels to Montreal. Reports were also current that continental European countries were buying at Liverpool. Exports of domestic wheat and flour for July were officially given at 19,784,000 bushels compared with 8,905,000 bushels a year ago.

Friends of higher prices for wheat put stress on assertions that hungry mouths in Europe must be fed, and that prospective hedging pressure in the leading markets was likely to be absorbed at a profit on account of 200,000,000 bushels estimated crop shortage in Europe as compared with last year. Favorable weather in the American Northwest, however, tended to brighten the domestic harvest outlook, and advices were at hand that throughout North and South Dakota and Western Minnesota the yields of wheat are proving much larger than expected.

Corn rallied with wheat. The fact that skies were clear and temperatures normal in the corn belt was partly offset by signs that commercial demand for corn is making steady inroads on visible supply. Arrivals of new oats tended to ease down the oats market.

Provisions, especially meats, lacked adequate support.

What's Behind Your Stock

B. F. Goodrich Co.

B. F. Goodrich Co. is one of the largest and best-known rubber manufacturers in the country. A great deal of this company's profits depend on the sales of automobile tires, but there is a large output of mechanical rubber goods, belting, boots and shoes.

During the ten years which ended in 1925 total net income available for dividends averaged slightly over $6,000,000 annually, this figure including the very poor years of 1921, 1922 and 1923. These earnings were equal to an average of $4.39 per common share outstanding after allowing for preferred dividend and preferred stock sinking fund requirements. Net sales last year amounted to $136,239,526, this figure being a record except for the years 1919 and 1920. Last year's net income of nearly $17,000,000 compared with a net income of about $9,000,000 in 1924 and was equal to $21.74 per share as compared with $9.11 in the previous year. During the first half of the present year, however, net income fell way below the corresponding 1925 figure as a result of high rubber costs and price reductions on tires.

At the end of June the company was in satisfactory financial condition with current assets exceeding current liabilities by about $61,000,000. Dividends at the rate of 7 per cent per year have been paid without interruption since 1912. On the common stock there were dividend payments in 1912 and 1913, from 1916 to 1921, and from August of last year to date.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Aug. 25 (By the Associated Press).—Prices of curb securities yielded to liquidating pressure today, the downward movement, which was influenced in a measure by higher call money and time money rates and the heavier tone of securities on the stock exchange, affecting nearly all of the leading issues.

One or two specialties stood out in resistance to the receding movement, Warner Bros. Pictures crossing 43 for a new high and closing for a net gain of about 11 points. This was a gain of more than 30 points from the low of the year.

Mixed movements marked the industrial list, strength developing in Continental Baking A, which closed 2¼ points net higher, while the B shares gained nearly a point in anticipation of their transfer to the "big board" tomorrow. The new stocks of the General Motors and Du Pont companies continued to move in sympathy with the old issues on the stock exchange, considerable arbitrage being reported in each case. Centrifugal Pipe was heavy, presumably on selling influenced by increased foreign competition.

Coal shares were heavy on cabled reports that many British miners had returned to work in defiance of their union officials.

4 to 3 Victory Enables St. Louis to Pass Pirates and Reds.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25 (By A. P.). It's off again, on again, in the three-cornered fight for the National league leadership.

The Cardinals, who yesterday were knocked from their first-place perch by splitting a doubleheader with Boston, today trimmed the Braves 4 to 3 in a thrilling eleven-inning battle and regained the coveted position.

Hafey, batting for Southworth, singled in the eleventh frame with the bases loaded and won the game.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati both lost today.

Corbett's Suit To Halt Bout Delayed

Will Seek Injunction; Unfair Treatment by Sesqui Claimed.

Tickets Go on Sale; Cheaper Seats Held Until Sept. 23.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Threatened court action of James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion, who claims to have had an understanding with the Sesquicentennial exposition authorities to hold the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight title bout in the Sesqui stadium, did not materialize today.

"I think the action we propose will take the form of an injunction," said John J. McDevitt, counsel for Corbett, today. "Corbett and I feel we have not been treated fairly. We were assured if the fight came here we would have exclusive right to the stadium. We had planned to hold the fight July 4, but dropped the matter when we were led to believe it could not be staged here."

SOME tickets for the fights were placed on sale here today. They included all but the $3.30 admission tickets, which will not go on sale until 9 a. m. of the day of the fight.

Officials of the Sesquicentennial exposition today invited the Pennsylvania State athletic commission to use the Sesqui auditorium for the weighing in of Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney the afternoon of September 23. The fighters are to show their weight in the presence of the members of the commission. The commission is understood to be favorable to the proposal, but will not make its decision known until the principals of the coming heavyweight battle are consulted.

Attachments Inconvenient, Dempsey's Lawyer Says

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.). Hearing on the motion of Jack Dempsey, through his attorneys, to have vacated two attachments secured by his former manager, Jack Kearns, in his suit against the champion for $333,333, was adjourned today until Friday.

"Mr. Dempsey's automobile is tied up in one attachment and they have taken out another under which his money is also tied up to his great inconvenience," said Driscoll. "His account in the Harriman Bank is involved. A large sum, $150,000 is jeopardized."

"Is that the $150,000," asked Justice Walsh, "which Dempsey is reported to have deposited with a bookmaker and who is reported to have said he hasn't a cent of it?"

Scratch Single Comes With 2 on Base for Robins' Win.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Brooklyn managed to get an even break in the four-game series with the Pirates by annexing the final contest today by 2 to 1.

Aldridge yielded but five hits, but one of them, a scratch single by Max Carey in the fifth, with two on base, gave the Robins their margin of victory. Fournier's double drove in a run in the initial inning.

Cincinnati, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Cincinnati's winning streak of ten games came to a stop today when Hugh McQuillan outpitched Carl Mays in a hurling duel, New York winning, 2-1.

Three snappy double plays helped the Giants. The only time Cincinnati broke through was in the seventh, when the first three men to face McQuillan singled, but in attempting to sacrifice Dressen hit into a double play.

Scott Is Turned Back To Chisox by Reds

Cincinnati, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Everett Scott, veteran shortstop, has been returned to the Chicago White Sox by the Cincinnati Nationals, from which club they obtained him. Scott tore a ligament in the calf of his left leg during the second game in which he appeared as a Red and was never able to return to his position.

Mitchell Is Ordered To Defend His Title

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 24 (By A. P.).—Pinkey Mitchell, junior welterweight champion, has been ordered by the State boxing commission to defend his title before October 1 or forfeit the belt which he holds, emblematic of the title, to the commission.

AL FOREMAN AND AHEARN TO MEET

Bout Scheduled Tuesday as Feature at Kenilworth.

MATCHMAKER Heinie Miller, of Kenilworth arena, announced that the much-discussed and delayed "battle of the Potomac," featuring Al Foreman, soldier featherweight, and Goldie Ahearn, local Ghetto pride, will be staged Tuesday night at Kenilworth. Foreman informed Miller that his hand is in perfect shape, due to surgical skill of a noted New York bone specialist.

Foreman has started training again with Sammy Baker, Eddie Burnbrook, Rosey Stoy and a few more topnotchers. The little soldier could have gone through with the previously scheduled Ahearn battle, but Al wanted to be in the best possible shape. Ahearn is at the Mohawk club, where he will work out until two days before the fight.

THE supporting card will feature a flock of six and four-rounders. Jack Cafoni, flyweight, will meet Hal Stevenson, a classy youngster from the New England section. Stevenson has met and beat the best. They step six rounds. Billy Strickler will oppose Johnny Amato in another six-rounder. Billy Richardson will meet Nick Repoli in six rounds also.

Billy Doak will start the four-rounders off. He meets a good boy in Manuelo Radman. Blondie Pinion meets Sammy Hogan. Ed Jeter, colored middleweight, opens the show with Jack Johnson, champ of the colored cavalry.

Mack-Herman Bout Delayed Till Saturday

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—The Queensboro Athletic club boxing show, featuring a featherweight tilt between Babe Herman, of California, and Petie Mack, of Jersey City, was postponed tonight for a second time because of rain. It is scheduled for Saturday night.

Norfolk Signs Riley, Dreadnaught Hurler

Alexandria, Va., Aug. 25.—Leon Riley, star outfielder and pitcher of the Dreadnaughts, has been signed by the Norfolk Virginia State league team, and will report there next season.

Riley will confine his work to the outfield next season, although he may toil as a relief pitcher on occasions.

The local boy played first base, short stop and pitcher, as well as outfield at Alexandria high. He led the team in batting for three seasons.

French Runner Betters 1,500 Meters Record

Paris, Aug. 15 (By A. P.).—Georges Baraton, French middle distance champion, today ran the 1,500 meters at the Colombes stadium in 3 minutes 50 2-5 seconds. This is 2 1-5 seconds better than the world's record hung up by Nurmi at Helsingfors in 1924—3:52 3-5.

It is not likely that this record will be ratified, because no official of the French Athletic federation was present, but three reliable clockers timed Baraton. In addition, Baraton is under suspension by the federation.

Service Seeks Long Swim Honors

Third Corps, Marines Enter Teams for President's Cup.

Levvy Coaching Soldiers at Washington Barracks.

UNITED States military and naval forces are harboring a determination that the cup presented by their commander-in-chief, President Coolidge, to the winner of the three-mile swim to be staged on the Potomac Saturday will not find its way out of the service.

Thirteen well-trained swimmers of the Third Corps Area and a group of marines now in training at Quantico are the bulwarks that the service contingent will offer in its quest for the cup against a field that includes nationally-known civilian swimmers, Clarence Ross, the defending holder of the cup, and a galaxy of college stars.

Capt. John R. D. Cleland, athletic officer of the Washington barracks, where the Third Corps team is training, has made a ten-strike in his preparations for the race by signing as head coach Lionel Levvy, former University of Alabama athlete and recognized as one of the select instructors of this vicinity.

THE acquisition of Levvy is expected in a measure to offset the briefness of the training period available to the army swimmers. Only a few days ago was the matter of competition in the 3-mile swim, under the auspices of the Washington Canoe club, seriously considered.

While pleased with his material at the barracks, where the Third corps swimmers are now training, Coach Levvy deplores the fact that he was unable to start work earlier. His charges, however, make up in natural strength and ability a part of what they lack in technique, Coach Levvy says.

C. G. Murray and G. R. Gray, of Fort Monroe, Va., are the most promising members of Levvy's squad. Both are endowed with a splendid physique and in trial swims over the Potomac course have turned in creditable efforts.

More than 40 entries already have been received for the race by Washington Canoe club authorities, who expect this number to be swelled by at least a score. Entries are being received daily at the club's headquarters.

A SLIGHT deviation from the original plans of the race is likely. Guy Winkjer, chairman of the swim committee, points out that the current at Chain bridge is flowing at a terrific pace and that it is probable that the start will be made at a point slightly east of Chain bridge with the finish at a correspondingly lower point east of Key bridge.

Virtually every organization in the race will swim as a team and more than one team has been entered by several groups. The list of entries already received follows:

Marines—John Gerey, Laurens Claude, Lad Bojas, Lewis Center, H. H. Sullivan, E. A. Potzin.

Third Corps Area (team A)—C. G. Murray, S. R. Gray, F. A. Mehesko, Lieut. Edward G. A. Kimbal, M. D. Owens. (Team B)—C. G. Brown, D. S. O'Leary, F. J. Jones, C. S. Miller, E. R. Manuel.

New York Athletic club—Clarence Ross, James Farley, Edward Lee, Leo Giebel.

Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A. (team A)—Walter Spence, Harry Lewis, Robert Hosie M. Brastied, Fred Keeth. (Team B)—Frank Hadnot, Robert Quick, Arthur Hastings, Howard Hansen.

Maryland Swimming club—George Bahlke, Harry Child.

Harris Names Old Master And Covey

Twin Bills Pile Up as Rain Halts Game With Brownies.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

ANOTHER game was rained all the way out of town yesterday and, if the weather man does not become more reasonable, it will be necessary for our Nats to hop back to their Tampa training camp for a short spell of work. The only advantage of yesterday's postponement was that it happened early in the morning and the fans did not have to drift out to the park and watch running and swimming races while it was being decided what the answer would be.

The Brownies were scheduled to play the third game of their final series here with the Nationals, but as they do not come back, the game will be shifted to St. Louis and be played as part of a doubleheader there on Monday, September 20. This makes the fourth battle which has had to be shifted—two others with Detroit and one with Cleveland—and the end may not be yet.

These transfers call for four games in three days in Cleveland, seven in five days in Detroit, and four in three days in St. Louis, making fifteen scheduled in the first eleven days of the next and final Western invasion.

IT is with a view to having the Nationals well prepared to engage in this big bunch of games that Manager Harris has asked President Griffith to try to have two or three additional pitchers join the club in Cleveland.

The Little Rock and Bridgeport teams already have been asked to turn Joe Carroll and Clayton Van Alstyne, respectively, loose by this time, while the Washington club head stated last night that he also was trying to arrange for Decatur Jones, one of the three flingers purchased from Chattanooga Tuesday, to join the Nats on September 10. To date he has received no answers to any of these requests.

Chicago will be here this afternoon with a double-header scheduled to open the five-game set. Manager Harris plans to use Walter Johnson on the hill in the first setto, with Stanley Coveleskie drawing the pitching asignment in the nightcap. With the exception of three games played here with the Red Sox—one on September 5 and two on Labor day—this will be the last set scheduled here this season, for Harrismen hit the road on September 7, and end their schedule on foreign fields.

The White Sox arrived in the Capital City last night with a squad of but 21 players, which includes, besides Manager Collins, six infielders, three catchers, four flyhawks and seven pitchers. Pitcher Ted Blankenship did not accompany the team as he is still suffering from the injury received against the Nats on their last trip to the Windy City, when his right thumb was broken in two places.

All of the trio of Chattanooga pitchers purchased by the Harrismen Tuesday are youngsters, both in age and experience, this being their first season in the professional game.

DICK COFFMAN is only 19 years old and is a native of Veto, Ala. He pitched two years for Hub Perdue's Gallatin private institute team, and it was on Hub's recommendation that Chattanooga signed him. He pitched for the Athens, Ala., semi-proso last summer, winning 24 games and losing 6.

Decatur Jones, known as "Dick," is 22 years old. He comes from Little Springs, Miss., and is a cousin of Cowboy Jones, the outfielder. His only experience was

Sun Affinity Favored In Last Race

By BERT E. COLLYER.

OH YOI, oh yoi; oh, you shicker den a goy—also, by the same token, I want to advise the whole cockeyed world I'm sure sore. That Bluefish blow all but killed your Uncle Bertram. The stewards could just as well hung our number up; but when ye ain't—well, ye ain't, and dat's all der is to it. So on with the dance.

Down at Saratoga the boys have adjusted another mess of "poison," which, if we don't get too many bad breaks, will about knock a flock of those pirating lawnmowers for a row of markers. The happy gab is none other than DAZZLER, which is tossed into the Amsterdam selling handicap with 113 pounds. Now, this way rigged the Whitney trick should about back home in front of these guns, nodding to the folks in the grandstand. McAULIFF is the one to beat. He is finer than split silk and will be out in front winging, while BRUNS will be shooting his stuff through the final furlong. ENDOR will also go well.

POLLY McWIGGLES looks like the real ripe persimmon in the Burlington, with CHANCE PLAY the contender. The latter has not been out since the accident, and may need a race to tighten him up.

STORM KING, which Bob Gilmore says was in the hands of J. Pierpont Shaunfeld, who has replaced Mr. Sweeney at the morgue, is simply rearin' to go. You may think this bird is pitched a trifle too high, but if you can get 15, 6 and 3, here is a place to take the rubber off the old B. R.—three ways.

KEEGAN, MY DESTINY and LEW POPE is the way the clockers send the opening dash out at Lincoln field. Personally, my best advice is to leave this band of hash hounds alone—there will be racing all next week. Terrible band of barkers, I'll say.

In the second, Respess turns loose a real good thing in TORMENTOR, which, by the way, is a running fool. Five furlongs in 1:00, just like breaking sticks. BURR WINSLOW is the sleeper. That last effort was too bad to be true.

ELIAS O is the hottest kind of an overnight "tip." I believe these people know something. You have the answer to all this gab in your lily white duke.

Midnight Rose was ridden very wide on the turns and could not gain when called upon in final drive.

Morris broke forwardly from an outside position and racing into a good lead in the first quarter easily won all the way. Bombay acted greenly at barrier but, showing good speed, raced in nearest pursuit of leaders and finished going well. Bright Shawl saved ground throughout and closed a good gap in stretch for third place.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward. Claiming. Start good. Won driving. Went to post at 2:58; off at 3:01. Winner, J. L. Knight's br. g. (4) by Peter Pan—Tanya. Trainer, W. Perkins. Time, 0:23, 0:46, 1:10 3-5 (new track record).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Rag Time, $28.50, $7.00, $4.90; Hot Time, $4.50, $3.40; Pricemaker, $4.10.

Rag Time, under a good ride, raced close up to stretch turn, then closing strongly around outside wore down Hot Time in final seventy yards for decision. Hot Time set a great pace to near the end and though holding on well could not stall off winner. Pricemaker came through in last few yards to outstay Chink.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,400. For 2-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won easily. Went to post at 3:26. Off at 3:27. Winner, Jones Stock Farm's b. c. (2), by Seth—Tze Lai. Trained by owner. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:47 1-5, 0:59 4-5, 1:06 2-5.

RAIN DAMPENS BIDDING

As Sales at Saratoga End

Special to The Washington Post.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Only a few people braved the steady downpour of rain to see the Saratoga sales of thoroughbred horses of 1926 brought to a close, with consignments from the Oneck stable, J. L. K. Ross, the Sanford Stud farms, Pierre Wertheimer, Bradford Ellsworth and others. The consignments consisted almost entirely of brood mares, although in seven instances weanlings were sold together with the mare. Thirty-seven sales were made and they brought $76,600, or an average of $2,070 a sale.

Though the sales for the evening were not all that could be desired, because of the smallness of the crowd, the sales during the entire month brought a grand total of $1,980,200, which is far in excess of a like figure for any previous year. The total number of sales made during the month numbered 665, which is 112 in excess of the similar figure for last year, 553.

A FEATURE of the sale was the disposal of F. M. Burton's stallion Worthmore. He is a 5-year-old son of Thunderer and Lady Moonet and has made a splendid record for himself at the races by winning the Breeders' futurity, the Paumonok and the Toboggan handicap. He was knocked down to W. C. Wright for $9,500.

High price among the mares went to Milkmaid, J. K. L. Ross' fine racing daughter of Peep o' Day. She brought $6,500 from Mrs. Ambrose Clarke. Sandspit, a brown mare by Rock Sand, was sold together with her foal of 1926 by Stefan the Great, and the two of them brought $5,300 from A. B. Gordon.

Qualifying Round for Open Title to Be Played Today.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Approximately 250 golfers tee off at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in threesomes to compete in the first 36 holes of the qualifying round of the Western open golf championship over the Highland Golf and Country Club course.

Eighteen holes Thursday and 18 Friday will determine the 64 qualifiers to enter the final 36 holes Saturday for the championship.

The largest field ever entered in the event includes the class of American professionals, and most of the country's best amateurs, Bobby Jones and Bill Melhorn of Chicago being among the missing.

MANY of the leading contenders drew fair-sized galleries in practice rounds over the Hill course today. McDonald Smith, present champion, started out today with another large crowd watching him reel off birdies.

Chick Evans, of Chicago, only amateur to have won the western open, and Walter Hagen, king of professionals; Al Watrous, runnerup in the British open; Joe Turnesa, second to Bobby Jones in American open; Gene Sarazen, Leo Diegel and Jock Hutchinson, all professionals, had large galleries watching their practice round today.

Ideal weather is expected for the three days the tournament is in progress although a slight wind on any day may possibly carry well played shots into ragged rough or deep laid traps as the course is laid out on a high bluff along a river.

Although the course probably is not as undulating as some other championship courses, it is so scientifically trapped that all the visiting players feel that par golf for the 72 holes, which is 280, will be difficult to attain. A number of sixty-nines have been made in the practice rounds however.

PONS ASINORUM WINS.

York, England, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Sol Joel's 4-year-old colt, Pons Asinorum, won the Ebor handicap today by three-quarters of a length from Mrs. C. Drummond's 4-year-old Seredella. Drop It In was third. Fifteen ran. Pons Asinorum started at odd 5 to 2 against, Seradella at 100 to 7 and Drop It In at 33 to 1.

GIRL, 17, WINS IN WESTERN GOLF

Marion Turpie Beats Former Champion in Tourney.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Surviving a field day of uniformly brilliant golf with the second best woman's card ever scored on the course, Miss Marion Turpie, of Audburn, New Orleans, 17-year-old Southern association champion, moved into the third-round pairings of the women's Western championship play at Olympia fields today by eliminating Mrs. Melvin Jones, a former title holder, on her home course, 4 up and 3 to play.

By clipping one off of par on each nine for 40, 41—81, the young Scotch lassie, who was born on the rugged heaths of St. Andrews, ran off the best match play score of the tournament, only one over the record, 40, 40—80, established Monday by the qualifying medalist, Mrs. Lee Mida, of Butterfield, Chicago.

After halving the first in par six, she gathered two birdies and a pair of pars on the next four to go to the sixth 3 up. She never lost her advantage, but was twice 4 up.

TOMORROW Miss Turpie meets Miss Naomi Hull, of Kendallville, Ind., another youngster with remarkable performance behind her. Miss Hull, a South Bend, Ind., school teacher, today defeated Mrs. Jay S. Casseriel, of Aurora, former Illinois public links champion.

A third newcomer in the tournament, Miss Elsie Hilding, of Grand Rapids, Mich., went around in 84, one over par, to upset the veteran, Miss Dorothy Klotz, of Indian Hill, Chicago, 7 and 6. She went out in par 41, and was six up at the turn against a 48.

Miss Dorothy Page, Maple Bluff, Madison (90), vs. Miss Elsie Hilding, Grand Rapids (87).
Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City (83), vs. Miss Margaret Waddles, Hutchinson, Kans. (87).

5-to-1 Shot Captures Adirondack Handicap

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Friedjof Nansen, a 5 to 1 shot of the Log Cabin stud, captured the twenty-fourth running of the Adirondack handicap, $5,000 guaranteed, feature for 2-year-olds at the Saratoga track today.

J. E. Widener's Laddie was second and Easy Money third. The time for the 6 furlongs was 1:14.

Pinchot Names Deputy On Boxing Commission

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Herry T. Farrell, Nanticoke, was named by Gov. Pinchot today to the vacancy on the State athletic commission caused by the removal last night of Charles Fred White, of Philadelphia.

The new commissioner has been a boxing inspector and deputy commissioner, having been made deputy, Gov. Pinchot said, in recognition of the good work as inspector. He is 38 years old and a native of Wilkes-Barre.

"He was the only deputy boxing commissioner to be vested with the authority to name all officials for the fights held in his territory," the governor's announcement said, "and was given that authority in order to enable him to break up the operations of a gambling ring. He handled all the preparations and details for the Latzo-Walker fight—the contest that resulted in giving Pennsylvania its first world's champion boxer."

White, a negro, was removed by the governor on the ground that he had failed to live up to a promise to cease discussing through the newspapers boxing questions at issue before the board.

Forest City Feature Captured by Attco

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Attco, the Canadian owned pacer driven by Al (Humpy) Morrison, won the Forest City 2:09 pace at the North Randall Grand circuit races today, defeating Myrtle Baxer, odds-on favorite, which won the first heat. Attco was an outsider in the betting, paying $693 for a $10 result ticket. This race marked the first 1926 defeat of Myrtle Baxter, she previously having won seven races.

The North Randall, $3,000, 2:12 trot, sharing honors with the Forest City State, was won by Truax, the Chicago-owned horse, driven by Vic Fleming. Truax might have won in straight heats but for a break in the stretch in the second heat, which was won by Donald A.

DEMPSEY ASKS COURT FOR RELIEF FROM SUITS

Kearns, answered "yes," but Driscoll said "no." He maintained a second attachment had been sworn out and he could show it was not properly issued. Curtis denied this.

"We have been trying to learn where Dempsey's bank account is," said Curtis.

Dempsey Is the Savage Of Old in Live Workout

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Jack Dempsey resumed training today after a lay-off of two days caused by the switch in camps from Saratoga Springs to this Atlantic coast resort.

Due to a drizzling rain, the heavyweight champion was forced to work indoors. He performed in the gym of the Elks club, stepping through a lively workout that was equivalent to eight rounds. Dempsey, irritated because of the downpour and two days of idleness, ripped into his sparring mates savagely, dropping one of them.

Dempsey boxed four rounds, using a different sparring mate for each session. He also worked a round with the pulleys and punching bags, winding up with a round of wrestling with Bill Tate, the giant negro, and a round of calisthenics.

He looked like the scowling, savage Dempsey of old in his round of boxing against Tillie Kid Herman, a Los Angeles middleweight. They engaged in two furious slugging rallies in the exciting three minutes.

The spectators gasped when Herman's gloved fists landed on Dempsey's nose, but Dempsey did not stop rushing or even blink. Jimmy Brown, a negro middleweight from Panama, was sent sprawling to the floor when Dempsey connected with a left hook at the close of their three-minute session.

Dempsey received word today that the New Jersey State athletic commission would grant him a license to stage any boxing exhibitions he desired while in training here.

Mud Keeps Tunney In; Stages Boxing Session

Speculator, N. Y., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Gene Tunney, challenger of Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship, is gradually getting down to the weight he wants to reach, as a result of his intensive training at his Lake Pleasant camp. At the end of today's training stunts, he registered 186 pounds.

The challenger decided to do no road work this morning, the roads being heavy from rain. In the afternoon Gene boxed eight rounds with three of his sparring partners. He went two rounds with Oak Till, three with Billy Vidabeck and then took on the latest of his sparring partners, Johnny Grasso, for three rounds.

Tunney plans to box right up to the time of his departure—Monday—for his new training camp at Stroudsburg, Pa., except for Friday. Friday, he is planning to lay off, doing only some road work in the morning and then probably taking a hike into the mountains in the afternoon.

It was announced that Brian Downey, of Cleveland, who knocked out Johnny Wilson, will join Tunney's sparring partners at Stroudsburg. Vidabeck leaves camp tomorrow. He has a fight of his own scheduled for Friday at Boyles Thirty Acres, where he takes on Tom Karby, former national amateur heavyweight champion.

CHISOX HERE FOR FIVE GAMES

with the Natchez semipro club last year, where he played outfield for the most part.

John McEvoy comes from Wichita, Kans. He is about 24 years of age and starred with the University of Kansas team. It was from them that the Boston Red Sox grabbed him and turned him over to Mobile. Duffy Lewis couldn't see him and released him, Chattanooga picking him up on his first trip south this spring.

But, despite their inexperience, Scout Engel advises President Griffith that all three of these lads are big and husky, have plenty of stuff and look to him like the well-known diamonds in the rough.

The Boston Red Sox is the only outfit in either league with no postponed games. The only one of late forced on them was that of Tuesday, and it was played off yesterday. Some people have all the luck.

The acquisition of Thirdbaseman Doc Prothro and Pitcher Roy Meeker by the Cincinnati Reds certainly indicates that the prices of minor league balplayers exported to the majors this fall and winter will reach higher levels than ever.

Seventy-five thousand dollars in cash and two players is all that the Portland club of the Coast league charged Garry Herrmann for these two players, if the announcement of the deal is not a fairy tale.

PROTHRO failed to make good here, although he showed himself to be a good hitter, and then he was given a chance with the Red Sox last year and flivvered again, this time with one of the poorest big league teams in the history of the game.

Meeker is a right-handed pitcher of no particular fame, who was given several trials with the Mackmen and finally was sent back to the coast.

These two certainly must have broken some world's records with respect to rapid improvement if they are worth the pile of nickels said to have been paid for them. Either that or the Portland club head is a master salesman.

Special features will be added both at today's double-header and at tomorrow's singleton with the White Sox. Between battles this afternoon, Dan O'Leary, famous 87-year-old walker, will give an exhibition, attempting to circle the bases twelve times in 10 minutes.

At tomorrow's fracas, which will be the last "ladies' day" of the season, Waring's Pennsylvanians, now fulfilling an engagement at the Metropolitan theater, will liven things up with their interpretations of the latest airs. With them this season is Scotty Bates, a comedian, who, with Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, promises to keep things going at a fast clip.

INDIAN SPRING ANNOUNCES CHAMPIONSHIP DATES

Men, Women Play For Titles

Events to Be Staged as Part of September Program.

Golf Pros in P. G. A. Tryout at Congressional Tomorrow.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE golfing program of the Indian Spring club for September was arranged yesterday at a meeting of the golf committee of the club. The principal events will be the men's and women's championships.

Entries for men's competition will close on September 9, and a qualifying round of eighteen holes will be played on Saturday afternoon, September 11, and Sunday morning, September 12. The sixteen lowest scores will qualify for the championship flight and will play from scratch, but in the other sixteens all match play will be on a handicap basis.

The first round of match play is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, September 12, with the second round on the afternoon of the 18th. The semifinal round will be played on Sunday morning, September 19, with the final round in the afternoon.

THE qualifying round for the women's club championship will be eighteen holes and will be played on September 16, entries closing on the day previous.

The first round of match play is set for the 17th, the semifinal on the morning of the 18th and the final round on Sunday morning and afternoon, the 19th.

The final rounds in both the championship events will thus be played on Sunday afternoon and will be followed by a club dinner in the evening, when the prizes will be presented. In the women's competition the first eight qualifiers will play from scratch and in the remaining eights handicaps will be allowed.

The committee also decided to hold a caddy tournament on Monday, September 13, eighteen holes, medal play, a similar event last year having been most successful.

No caddy will be eligible to compete unless he has been registered at the club since the opening of the golf season, but as there are 200 names on the list, there is no doubt of a large number of entries.

THE competition arranged for next Sunday is an innovation in this section, although well-known elsewhere. It is called "monkey" golf. Each player takes four clubs—driver, midiron, mashie and putter—and uses these clubs in rotation for his shots.

Consequently a ball may have to be played out of a trap with a putter, while a driver may have to be used on the putting green. Both men and women will be eligible for this novel contest.

Twenty-nine golf professionals from Baltimore, Richmond and the District of Columbia will compete tomorrow at Congressional club in the qualification round of 36 holes for eligibility in the Professional Golfers association championship event at Salisbury, Long Island, during the third week in September. The pairings and times of play are as follows:

10:00—Charles Betschler, Maryland Country club; A. B. Thorn, Town and Country; James M. Roche; Elkridge Hunt club.

10:34—Wilfred Thompson, Hermitage, Richmond, Va.; James Thompson, Hermitage, Richmond, Va.; R. Cliff McKimmie, Beaver Dam.

10:42—Warner Mather, Baltimore; Leo McIrneny, unattached.

The rules of the Professional Golfers association allow only 64 entries for the championship event and only 2 players will represent this section.

The Purchasing Department team of the Southern Railway league, pounded out a 9-to-2 victory over the Traffic nine yesterday, featured by the hitting of Boisseau, who singled safely on his three times at bat.

L. Drissell, pitching for the victors, allowed Traffic four hits over the five-inning route, while Hill and Robertson were solved for ten safe blows by the Purchasing team.

LITTLE BILL ILL, BUT WINS

Grip Attack May Force Withdrawal at Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—An attack of gripe, which confined him to his room this afternoon, threatened to force the withdrawal of William M. Johnston, of California, from the Newport invitation tennis tournament.

Johnston complained of a heavy cold when he appeared on the Casino courts early today, for a fourth round match against Dr. Carl Fischer, of Philadelphia. There was no indication of impaired stroking in his play, however. The little Californian swept through his test with battering force to a decisive victory, 6—0, 6—3.

AFTER the match, Johnston's temperature increased and he was ordered to bed by his physician, Dr. Truman L. Saunders. At his room in the La Forge hotel, Johnston expressed confidence that he would be able to go through with his scheduled quarter-final match tomorrow morning against Alfred H. Chapin, jr., of Springfield, Mass.

His friends were less optimistic, however, that he would be able to complete the tournament.

Johnston's illness caught the veteran internationalist apparently at a point where he was just beginning to round into championship form for the approaching Davis cup struggle and the national championship.

Paralleling the impressive march of the far West star and giving increased promise of a final round struggle between the two rivals, William T. Tilden reached the quarter finals with Johnston today. The national champion smothered the drives of his university protege, Neil Sullivan, under a barrage of torrid clouts to win easily at 6—2, 6—2.

Earning the right to match strokes with Tilden tomorrow, Cranston Holman, of Leland Stanford university, triumphed over Arnold W. Jones, former Yale star, by 6—0, 6—4, while Dr. George King, of New York, filled the remaining bracket in the upper half of the draw by eliminating Julius Seligson, 16-year-old conqueror of Watson M. Washburn, yesterday, at 6—4, 6—4.

SINGLES.

Fourth round—William M. Johnston, San Francisco, defeated Dr. Carl Fischer, Philadelphia, 6—0, 6—3; Cranston Holman, Leland Stanford, eliminated Arnold Jones, Boston, 6—0, 6—4; Alfred H. Chapin, jr., Springfield, Mass., defeated Louis Thalheimer, Texas, 6—4, 6—0; William T. Tilden, Philadelphia, defeated Neil Sullivan, Lehigh, 6—2, 6—2; Dr. George King, New York, defeated Julius Seligson, New York, 6—4, 6—4; James Davies, San Francisco, defeated Francis T. Hunter, New York, 4—6, 7—5, 8—6.

DOUBLES.

First round—Howard Langlie and Frank Shields defeated Arthur Ham and Brian Doherty, 6—4, 6—3; Phil Neer and James Davies eliminated Sydney Smith, jr., and C. McR. Winslow, 6—2, 6—2; S. Howard Voshell and B. I. C. Norton put out A. De Hertelandy and L. G. Norris, 6—0, 6—0; Fritz Mercur and Neil Sullivan defeated R. Scott and H. D. Phillips, 6—2, 6—1; Lionel Ogden and Cranston Holman defeated H. M. Curtler and G. Tewksbury, 6—1, 6—1; Francis T. Hunter and Hugh G. M. Kelleher defeated Julius Seligson and Reginald Kananjian, 6—2, 6—2; Manuel Alonso and Watson M. Washburn eliminated Maurice Bayon and George Churchill, 6—0, 6—0.

Second round—Voshell and Norton defeated Karl Pfaffman and F. Broadhurst, 6—0, 6—1; John Barr and Wilmer Allison defeated Arnold Jones and W. W. Ingraham, 10—8, 6—3; William T. Tilden and Alfred H. Chapin, jr., defeated Fred Baggs and Louis B. Dailey, jr., 6—4, 6—0; Lewis N. White and Louis Thalheimer defeated Fritz Mercur and Neil Sullivan, 6—4, 6—4; Ogden and Holman defeated Frank Shields and Howard Langlie, 13—11, 6—2.

U. S. Boy a Favorite In British Golf Meet

Tomorrow, in the fifth round, Sweeney will meet E. A. McRurie, a Scotch boy who is another strong favorite for final honors.

The sultry weather today seemed to suit Sweeney, who, as everybody notices, has many of Hagen's mannerisms in putting.

The championship field in the tournament now has been reduced to eight, four Englishmen, three Scotchmen and Sweeney, the lone American. Fred Waters, the Scotch boy, was out of luck today, being badly defeated by Patey. Waters yesterday scored a hole in one on the seventh green, a most remarkable feat on these links.

G.U. FOOTBALL PLANS TAKE SHAPE

HAVING disposed of preliminary details and organized the equipment, Coach Lou Little left Washington today for the Georgetown university football training camp at Asbury Park, N. J., where on Monday the process of developing the 1926 Hilltop eleven will begin.

Little went alone but he will be joined tomorrow night by Harry H. Crowley, the new Georgetown trainer, who will accompany a load of suits, pigskins, bandages and ointment. The team candidates will report to the camp from their homes in widely scattered sections of the country.

FROM Monday until September 15 or 16, depending on the date of the opening of school, the Blue and Gray players will be put through an intensive session of conditioning and drilling on the rudiments of football. They will be expected to be able to give a good account of themselves by the time they break camp.

Crowley, the new muscle manipulator, is one of the most experienced men in his line in the country. He spent 15 years at Syracuse university and seven at the University of Detroit, from which he came to Georgetown. The entire Hilltop squad, including Little and his staff of assistants, will be quartered at the Hotel Marguette, Sixtieth street and Park avenue, Asbury Park, N. J.

Virginia Grays Meet K. K. K. Nine Sunday

Alexandria, Va., Aug. 25.—The Virginia Grays are to go to the National Capitol Horse show ground near Arlington beach, Sunday afternon, at 3 o'clock, where they will meet the Washington Ku Klux Klan team.

Caldwell and Giesen To Aid Roanoke Coach

Roanoke College, Salem, Va., Aug. 25.—When the Roanoke College Football squad entrains for Virginia Mineral o nthe morning of September 1, it will have with it George Caldwell and "Tony" Giesen, of Radford. They are among the most popular and heady players who have worn the Maroon colors and they have agreed to help "Pinkey" Spruhan whip his charges into condition during the preliminary training.

Caldwell was the star quarter of the Maroons for three years and he was captain of the 1923 eleven, when Roanoke captured the collegiate championship of Virginia. Giesen was one of the mainstays of the Roanoke line for three seasons. He was favorably mentioned for all-State tackle in 1924 and was captain of Roanoke's team last fall.

There is keen interest on the part of both alumni and members of the squad in the approaching camp at Virginia Mineral. Every candidate for the team who has received an invitation has reported that he will be present on the morning of September 1.

The Sportswoman

By DOROTHY E. GREENE

RUMOR has it that authorities of the Middle Atlantic Golf association plan the addition of a woman's championship to the men's title tournament which is held annually by the association.

The Middle Atlantic association has never held such a tournament nor is there any big sectional event offered to the women of the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia, where the 25 clubs comprising the membership are located. The course of the Baltimore Country club at Roland Park, Md., has been offered for the meet which may take place some time during September or October.

SWIM SCHEDULE ADOPTED.

The Community Center department announces a schedule of swimming class instruction for the closing days of the season at the Central High School pool.

The period from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. today and next Tuesday is reserved for children, and adults will be admitted on the evenings of those days from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. Children will receive instruction for 40 minutes, a class for women and older girls starts at 7:30; women alone at 8:15 and men and women at the last period, starting at 9 p. m.

All wishing this instruction can secure it on these days or nights without having previously registered.

TENNIS AGAIN DELAYED.

One of the most disappointing of the series of postponements which yesterday's rain again made necessary was the start of the District junior tennis championships.

Miss Elsie Jansen, who was elected junior tournament chairman at a meeting held Tuesday, announces that play will start next Monday morning at 9:45 o'clock on the Henry Park courts.

As several days intervene before play begins, the committee has decided to hold the entries open in both the singles and doubles event. All girls under 18 and those who passed their eighteenth birthday before May 1, 1926, are eligible. Entries may be made at Hoover Bros. sport shop, 608 Fourteenth street. The singles fee is 75 cents and the doubles is $1.50 per team.

THE AMERICAN LEAGUE'S OUTSTANDING pitcher is George Uhle, of Cleveland, who yesterday shut out the Yankees for his twenty-first victory of the season. He is the only pitcher in either league to win 20 or more games this season. In 1923, Uhle led his league with 26 triumphs.

Dixie Conference Anticipates

22 TEAMS DRILL SEPT. 6

Banner Season on the Gridiron

(By the Associated Press.)

TWENTY-TWO Southern conference football teams will don helmets and shoulder pads September 6, for the opening practice of the 1926 renewal of the college gridiron industry.

New stadiums will be opened in many cases, while virtually all the members have taken note of increasing football interest with preparations for greater facilities for handling crowds.

Advance orders for tickets have been reported from all sections of the conference territory as having attained the greatest volume in preseason history.

CAPT. BARNES, of the Crimson Tide, is backed in the offensive by Caldwell, Brown and Rosenfeld, veterans all, while in the defensive, Coach Wade is relying on Winslett, Perry, Holmes and Ennis, as a nucleus for a perfect forward wall.

Three separate backfields and a strong line give the University of Georgia the brightest prospects for a championship aggregation in many years, Coach Woodruff believes. The six varsity men lost to the Bull Dogs will be replaced by stars of last year's scrubs.

At Georgia Tech, Coach Alexander has an all-letter man team for opening scrimmage, and the wealth of new material, he believes, will compensate in part, for the loss of the great Wycoff.

Sewanee's University of the South, and Louisiana State, both are faced with the prospect of polishing raw material to fill the gaps left by graduation. Sewanee's backfield will be her main point of strength, while Louisiana freshmen stars of last year are believed by Coach Donohue to be a potential impregnable front wall.

Vacancies in defense and offense are also noted in North Carolina University and State elevens, but last year's veterans and eligible scrubs are expected by the respective mentors to furnish contenders of championship caliber.

A number of promising prospects are noted by the Orange and Blue of Alabama Poly and Coach Mory faces the prospect of tempering new end and tackle material.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S chances are bright, in view of the expected return of Rogers, all-Southern quarter of last season, and twelve other letter men of 1925. The loss of nine varsity players by graduation may be regained by the addition of eight promising youngsters from the freshmen squad.

Florida will place virtually a new team in the competition, with the Alligators looking forward to their greatest freshman team in years.

Coach Shaughnessy is pointing his Tulane Huskies toward the home coming game with Auburn October 23 and the dedication of a new stadium for the New Orleans aggregation. Tulane also will meet Arkansas and New York university in intersectional contests.

Kentucky counts on its 1925 freshmen ranks to bolster its depleted line while the Mississippi Aggies will assemble a squad of 40 huskies in training for their intersectional encounter with the University of Indiana November 1.

Contests with Arkansas and Drake university of Des Moines are features of the nine game schedule of the University of Mississippi which, however, shows but one home game.

Nine letter men and 40 freshmen will start for Virginia university, while Virginia Tech and Washington and Lee put their hopes for winning teams in new athletic directors.

A strong line and a depleted backfield are reported from Virginia Military institute and Tennessee reports material available for a strong aggregation with the return of last year's team practically intact.

Thirty-nine men will open the season for the University of Maryland and eight letter men and a number of eligible freshmen will carry Clemson's standard into opening games of the 1926 race.

Schoolboys' Tennis To Start September 7

The District of Columbia schoolboys' tennis championship will be staged this year at the Chevy Chase club courts, starting September 7. Indications are that the field will exceed last year's, which totaled 113.

Alphonso Smith, of Tome school, who won the championship in 1925, will enter the tournament in defense of his title. Dooley Mitchell, present District municipal singles champion, whom he defeated for the honor last year, also will enter.

This pair, with Eddie Jacobs, youthful Baltimore star and holder of the District club tennis championship, who has signified his intenton of playing, are likely to stage a close battle for the 1926 crown.

Entries are being received at the Chevy Chase club tennis shop and at Spalding's store, and entry blanks may be obtained at these places.

E. H. S. Football Team To Lose 8 Regulars

Alexandria, Va., Aug. 25.—Episcopal High school loses eight regulars of last year's football team, and prospects as a whole are not bright for this season, although Coach Thompkins should round out a fair team from the 1925 reserves and the veterans returning.

Four linemen will be back when school opens on September 15, while one backfield man will be available.

UHLE BLANKS YANKEES, 6 TO 0

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—George Uhle, Cleveland pitching star, won his twenty-first victory of the season here today when the Indians blanked the New York Yankees, 6 to 0. It was the second shutout recorded against the Yankees this season. The first shutout was tagged on the Huggmen by Tom Zachary of the Browns, July 18.

Matty Benefit Game To Be Held Saturday

Washington baseball fans will meet the opportunity of contributing to the fund for the building of two memorials in honor of the late Christy Mathewson, one of the real outstanding figures of the national game, when the National Circles and Mount Rainier play a benefit game Saturday on the Mount Rainier diamond.

All of the proceeds will go to the Christy Mathewson memorial fund committee of New York city, which is supervising the nation-wide campaign to establish everlasting recognition of the former great New York Giants pitcher. It is planned to build an imposing building on the campus at Bucknell college, Lewisburg, Pa., where Matty started his career, and a memorial clubhouse for world war veterans at Saranac Lake, N. Y.

The game will start at 3 p. m. Perry Batson is slated to hurl for the Circles, while Frank Corkins will get the call for Mount Rainier.

Playground Finals Set for Tomorrow

Rain prevented the completion of the interplayground field and track meet yesterday for the fifth time. The meet started last Tuesday and when nearly half finished it was halted by showers. Five more events were completed Tuesday when rain again stopped activity. Now the playground officials have set tomorrow at 10:30 o'clock as the time for the sixth attempt to complete the games.

The Washington Post trophies will be awarded after the meet to the successful team and individuals by Mrs. Susie Root Rhodes, supervisor of playgrounds, providing rain does not keep up its 1.000 percentage record that it has maintained since the start of the meet.

Golf AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

By WILLIE MacFARLANE
National Open Champion, 1925.

I WOULD not like to say definitely just how many holes the middle-aged golfer should play in one day as this depends entirely upon the physical condition of each individual. I have found plenty who are "gluttons for punishment" and play as many as 36 to 45 holes each day for 3 or 4 days each week. There are others, of course, who are not physically fit to do anything like this, although they might be much younger in years.

My advice to every one, regardless of age, is to play as much as he can, but to quit when he still feels good and not keep going when all in, just for the sake of saying he played 35 or 45 holes or more in one day.

Remember to stop when you still feel good and you will always enjoy the game.

C., proved able to tighten its grasp on the championship here today by defeating Pittsburgh, 8 to 3, in the sixteenth annual baseball tournament of the International Printers union. St. Louis won from St. Paul in the other contest on the program by the score of 14 to 5.

Washington advances directly into the finals by its victory today. The team drew a bye in the semifinal round and will meet the winner of the Boston-St. Louis game for the championship.

MANAGER HEINIE WEBB was on the mound for Washington and was effective in the pinches. Britton, of Pittsburgh, who beat Cincinnati yesterday, pitched for the Smoky City, and exhibited a creditable game, despite the eight runs chalked up by the Capital City.

Catcher Simons, of Washington, made the second home run of the tournament when he smacked the ball over the right field fence, with one man on, in the seventh inning. The first homer was made earlier in the day by Larry Roberts, of St. Louis, in the game betwen the Missourians and St. Paul.

6 VETS LEFT AT KENDALL GREEN

Coach Hughes Pleased With Gallaudet's Prospects.

By JOHN ESPEY.

GALLAUDET COLLEGE, the school with the smallest number of athletes and the most obstacles to surmount in turning out teams in Washington, hopes to place a strong eleven on the gridiron this fall.

In summing up the possibilities and strength of his 1926 club, Coach Teddy Hughes today expressed confidence that Gallaudet will make a much louder noise this year than last. But still, he admits, if his hopes are to be realized, he must overcome the same troubles which have blocked his path before.

As in 1925, there will be probably only 30 candidates for the football team out of a total of 60 men students in the school. There will be inexperienced players to drill and the handicap of a late start again will be met. The first call for practice is set for September 20.

SIX members of last year's varsity are being counted on by Hughes to form the nucleus of his new team. They are Capt. Scarvie, end; Byouk, star punter and halfback; Rose, fullback; Ridings, center, and Killian and Bumann, linesmen. With these he expects a promising lot of new material to turn out.

Not only are the newcomers potentially good football players, says Hughes, but they are huskies who will add the much-needed beef to the team. Last year not the least troublesome factor in his club was the lack of weight, which proved a great disadvantage in games played on wet, slippery fields. Hughes attributes Gallaudet's poor showing in 1925 to soft condition of the fields on days the team was scheduled to play, all but one Saturday being rainy.

The influx of big men, together with the fact that the current schedule calls for opposing teams in Gallaudet's class, is the foundation of Coach Hughes' bright hopes.

So far six games have been arranged and it is expected that at least two more will be added to the schedule. St. Johns, of Annapolis, will help open the home season at Kendall Green in a game October 9, following which Schulykill will be played at Reading, Pa., October 16 in the first contest on foreign soil.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND will entertain Gallaudet at College Park, October 30, and then the Kendall Greeners will return to their own gridiron for a battle with American university, November 6.

Games with Delaware college, at Newark, Del., November 13, and with Blue Ridge, at Kendall Green, November 20, complete the program as now planned.

Comedy Events Top Old Dominion Regatta

Alexandria, Va., Aug. 25.—Plans for the annual intraclub regatta of the Old Dominion Boat club to be held here Saturday afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock are about complete.

With two or three exceptions the entire program will be made up of comedy events. A shell race between a crew from the Potomac Boat club, of Washington, and the local club may also be added later.

GOOD BUYING DEVELOPS IN FEW FOREIGN BONDS

RAIL GROUP IS STEADIER

New York, Aug. 25 (By the Associated Press).—Heavy buying of a few foreign issues featured today's irregular bond market. The demand centered largely in Italian government 7s of 1951, which advanced fractionally on a turnover of nearly $750,000 (par value). Polish 8s of 1940 continued their advance and the 6s touched a new high record for the year at 70. German Governments and Municipals were firm on the removal of the "peg" from that country's currency, but the German General Electric 6½s fell back 2 points. Mexican government issues were strong, despite the deadlock in the negotiations for a settlement of the church controversy.

Although the averages showed little change on the day, an easier tone was apparent for many of the high-grade industrial issues, due to a further stiffening of money rates, with call money at 5 per cent for the first time in a fortnight and time money quoted at 4¾ to 5, as against 4½ to 5 yesterday, bond traders saw little incentive for a broad buying movement in bonds. Heaviness of Westinghouse Electric 7s of 1931, which sagged to a new 1926 low at 104¾, was due to reports that the issue would be refunded through the sale of a new 5 per cent issue, the bonds having sold above the "call" price.

Publication of additional favorable July earnings reports and the establishment of record freight car loadings for the twelfth consecutive week had a stabilizing influence on the railroad group. However, Chesapeake & Ohio convertible 5s dropped over 3 points, presumably in sympathy with the recent decline in that stock, and a slightly smaller loss was recorded by Wheeling & Lake Erie consolidated 4s. On the other hand, moderate gains were recorded by Atlanta & Danville first 4s and Rio Grande Western consolidated 4s.

New offerings totaling nearly $60,000,000, were announced for tomorrow. The largest was a $30,000,000 issue of 20-year 5 per cent bonds of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. at 99 by a syndicate headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the Chase Securities corporation. The proceeds of the issue will be used to retire a similar amount of 7 per cent bonds which are to be called for redemption November 1 next, thus reducing the company's fixed charges. Other offerings included an issue of $10,000,000 Republic of Chile 5 per cent gold treasury notes, due February 25, 1927, at 99⅞, and $9,500,000 first mortgage 5½ per cent gold bonds of the building at 165 Broadway, New York, maturing August 1, 1951, at par.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Governors of the New York Stock Exchange today granted the petition of a majority of the members to close the exchange on Saturday, September 4, for a three-day recess over Labor day. The New New York Curb market also will observe the holiday. The New York Cotton Exchange previously had taken similar action.

July gross sales of the United Drug in the United States alone were $7,100,000, an increase of $1,000,000 over July last year, which had been the previous record July. Seven months sales this year reached $50,100,000, a gain of $7,545,000, or about 18 per cent over the first seven months of 1925.

A gain of more than $500,000 in net operating income for July is reported by the Chesapeake & Ohio, $3,585,453 against $3,008,262 in July last year. Net operating income for the seven months this year rose to $19,331,156 from $1,954,505.

Holdings of preferred stock of Owens Bottle Co. have been asked to turn in their shares for redemption at 115 and accrued dividend to October 1. This has been done without a formal call, to obtain the necessary $322,722 of preferred stock for redemption under the by-laws, as the required amount is not obtainable in the open market.

Record-breaking consumption of cottonseed-oil products during the crop year just ended not only lifted the weight of the year's enormous current supply of oil, says the National Bank of Commerce, in New York, but also cleared the market of a heavy carry-over from the previous season. Only moderate supplies have been carried forward into the new year, sufficient, however, to supply requirements until the next crop of seed, which again promises to be large, comes to the market in quantity.

Net profit of Stromberg carburetor for the half year was $336,206, equal to $4.20 a share, against $385,369, or $4.81 a share, in the first half of 1925. Company officials anticipate good business in the second half of the year owing to continued large operations in the automobile manufacturing industry and good demand for the company's products from motor car users.

Wheeling Steel Corporation declared a back dividend of 60 cents a share on the preferred A stock, with the regular quarterly of $2, and a back dividend of 75 cents a share on the preferred B, with the regular quarterly of $2.50.

American Druggists Syndicate reports profit of $212,067 for the first half of 1926, before Federal taxes, equal to 31 cents a share, against $102,213, or 15 cents a share, in the same period of 1925.

Operations at plants of the Bethlehem Steel corporation have advanced to between 80 and 81 per cent of capacity from about 77 per cent early this month and compare with 72 per cent in July last year.

Earnings of the Public Service corporation of New Jersey continue to show improvement, surplus for July after charges amounting to $603,664 against $246,402 in July last year and for the twelve months ended July 31, to $13,148,939 against $8,080,430 in the preceding corresponding period. Gross revenues for the year were $102,023,848 against $91,150,995 the year before.

The Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies Steamship lines and subsidiaries report surplus of $132,359 for the first half of 1926 after depreciation, taxes and charges, equal to 96 cents a share on the 5 per cent preferred stock. This compares with $1,111,931, or $5.14 a share on the common stock, after preferred dividends, in the first half of 1925. Surplus for the second quarter was $261,843 against a deficit of $129,484 in the first quarter.

Subscriptions for the 10,000,000,000 francs issue of 6 per cent preferred stock of the Belgian National Railways Co., which is being offered in the principal European markets this week, as the first step in the stabilization of the Belgian franc, are being received in New York by L. F. Rothschild & Co. and the New York agency of the Banque Belge pour l'Etranger. Holders of Belgian government treasury bonds maturing December 1 are being given the option of exchanging their bonds for these shares or for new bonds. Payment of principal and interest on the new stock is guaranteed at the rate of 175 francs per pound sterling.

Frank B. Berry today was elected president and general manager of the American Type Founders Co. Joseph F. Gillick and J. Russell Merrick were made vice presidents and James A. Coleman, assistant treasurer. The appointments filled existing vacancies.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Unfavorable crop and weather news gave bears in the cotton market a big scare today with the result that prices had a sharp advance, carrying October up to 18.05 at the extreme, and January to 18.10, or 32 to 35 points over the previous close. Realizing in the last ten minutes left the market finally 18 to 24 points net higher.

The market opened steady and 8 to 13 points higher. The tropical storm was reported a little south of New Orleans, and with expectations that the weekly crop and weather report would prove a bullish influence, led to considerable local and outside buying in the first hour.

Finding the weekly report less unfavorable than anticipated, bears executed large selling orders, under which October dropped to 17.71 and January to 17.80. The undertone was very unsettled through the middle of the session, but withal fairly steady because of uncertainty over the progress of the Gulf storm.

In the afternoon, when advices were received from Dallas reporting a falling barometer, traders immediately reached the conclusion that the storm had changed its course and was headed for Texas. As this news feature appeared in the market coincident with weather details showing unseasonably low temperatures in the Oklahoma district, a big covering movement developed which reached its apex in the last half hour. The trade seemed to be impressed with an idea that the crop was getting too much rain and was steadily slipping backward, for which reason it felt inclined to reduce its short commitments and be prepared for whatever developments might be forthcoming overnight in connection with the tropical storm.

Port receipts, 14,479. Exports 6,443, making 243,554 so far this season. Port stocks 607,034.

BROTHER-IN-LAW HELD IN EVANGELIST'S DEATH

INDIAN CLUB IS WEAPON

Springfield, Mo., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—W. R. Leffler, 31, was held in the county jail here today awaiting the outcome of an investigation of the clubbing to death last night of his brother-in-law, the Rev. Edward Gillum, 40-year-old evangelist.

No charge has been filed against Leffler pending a coroner's inquest which will be held late today or tomorrow. The killing is said to have been the outgrowth of a long-standing altercation over Leffler's wife.

Leffler, who said he had warned Gillum several times to stay away from his wife, went home last night and found the minister there. He said Gillum reached toward his hip pocket as if to draw a gun.

Leffler seized an Indian club and struck his brother-in-law over the head, crushing his skull. He died shortly afterward.

"I didn't intend to kill him," Leffler said today, "but I thought he was going to kill me and I acted in defense of myself and my home."

SLAYER OPERATES FARM AFTER KILLING RECLUSE

OLD MYSTERY IS CLEARED

Vandalia, Ill., Aug. 25 (By A. P.) Because he was called a "liar" during an argument by Peter Rosenberger, wealthy aged farmer, Frank Sparr, a farm hand today confessed fatally slugging the old man with an automobile tire jack, thereby clearing a murder mystery which concerned authorities of four States. Sparr, for the past two weeks had successfully posed as the purchaser of Rosenberger's crops and equipment, after telling neighbors the old man had suddenly decided to go East to live.

When the Illinois river yielded Rosenberger's body two weeks ago, after an extensive search had been made at the river points in Tennessee, Kentucky and Missouri, a coroner's jury recommended that he be held and later he was indicted.

Appearing for arraignment today, and in response to the court's instructions to plead, Sparr suddenly said:

"I am guilty."

Rosenberger had proposed the sale of the standing crop on the farm to Sparr, the latter told the court, and had gone as far as to make out a bill of sale. Then the old man decided if he could employ a housekeeper he would stay on the farm himself, and they were on their way to seek one when the quarrel started.

Sparr said he made up his mind a week ago to plead guilty to the murder after the finding of Rosenberger's body had cast doubt on his story of buying the farm. The prisoner absolved Roy Walker, a brother-in-law, and William Walker, a half-brother, of any share in the deed. Sparr had been in jail without bond for almost two weeks, and will be sentenced Friday.

So far as is known, Rosenberger had no immediate relatives, and what disposition may be made of his property is undetermined.

U. S. Holds Irishman As Aid to Estrada

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 25 (By A. P.).—Jose H. Healy, red-haired Irish-Mexican newspaperman and alleged secretary of Gen. Enrique Estrada, was held in jail today for lack of $10,000 bond, following his arraignment on charges of aiding his employer in plans for a punitive expedition into Mexico, which ended with the arrest of Estrada near San Diego several days ago.

The complaint against Healy alleged that he conspired with Estrada and two unnamed persons against Mexico, negotiated for the purchase of four airplanes from the Ryan Air Line, of San Diego, and assisted in negotiations for trucks and other materials of war that have been seized during the last week.

MANOR PARK HEADS CALLED NUISANCES BY HARRY WARDMAN

COMMISSIONERS ACT ON PROPOSAL TODAY

E. H. Pullman and Herbert Wilson Oppose Rezoning of Section.

Harry Wardman, builder, aroused by opposition from the Manor Park Citizens association to one of his proposed development projects, characterized Ernest H. Pullman, president, and Herbert Wilson, committee chairman, of the association, as "nuisances" yesterday at a lively hearing before the zoning commission.

After the commissioners had restored order they took the various cases on which they had heard arguments under advisement until today. They announced that they would hold an executive session to decide them at 9:30 a. m.

The case in which Wardman was interested was the only one on the day's calendar that developed serious controversy. It concerned Mr. Wardman's application to have the territory between Underwood, Fourth and Fifth streets and Georgia avenue northwest rezoned from A restricted to A area, so that he could build community houses, three in a row.

Favor Detached Houses.

The Manor Park citizens objected to any but detached homes being permitted. Wardman said community houses would break up the monotony of appearance in the neighborhood.

"Who made the monotony?" asked Wilson.

"I did, but you're the cause of it," was Wardman's rejoinder.

Thereupon he called Wilson a nuisance, and, wheeling to face Pullman, said:

"And you're a nuisance, too."

While Pullman was speaking Wardman interrupted, until Commissioner Cuno H. Rudolph said: "Wardman, you've had the floor; now let this man have it."

The decree is based on the allegation that she was not divorced from her first husband, C. F. Ralph Lohenfincke, when she was married to Smith, August 7, 1924. Attorney Harry M. Fowler appeared for Smith.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death. Testimony indicated that Mr. Day and his wife were crossing the street diagonally at Fifth and Seward square southeast when young Sweeney rode into them. The boy testified that he "didn't see anybody at the crossing." He said he left the scene of the accident in order to get a doctor.

McCARL'S GAS RULING HELD NONEFFECTIVE

Corporation Counsel Stephens Says Comptroller General Exceeded Authority.

Corporation Counsel Stephens yesterday said that Comptroller General McCarl had exceeded his authority Tuesday when he ruled that the District would have to refund to the Postoffice Department sums aggregating $18,000, representing that part of the cost of gasoline added to cover the District gasoline tax.

"The comptroller general possesses authority to check outlays of Federal funds, in accordance with the purpose of their appropriation," Mr. Stephens said, "but he has no authority, to order expenditure of money by the District, in the shape of refunds, or otherwise.

"Therefore, his ruling will have no effect. If the Postoffice Department sues on the strength of his opinion and gets a judgment against the District, Congress will have to appropriate the money to pay the judgment. The only other way for the department to recover would be for its head to go to Congress directly for a bill directing the refund. In either case it will take an act of Congress to bring about the result. Mr. McCarl's ruling can not do it."

CAR OWNER APPEALS DRIVER PERMIT LOSS

Another appeal from Director of Traffic M. O. Eldridge's revocations of automobile operators' permits was filed with the commissioners yesterday.

The motorist involved is Edward J. Dwall, 210 Twelfth street northeast, who was charged by police of the Twelfth precinct with a second offense of reckless driving and speeding.

Dwall's attorney alleges in his petition that the recent act of Congress does not authorize Eldridge to revoke permits in advance of their conviction in court, and that if the act does make such provision it is unconstitutional as invading the liberty and property rights of citizens without due process of law.

GUARDS' NEAR-RIOT AT VIRGINIA CAMP ONLY FUN MAKING

FIELD EVENTS DELAYED BECAUSE OF THE RAIN

Companies A, B and F Complimented for Efficiency; Review Planned Today.

Investigation yesterday into the alleged near riot Monday night at the national guard encampment at Fort Humphreys, Va., revealed that the disturbance was not as serious as first reports indicated, Col. John W. Oehmann, commanding officer, announced last night.

The disturbance centered in the medical detachment and began as a fun-making stunt, he said. A few of the detachment were practically the only men involved. The two men confined in the guardhouse were returned to duty upon their assurance that they would maintain discipline during the remainder of the camp.

"It is, indeed, a pity that the action of a few men who wanted a little fun should throw discredit upon the whole regiment," Col. Oehmann said.

"The great majority of the regiment has worked hard and diligently to maintain the high standards of the regiment, and it is disheartening to them to have the camp stirred up by a mere handful of malcontents who intended no real harm themselves."

Maj. Julian S. Oliff, who is investigating the affair, has given no official report upon the disturbance, but he is expected to report that the entire matter was a purely company affair and should have been handled within the company. With the reduction in rank of two noncommissioned officers and the transfer to another company of three men the disturbance is practically a closed matter as far as regimental headquarters is concerned.

Field Events Canceled.

A program of field events scheduled for yesterday afternoon was necessarily canceled when the rain jinx, which has followed the regiment throughout the camp, again made its appearance. The morning was passed in preparing equipment for the regimental review this evening. Most of the company commanders and noncommissioned officers passed the greater part of the day in preparing their maps and plans for the battalion engineering problems which will occupy the men's time this morning.

A provisional regimental review will be held this evening at the camp in the presence of Engineer Commissioner Bell, Maj. Gen. Creed C. Hammond, chief of the militia bureau, other high ranking officers of the militia, regular army officers and a party of prominent Washington business men who have been invited to attend.

The 121st engineer regiment will be combined with the 13th engineer regiment of the regular army as a provisional regiment which will be commanded by Col. Oehmann. Maj. Gen. Hammond and Commissioner Bell will review the regiment and attend a dinner which will be held after the review. This is said to be the first time that regular army troops have participated in a review with national guard troops under the command of a national guard officer and it is considered a singular honor.

A lecture on "America and Verdune" will be delivered tonight by Lieut. Col. Thomas J. Dickson, chaplain corps, U. S. A., retired, who served with distinction during the world war. Col. Dickson lives at 3363 Sixteenth street.

Company B Complimented.

Company B has been complimented by the regimental officers upon its showing in the daily inspection of barracks and upon its work in building a corduroy road over a swamp in preparation for the field problems tomorrow when the engineer regiment will theoretically prepare the way for an advance into enemy territory across a swamp and Pohick bay by the troops.

The road was constructed with logs and covered with sand and gravel and is capable of sustaining traffic up to supply train weight. A road was made through a forest and a steep bank leading down to the corduroy road was cut down and graded so that wagons bearing pontoon boats could approach the bay. A pontoon bridge will be built across the bay.

Moving pictures of the regiment activities will be taken during the remainder of the camp. Sergt. Milton E. Davis, of Company B, has been assigned to duty at regimental headquarters for the purpose of filming these pictures which will be shown next winter at the guard armory in Washington.

A special order complimenting Companies A and F for their work in building bridges for use in getting supply trucks to the guard camp area has been issued by Col. Oehmann.

In spite of the wet weather the camp is free from sickness. The men are inspected daily by Maj. George J. Allen, camp medical officer. The enlisted men are loud in their praise of the "chow" this year. The food is said to be the best yet provided in a guard camp.

Lions Convention Described.

A report on the Lions club international convention held in San Francisco last month was given by Leonard W. De Gast at the weekly luncheon of the local club in the Mayflower hotel yesterday. Mr. De Gast was the accredited delegate to the convention from Washington. Thomas W. Brahany, president, presided.
